HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. The Great Remedies for all Diseases of the LIVER, STOMACH, OR DIGESTIVE ORGANS.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS Is composed of the pure juices, (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) of Roots, Herbs, and Barks, making a preparation, in this process of the pure juices, (or, as they are medicinally termed, Extracts,) and Barks, making a preparation, in the process of the pure free from alcoholic admixture of any kind.

HOOELAND'S GERMAN TONIC Is a combination of all the ingredients of the litters, with the purest quality of Sauta Cruz Rum, Orange, &c., making one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public.

Those preferring a medicine free from Alcoholic admixture, will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS.

Those who have no objection to the com ention of the Ritters as stated will use HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC. They are both equally good, and contain the same medicinal virtues, the choice be-tween the two being a mere matter of taste, tween the two being a mere matter of taste, the Tonie being the most palauble.

The Stomach, from a variety of causes, such as Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, etc., is very apt to have its functions deranged the partial of the Liver, sympathizing as it does the ted, the result of which is that the patient suffers from several or more of the following diseases:

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausca, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking, or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach,

We have been without a preacher And though candidates are plenty-

Determined what to do. There was a smart young fellow. With serious, carnest way, Who but for one great blunder, Had surely won the day;

The plous, godly portion Had not a fault to find, His clear and searching preaching They thought the very kind; And all went smooth and pleasant Until they heard the views

On these his pungent dealing Made but a sorry hit; The coat of gospel-teaching Was quite too tight to fit. Of course his inte was settled-Attend, ye parsons all! And preach to please the sinners If you would get a call.

Next came a spruce young dandy, He wore his hair so long: Another's coat was shabby, And his voice not over strong; And one New Haven student Was worse then all of those-We couldn't hear the serinon For thinking of his nose! Then wearving of candidates

We looked the country through, Mid doctors and professors, To find one that would do. And after much discussion, On who should bear the ark, With tolerable agreement. We fixed on Dr. Parke. Here then we thought it settled

Completely at its ease. Six hundred is the adar. We gave in former days, We thought it very liberal, And found it hard to raise; But when we took the paper We had no need to urge, In vain were all our efforts-

We found ten city churches Had given him a call: And he in prayerful waiting Was keeping all in tow; But where they bid the highest Twas whispered he would go. Make More Butter. Butter is very high, and it is desirable to

There is but one way of doing this. We cannot increase the number of cows so as to meet the demand this fall and winter, but we can by liberal feeding enable the cows that we have to give more milk, or at least we can get more milk containing from onethird to one-half more butter. That liberal feed will do this there can be no question. What extra food to give depends on circumstances. The quality of the grass at this season is apt to deteriorate, and even when there is an abundance of it, a little richer food can be given to the cows with great advantage. When grass is short, there is still greater necessity for, and advantage in providing extra food. In many sections there is much corn imperfectly eared, and there can be no better way of disposing of it than to feed it out, stalks and all, to mileh cows. This will save husking. If well cured and put in small stack, or in a barn, with layers of straw between the corn, very few of the soft ears will mould. A liberal supply of such fodnearly all winter. When there is no fodder of this kind on the farm, feed ordinary corn stalks, or hav and straw, with a liberal allowance of some kind of grain or of oil-cake. Probably commeal is the cheapest food that can be used, and so far as the writer's experience extends, he has never found any trouble in using it. Four quarts a day to each cow have been used with great advantage, and at the present price of butter such feeding is quite profitable. Some dairymen prefer to feed half commeal and half bran. When pens can be obtained at about the same price as corn, a mixture of equal parts of corn and pea-meal is perhaps the very best food that can be given to a cow. If wheat bran was cheap, say but a little higher than hay, we would feed that also. tity of butter from now until mid-winter or

Congress Hall, Saratoga, which is the largest hotel in the country, accommodated during the season, from June 15th to Sepember 15th, over ten thousand During that time the hotel cooked thirtynine thousand chickens, thirty thousand dozen eggs, tifty-nine thousand pounds of beef and twenty-five thousand pounds of lamb. Of mutton it used tifteen thousand pounds; of yeal nine thousand pounds; of turkeys one thousand five hundred, and of other lowls five thousand. Each person of the ten thousand ate an average of three dozen eggs and four chickens-the publication of which fact ought to make a cackling throughout the country. The hotel used an average of four thousand eggs and five hundred fowls a day for three months. The great rush of people, however, was during one month, from the 20th of July to the 20th of August, and it was during that time that the larger part of the food mentioned was consumed. During some days of each week tifteen hundred people dined at Congress Hall. The receipts of such a hotel, from an average of one thousand guests for two months at five dollars a day, would be $300,000.

ATTEND TO HUSKING CORN.—There is alnost always a few weeks in autumn of delightful weather, and the prudent farmer will push his whole force to the work of cribbing up his corn. Those who delay are sure to suffer from cold fingers, and, beside some extent. Bind the stalks in bundles with strong bands, after removing the grain, and put them up in a secure manner.

FEEDING VEGETABLES TO COWS .- A Hamburg, N. He also says he feeds turnips whole, with the tops on, as there is no danger from choking when fed in this

We're just as far as ever From settling on the man. The first who came among us By no means was the worst, But then we didn't think of him Because he was the first; It being quite the custom

To sacrifice a few, Before the church in earnest Who left so good impression, On Monday one or two Went round among the people,

To see if he would do. Of some influential sinners Who rent the highest pews.

But were amazed to find Our flattering invitation Respectfully declined. We turned to Dr. Hopkins To help us in the lurch, Who strongly thought the college

So wonderful his style, Followed the creaking of his boots As he passed up the aisle, His tones were so affecting, His gestures so divine, A hady fainted in the hymn, Before the second line, And on that day he gave us. In accents clear and loud, The greatest prayer ever made To an enlightened crowd.

He rounded all the ecrners And smoothed the ragged way: Managed with great advortness, To entertain and please, And leave the sumer's conscience

To raise a cool two thousand For the Rev. Shallow Splurge.

A man to meet our views Must preach to please the sinners, And fill the vacant pews.

A French physician is out in a long dissertation on the advantages of groaning and crying in general, and especially during surgical operations. He contends that groaning and crying me two grand operations by which Nature allays anguish; that those patients who give away to their natural feelings more speedily recover from accidents and operations than those who suppose it unworthy a man to betray such symptoms of cowardice as either to groun or to cry. He tells of a man who reduced his pulse from one hundred and twenty six to sixty in the course of a few hours, by giving full vert to his emotions. If people are at all unhappy about anything, let them go into their rooms and comfort themselves with a loud boo-hoo, and they will feel 100 per cent better afterward. In accordance with the above, the crying of children should not be too greatly discouraged. It it is systematically repressed the rusult may be St. Vitus's dance, epiletic fits, or some other disease of the nervous system. What is natural is nearly always useful; and nothing can be more natural have their grain and fodder injured to than the crying of children when anything occurs to give them either physical or mental pain. Probably most persons have experienced the effect of tears in relieving great sorrow. It is even curious how the feelings are allayed by the free indulgence in groans and sighs. Then let parents and friends show more indulgence to noisy bursts of grief-on the part of children as well as the older persons-and regard the virtue. Nothing noble in life can be way. achieved without it. Before it all difficulties vanish, all obstacles disappear. The prompt man is the successful man. He takes time by the forelock. The opportunity comes and he seizes it. Luck is on his process: The soil was cut down on each side side. The forces of nature take part and set with him. Promptness is not rashness. It never acts blindly. It does not waste its strength in random blows. It strikes at the right place. It is a wide-awake faculty. It sees clearly, and acts a wise decision. It does not put off till to-morrow

But our object is not so much to say which is the best grain to feed milch cows, as to urge farmers to feed grain of some kind. It does not so much matter what .only give the cows a liberal supply of food, and they will supply a liberal return of butter. The kind of grain, and the way of feeding is left to the judgment and good sense of the readers. When it is convenient it is better to "slop" the cows, but if not convenient the fodder may be chaffed and moistened with water, and a due proportion of meal mixed with it, care being taken that the mangers are so constructed as to avoid waste. With a good supply of food, regularity in feeding, comfortable stubles cleaned out daily, proper ventilation, and water easily accessible, there is no trouble in doubling the ordinary quan-
