Terhaps no one medicine is so universally re-quired by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative PIL. The obvious reasons for it is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have not, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. none, and of being his own master. Since his election has been made known, he has been visited by hundreds in search of " lucrative employment," to whom he has said: "Go to your homes, and when an office needs your services, you will be called." Besides the application in person for position, he has been the recipient of hundreds of plaintive appeals by letter, each individual urging in strong terms his neculiar claims and merits. To this class of aspirants he has turned a deafened ear, and simply given his secretary orders to destroy all such letters, without any distinction whatever. It is also understood, further, that every applicant for position will be turned down in the day of appointments, and that the office will be made to seek the man, and not the man the office. . This action of Gen. Grant may be considered the forerunner of his administrative career, and is characteristic of the man. It is too often the case that men in high position yield to the sympathetic syllables of petty politicians, and give official capacity to those entirely unfitted. In thus doing a double wrong is perpetrated. The Executive gives reward where it is not due, and by entrusting responsible positions to polluted hands, icopardizes the wisdom, economy and popularity of his administration. Not only is this course a wrong to the appointing power, but it proves detrimental to the interests of the people at large, and purchases for the backing power a worldwide censure and local disrespect. This evil, truly a great one in former Executives, is promised a remedy by General Grant, even prior to his being ushered into the honors of the Presidency. We shronicle this with pride, and feel sure that equal prudence and forethought will merit for him a continued popular regard. Many office-holders will doubtless receive Grant's pronunciamento with feelings of regret, from the fact that he has completely turned the tables on them. We hope, however, that they will learn the truth of his purpose, and cease to annoy him with their silvery tongues and diamond pens, and repose in the belief the upright. TIE Democratic press are disposed to regard the election of Grant as a blessing in disguise. The patience they exhibit under their great infliction is only next to that displayed by Job. Like him, however, their worst comforters are found in Another correspondent puts in a claim their own family. We have a number of for Logan twp., Blair co., where the gain extracts dished up by leading Democratic journals all of which, in the editors opinion, go to prove that Grant is a genuine Democrat. Unfortunately, all the arguments contained in the extracts are in direct opposition to modern Democracy-a bundle of whips gathered to punish a bundle those who select them.

by that of some one who has no legal right to vote. Congress and our Legislative bodies must take this matter in hand. We respectively suggest for the purpose of preventing naturalized persons from voting more than once or repeating their votes at the same election, that each one shall deposit his naturalization certificate with the Judges or Inspectors of the election until the day after the election, and the officers shall at the time of voting indorse thereon the fact of his voting with the day and hour of his so doing.

A Change.

Editorial and Miscellaneous.

General Butler. Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, despite his able competitors, has been re-elected to Congress from the fifth Massachusetts District. Many moderate Republicans object to his past career, and even his firmest friends dislike his peculiarities of character, yet notwithstanding this he has a claim upon the hearts of his constituents unexcelled by any public man. Mr. Butler has faults, but in the recent canvass the people looked upon both sides of the question, and in viewing his sterling qualities, they could not forget his true worth because of a few flaws in his public life, and have justly again attested their faith in him by returning him to the position which he has heretofore so ably filled. His competitors were able men, but their principles could not refute his wonderful executive ability. His election was by a two-thirds majority, and must be porary insanity was the cause. This Company, National in its character offers, by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable ans of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium, being largely reduced are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so ant to cause the Polley-Holders. Soveral new and attractive tables are now pre-sented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as the IN-COME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secure a life insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years on annual mome equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the per of his policy. In the latter, the Company agree to return to the assued the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy. The attention of persons contemplating insur-ing their lives or idercasing the amount of in-surance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company. Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or to its General Agents. City and Town; and applications from compo
