

is all that the friends of any really meritorious scheme can desire. All we want is that the matter be agitated-kept bcfore the minds of the people most interested - and finally they are bound to reach just conclusions. Our friend of the Wrightsville Star takes issue against the scheme on the ground of increased expense, but his article, carried to its logical and legitimate conclusion, would do away with the erection of new counties altogether, and not only so, but destroy the present dividing lines and merge all the State into one huge county, to save expense. But the real animus of his opposition shows itself in his candid admission of the superior facilities enjoyed by Columbia for the conducting of various industrial pursuits, he fears that the consolidation of Columbia and Wrightsville into one corporation would inure to the benefit of Columbia alone, and to the consequent injury of Wrightsville, especially if connected by a free bridge. Now we can not see it in that light. That the increased prosperity of Columbia should produce a corresponding decrease in that of Wrightsville is a non sequitor, as a glance at other places, relatively similar in their positions, will show. Has the increased business of Pittsburg injured Alleghency city? So far from it, Alleghency city is indebted to the prestige of Pittsburg for her unprecedented increase in population and wealth. Her territory new sells for Andrews were recovered. Thus far, five as much per-one-hundred-square feet as it brought per acresten years ago, and all owing to its proximity to Pittsburg and or fifteen lives were lost. its facility of intercourse with her. Just so would it be with Wrightsville; she might not increase quite as rapidly as Columbia, but her increase in wealth and population would be as rapid in proportion to what it has been in the past, or what it would otherwise be, as would be that of Columbia, and a free bridge would tend vastly to equalize the rate of increase, by making both towns more near and more identical. Think the matter over again, brother Star.

A TRUE STORY. Tripping down the stairway once long ago, we fell, shattering a large, lighted fluid lamp. In a moment the blaze wrapped us about like a fiery serpent. Every tragedy has a comic side ; Bridget tossed the babyon the bed and ran for water; ann Mary seized the spread to extinguish the flames, and pulled baby down on the floor; Jane came up from the kitchen and put out every light then burning, "because the house was afire;" and Bridget, returning with a tub of water, tumbled down, upset the water, and bumped her nose. Meanwhile, we rolled over and over on the parlor floor, till the ilame was extinguished, when one arm was found to be terribly burned. Then how quickly Davis' Pain Killer soothed the
