Going South.

There are indications that early in the spring, there will be considerable current of emigration to the Southern States, particularly from the region of the Ohio river. The rich lands of South Carolina, Georgia and the other Gulf States only need to be tickled with a hoe to laugh with a harvest. The great need of the South is capital, and this the North might casily supply, accompanying it, too, with skilled white labor, the mere example of which would infuse new hopes and renewed life into the half bankrupt and wholly discouraged planters.

We hope this emigration will take place, and, indeed, we see nothing to prevent it. General Grant proposes to be the peoples' and not the politicians President. Already we know that the leaders under Jeff. Davis are willing to accept Grant, and are working zealously to bring in the States yet un-reconstructed. Mississippi is one of these States, and in her case Hou. Albert Brown, the acknowledged leader of the Democratic party, says: "With all our hearts we respond to the noble sentiment of the President-elect-Let us have peace. It is the cherished hope of our bosoms, and the sincerest wish of our hearts, that we may have no more strife." Mr. Brown asks Congress to stand squarely by the Reconstruction meisures as originally passed, and assures us that the people of his State will come up to them in good faith.

There is, therefore, no ground for apprehending disorders to any extent in the South. Now let farmers and manufacturers from the North go down therenot as speculators and adventurers, but as bona-fide business men, ready and willing. to rebuild the desolate houses and recultivate the fallow plantations that have lain idle since the war. It is likely to be a good direction, too, for thousands of idle people in our cities, of which New York alone might spare lifty thousand without missing them. Of emigrants, the Germans especially are turning attention that way, and as soon as they are fully assured of SILVER PLATED WARE! security of person and property, they will From the best Factories in the U.S. contribute largely of their gold pieces and their more valuable industry. Let us hope for brighter days among our Southern sisters.

The Catholic Question. We copy the following from The Progress, a very liberal paper published in Brooklyn, N. Y. The question has agitated the Catholic church for some years past. We do say that no good, active, working member of the Masonic order can he a consistent member of the Catholic church. And on the other hand, no active Catholic can be a consistent member of the Masonic fraternity: THE CATHOLIC QUESTION is looming into great importance in the Masonic world.

The theory of the Catholic Church excludes the possibility of a man being both a Free Mason and a Catholic Christian.

Free Mason and a Catholic Christian.

A large portion of the membership of the Masonic Fraternity, in New York city especially, are of the Catholic faith.

The stricture is being applied by the church, and, as Masons who are Catholics, die, they are renouncing Musonry.

We propose to publish the pastoral letter of His Eminence, the Cardinal De Bonal, Archbishop of Loyns and of Vienna, on the occasion of Lent, 1868, in which he pronounces against Masonry and declares that it is impossible to be at the same time a Catholic Christian and a Free Mason.

The document has never been published and christian and a Free Mason.

The document has never been published in this country. It is very long, very able, and very interesting.

We will publish it next week.
Unpleasant as it may be, the issue must be met: 'lis cowardly to dodge it, and for our part we will not do so.

Advantages of years. You are getting into years. Yes, but the years are getting into you-the ripe, rich years, the genial, mellow years, the lusty, luscious years. One by one the crudities of your youth are falling off from you-the vanity, the egotism, the insultation the bewilderment, the uncertainty. Nearer and nearer you are approaching yourself. You are consolidating your forces. You are becoming master of your situation. On the rains of shuttered plans you find your vantage ground. Your broken hopes, your thwarted purposes, your defeated aspirations, become a staff of strength by which you mount to sublimer heights. With self-possesion and self-command of all things, the title deed of creation forfeited, is reclaimed. The king has come to his own again. Earth and sea and sky pour out the largest love. All the crowds pass down to lay its treasure at your feet. The Evening Star.

The evening star, the planet Mercury is now in that portion of its orbit where it can be seen with the practised eye. It sets a short time before eight o'clock a ·little south of the western point of horizon. Its right ascension is twenty-two hours and thirty one minutes; its declension south seven degrees and two minutes. On the 29th of May it will set much further north of its present position and be easier seen. In a clear sky this planet some times appears even brighter than Saturn. The last transit of Mercury over the disc of the sun was on Novembor 5. 1868. There will be four more before the close of this century.

EASTERN journals announce the fact that 3000 Christians have been put to death for their faith in the kingdom of Corea, in Asia. The persecution, which conmenced in March, 1865, has continued until all the Christians have been dispersed, and a great number have perished from want.
