The Rights of the Press. An outrage was committed, on Chestuut street, on Saturday, which calls for the severest punishment of the offender and the sternest denunciation of the spirit which prompted it. Mr. Fortescue, a well-known and highly respected member of the press, while passing along the street, on Saturday afternoon, was suddenly assaulted by a man who figured prominently in connection with the election frauds last fall, commonly known as "Piggy Divine." Without warning or provocation, Divine struck Mr. Fortescue several blows before that gentleman could defend himself. A police officer arrived on the ground in time to arrest Mr. Fortescue, and it was with some difficulty that he was made to understand that the assailant, and not the assailed, was the proper person for him to arrest.

Divine has been boand over to answer at the next term of Court, where we presume the Haggerty tactics will be resorted to, to secure acquittal. But if this particular sort of outrage is to pass uncon demned and unpunished, we must bid farewell to law and order and common decency in this community, and fall back from the resort to courts and judges and juries to the quick rough justice of the Vigilance Committee. Mr. Fortescue, in the discharge of his proper duty, may or may not have criticized the doings of this man Divine or his friends. The right to pass such criticism cannot be surrendered by any moderately independent journalist. It is one of the greatest safeguards which this country possesses, and it will be the death-kneel of our republicanism, whenever it is proclaimed that the public press shall not expose abuse, and denounce crime and corruption, and criticize the acts and omissions of public men, without its agents and representatives being exposed to such and respectable community to support every decent and respectable newspaper in its bold and honest criticisms of wrong and wrong-doers. It will be a sorry day for the people of this country when its the threats and brutality of those who fear the exposure of their evil deeds.-Phila. Bulletin.

Passion for Fine Homes. One of the most favorable signs of the times, is the love of excessive display in the construction and fitting up of our homes. Within a few years the change in this respect has been striking. Two generations ago, men in good circumstances, were content with substantial houses, and while they consulted the principles of good taste in the architectural finish and in the furniture of their homes they knew nothing of that fondness for show, which has now become so general. Even men AMERICAN WATCHES, lavish exhibition of their means in gaudy structures and ornamental finery. They built elegant homes, but it was elegance for use, not for pompous nothingness. It is not so now. The taste for extravagance show, which is extending over the whole country, takes a very special pleasure in advertising its vanity in the shape of fine homes. The immense outlay, directed by a love of ostentation, and in some instances by a barbaric delight in the veriest tinsel, builds a house as far removed as possible from the idea of a home. Nothing about it indicates the presence of domestic love.

Progress of the Women. The servant girls of Ghent, in Belgium are in a state of revolt, because, by the introduction of a new system of drainage, they are deprived of their immemorial perquisite—the refuse of the houses. The women of Hungary are demanding the restoration of the right of suffrage, which widows and spinsters who were landowners enjoyed up to 1848. The Women's Advocate of Chicago, edited by Mrs Livermore, denounces the members of the Equal Rights Association for snubbing Frederick Douglass, S. S. Foster, C. C. Burleigh, and tells them that their course has seriously impaired the usefulness of their organization. The New York Sorosis is discussing the expediency of establishing foundling hospitals, and has refused to admit to membership a male applicant, R. B. Roosevelt. In short, the activity CTEAM everywhere exhibited in one form or another, by those who are envious that women shall be "cmancipated," prove that if she does not get her " rights," the reason will not lie in her own slothfulness.

Editorial Courtesy. Southern journalists sometimes adopt a style of writing which has the merit of candor if not of studied courtesy. Thus the Raleigh (N. J.) Standard observes: "The Milton Chronicle says the hangman is waiting at our door. This is the first intimation we have had that the editor of that paper had called upon us."

WHERE mad-stones come from usually we don't know, but one now in the possession of Major James B. Lockhart, of Athens, Alabams, is one which he took out of the stomach of a deer in 1846. It

Andrew Johnson began to pardon counterfeiters on the day of President Lincoln's funeral and continued until that of President Grant's inauguration. Du ring this time be pardoned one hundred and forty-two counterfeiters and ninetyone violators of the internal revenue law.

Declining Dinner.

Beverdy Johnson has taken the super-lative degree in declining dinner:—"I dine, thou dinest, he, she or it dines; we dine, you dine, corporations dine, noblemen dine, trade leagues dine, all hands dine. I'm done dining, sine dinie."

SPECTACLES. EASE AND COMFORT. THE BLESSING OF PERFECT SIGHT. There is nothing so valuable as perfect sight, and perfect sight can only be obtained by using PERFECT SPECTACLES, the difficulty of procuring which is well known.
