COALIN LANCASTER COUNTY .- Several small veins of stone coal were, a few days ago, discovered in the excavations for the Pinegrove and Manheim Railroad, near Mount Hope, in Rapho township, this county. These veins, though small near the surface of the earth, increase in size as they descend. Some of this coal has been tried in a smith's fire, and found to burn well. The cut in which the veins were found is about seven feet deep. Further investiga-

THE HATFIELD ROLLING MILE.— We learn that the rolling mill that might have been built in Columbia is to be erected at Huntingdon, Pa. They are alive to the interests of the people in that town. They not only give Mr. Hatfield the ground, bu take $6000 worth of stock in the new mill. Columbia people always did go against their own interests. Lancaster Cotton Mills, Safe Harbor Iron Works and other manufacturing establishments might have been located here, had not property holders asked two or three prices for land. We have heard it said that had we, . long ago, two or three first class funerals, it would have been better for the town. This wicked punster was about right.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT - FOUR MEN -ONE MAN KILLED .- Monday morning whilst four men were at work in a deep excavation in the Cooper Ore Bank, a short distance back of Marietta, this county, owned by the Messrs. Musselmen, of that place, the sides suddenly without the least warning caved in with a beavy crash bury ing the whole party a considerable distance below the surface of the earth. The noise attracted other workmen in the mines to the scene, and beholding the sad calamity ringate comrades if possible One by one the men were reached, and all with life, except slight injury, save one man named Schaeffer, who was literally smask ed to death and, sad to relate, leaves a large family, and a wife in a very feeble state of health, having been confined to her bed

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. HINKLE.— The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Hinkle, which took place on Tuesday afternoon, was very largely attended. She was well known in this community, and had a large relationship and very many warm, personal friends who gave testimony to the deep sorrow of their hearts.

The pale and emaciated face, the lonly coffin and the narrow grave are subject upon which we do not like to dwell. It is more pleasant for the mind to soar away and contemplate the gay and fascinating things of earth, yet as time rolls on in its consummating round we have examples day after day which teach us the fraility of man, and upon which we must dwell.

The Pale Horse and his rider have no re spect for persons. He enters the cradle and takes the mother's idol. He enters the college and calls the pride of a fond father as well as the aged. He enters the humble abode of the peasant and takes the weary laborer home to rest. He comes to the palace and removes the king from the throne Yes he cuts down all both great and small high and low.

It is seldom that one passes away from earth more universally beloved and mor deeply lamented than the subject of this notice. The qualities of her mind and heart were such as we cannot but admire. By her courteous manner, her frank and generous spirit she won the affection and confidence of all who enjoyed her acquaintance She was ever ready to sympathize with the afflicted, to relieve the distressed, and min ister to the wants of the needy. Consisten cy and fidelity marked her conduct in all the different relations of life which she sustained. As a devoted and affectionate mother, and an obliging friend and neighbor, she will long be cherished in greatful rememberance of many who survive to

Rev. W. H. Steck, pastor of the E. E. Lutheran church, of this place, conducted the services. Among other things he again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus, will God bring with Him."—ist Thesalonians 4; 14.

A devoted and faithful member of the Church during all the years of her connection with it; I express the feelings of the whole congregation and of the community, when I say "We shall miss her." Already have we missed her during her slekness and since she closed her eyes in the sleep of death, from the public service, from the prayer meeting and around the communion table.

Her last request in her last interview with her Pastor was, to be remembered on the following Sabbath in our communion services, but the morning of that Sabbath, she went to sleep on earth to wake in heaven. We did not forget her last request, we remembered on, but whilst we were communing with Jesus on earth, we thought of her as communing with the Savior; partaking anew with Him in His Kingdom. We sorrow, we weep, but not as those who have no hope. Around her newly-made grave, through their falling tears may her sorrowing children say, "Even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him."

Insweet Christian submission to her Heavenly Father's will, she said to her Pastor the day previous to her death, "If it be His will that I get well I am satisfied." "If not I will trust in Him, I wild trust in Him." Benutiful expression of her child-like Christian faith. An epitaph worthy of being written on the white stone which shall mark her resuling place, beneath which might be chisted to-comtort the hearts of those who go to her grave to weep, "Precious in the sight of the Lord is the death of his saints." "Hessed are the dead who die in the Lord." "How her in Lord." "For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with Him." God bless and comfort the bereaved.

FAULT FINDERS .- An exchange has the following: "To criticise a paper is an easy task, but to print one to please everybody and the rest of mankind, is no small undertaking. Those who find fault with every little item which does not suit their ideas of right and wrong, should buy type and publish an organ of their own. Let them try it for a while, and if they don't get some new ideas on the subject, we are no judges of human nature-that's all."

RAILROAD EXTENSION .- It is intended to extend the East Brandywine Railroad, running at present from Downingtown to Waynesburg, to Ephrata, Lancaster county. This would open up another section of country to railroad facilities, and cause Ephrata Springs to rise in importance as a watering place, by bringing it within a few hours ride of Philadeiphia. We understand that the contractor has received orders to begin immediately on the grading of the road.

A DARING ROBBER .- As Daniel Root, a plough maker of Mount Joy borough, was on his way to Marietta on Saturday evening last, and when just beyond the summit of Chicages Hill, a robber emerged from the woods, stopped his horse and demanded of Mr. Root his money or his life; at the same time presenting a pistol at his head. What! says the astonished Mr. Root -thinking the man was in fun. The robber replied "deliver up your money and be quick about it too." Fortunately Mr. Root had but $125 about his person, which was handed over and was allowed to go on his way. The rollber is a middle aged man medium size, long black whiskers, rather thin. It is not the first time that persons have been attacked in this locality. Trav elers should keep a look-out for the robber and be prepared at all times to defend themselves. A MISSING MAN.—Levi D. Zinn, a member of Lake Eric Lodge, No. 347, Free and Accepted A. Y. THE RING-DOVE AS A HOUSE PET .-Ve always did like the ring-dove-how extatic is that solemn Cuc-coo-oo. The one opposite our office is perfectly melodiousmuch more so than our friend's beautiful 'Song bird," the Whippowil, the "Polyp" or "Collawog." Every family should have a dozen or more. The "Columbia's" coon or he Hivers "Tip" is no where when the ring-dove starts up. They enliven the neighborhood, and their sweet and plaintive accent stirs the soul with a tone akin to that which beats upon the ear when the soft. yet thrilling music of the Wrightsville band oats from afar over the still waters of the ranguil Susquehanna, Selah!

Horses Stolen .- Three horses wer tolen from the farm of J. A. & V. K. Alexander, in Little Britain township, Lancas ter county, early on Wednesday morning last. One of the horses belonged to the Messrs. Alexander, and two of them to Christian Petersheim, who farms part of the place. They were taken from the pas ture field. Search was immediately made and on Friday morning they were found at Mt. Eden Furnace, near the Gap, where a farmer had taken them up as astrays. It is supposed the horses were stolen and ridden off, but being partially unshed and unable to travel far, the thieves turned them loose There are various other circumstances to lead to the conclusion that they were stolen Scared .- Two ladies fearfully scared each other, on Second street, on Wednesday evening, by imagining that some evil-dis posed person was about to attack them Their screams brought to their rescue several persons, but the desperado could not be found. It was late, the night dark with a threatening storm and an accasion at flash of lightning. All this perhaps made the ladies more apprehensive of danger.

The demon who would attempt any insult to an unprotected female, deserves the severest punishment. The street lamps were not lighted and great blame is attached to lamp-lighter Hook in consequence. If he is afraid, or too timid to attend to the lumps, as has been stated, he should hire Tronsides to accompany him.

WHAT SMOKING DOES FOR BOYS .- A certain doctor, struck with the large number of boys under fifteen years of age whom he observed smoking, was led up to inquire into the effect the habit had upon their general health. He aged from nine to fifteen, and carefully examined them. In twenty-seven of them he discovered in jurious traces of the habit. In twenty-two there were various disorders of the circulation and digestion, pulpitation of the heart, and a more or less marked taste for strong drinks. In twelve there was rather frequent bleeding of the nose; ten had disturbed sleep; and four had slight ulcerations of the mucous membrance of the mouth, which disappeared on ceasing from the use of tobacco for some days. The doctor treated them all for weakness, but with little effect until the smoking was discontinued, when health and strength were soon

APPLEBY'S CENTRIFUGAL GAS MACHINE -By the following extract from the Detroi Tribune, it will be seen that this admirable improvement is better appreciated in the enterprising city, than it has been in this vicinity.

It seems to us that the people are singularly blind to the merits of this simple and effectual contrivance for making a good and chean light. We advise all our subscribers who desire ing the model of this machine at Hiram Wilson's, who is prepared to put up the machines on any scale, either for public or private buildings, cities or villages:

machines on any scale, either for public or private buildings, cities or villages:

CHEAT GAS.—Messrs. Appleby & Blakeley, of Conneaut, Ohio, have introduced into this city a machine for making gas from liquid hydro-carbons, that gives a beautiful and brilliant light, superior to coal gas and can be made at a cost not to exceed 50 cents per 1,000 feet. The gas is used in the same pipes and burners, ordinarily used in buildings supplied with that commodity, therefore all that is needed is to put in the apparatus, connect the pipes and supply one's self with a splendid light at a cost a little above nothing compared with the benefits to be derived. Several of our private citizens are now having their houses furnished with this style of gas, and when its utility is practically tested others will do the same. The new drug store on the corner of Jefferson and Randolph streets is now supplied with this gas and the beauty and mellowness of the light given by it can be seen upon any evening. The invention is one that our people will do well to examine. It is as simple as it is useful, and models may be seen in operation at 186 Jefferson avenue, second door east of Bates street.

Whose Fault is 11?

the same neighborhood a little daughter of Michael Sherp had her arm broken, by failing out of a carriage in which she was playing, and a little son of Henry Snyder had or arm broken, but by what means his leg or arm broken, but by what means his leg of a same broken, but by what means his leg of a same broken, but by what means his leg of a same broken, but by what means his leg of her had been same time for a same his leg of her had been same time for a same his leg of her had been for his many hearts. In his desperation on the same time heatifies he had been some or less. Fortunately the borse and one or less. Fortunately the borse and or or less. Fortunately the borse of modern times. It is not only a dictionar ry—superior in all its dealits to Webster or Worster—but it is a history and biography as well, and will supply a great want long self. We now look in vain through libraries for a complete dictionary that will give you history, biography, geography, arts, trades, language and science, as does Zell.'s FortLar Excyclopeplia. This part of the business is being done by our accompliated artist, Mr. Jasper Green, of this place, and the work does great credit to himself and at the same time heatifies the book. Mr. Green will receive subscriptions and any one of our citizens with wish to examine the book or subscribe, will call on him at his residence, corner of Second and Walnut streets, Columbia.

DODD'S NERVINE DID IT. NEW LONDON, CONN., April 28, 1880.

REMEMBERBD FRIEND—I thought it well to wait another week before writing, to see if I continued to improve, as I have been doing for some time under the treatment of the new medicine, and I am happy to tell you that I am gedine, and I am happy to tell you that I am gedine, and I am happy to tell you that I am gedine, and I am happy to tell you that I am gedine, the commenced the use of DODD'S NEER-YINE without anybody advising me to it. When I began with it I could only walk from my bed to the chair. My trouble has been extreme pain in the head, and has lasted over three years. All the medicine I have heretofore taken has failed to give any relief. I am now able to go up and down stairs, and daily improving. I consider the NERVINE the best medicine i ever found, and shall continue its use, for I am confident of entire recovery. I have taken only three battles, and would not be without it on any account.
