You acknowledge the wisdom of having our house and stable and barn insured. In your house and stuble and barn insured. In fact, people would consider you, and you would look upon yourself as little less than a fool were you to neglect so plain a pre-caution. But you don't think of insuring your life, though, as is easily proved by statistics, your life is risked eight times where your bouse or barn is endangered once. How TO BE NOBODY .- Young man, it is easy to be nobody. Go to the drinking saloon to spend your leisure. You need not drink much now, just a little beer, or some other slops. In the meantime, play dominoes, chequers, or something else to consume time so that you will be sure not to read any useful book ; or if you do read let it be the "dime novels" of the day, ... Thus go on keeping your stomach full, head empty, and yourself busy playing "time-killing games, and in a few years you'll be nobody, games, and in a leaf years years of a frankard or professional gambler, either of which is worse than to be nobody. There are many men about our town just ready to graduate and be nobodies. B.

RUNAWAY ACCIDENT .--- On Sunday last, whilst Hamilton Graham, Jr., of Contesville Chester county, was driving two spirited horses attached to a two-seated carriage, from the Manor Church, containing Mrs. Graham, Mrs. Kimes, Miss Bell Rambo, and H. Graham, Jr., the yoke broke on descending the Black Horse hill. and the animals started off at a fearful speed, upsetting the vehicle and participating the occupants to the ground. Miss Bell Rambo was very badly bruised; Mrs. Graham was seriously burt internally to what extent is not known ; young Graham thad his left thigh broken ; Mrs. Kimes was .severely stunned. The carriage was smash ed to atoms. The horses reached home with the front wheels.

FAMILY REUNION .--- A family reunion took place at the residence of Daniel Myers, Esq., near Jennerville, Chester county, Pa., on Monday, July 26th, 1869, being the occa sion of the anniversary of the seventy-ninth birthday of Mrs. Jane Poinsett, formerly of Columbia. There were present: two sons, four daughters, three sons-in-law, one daughter-in-law, thirty-five grand children, and six great grand children. A grand dinner was given in honor of the day, which "took down" anything of the kind we have attended in a long while ; but then it did not surprise us much, as it is a well known fact that Chester county people are proverbial for getting up good dinners. Just imagine a hungry editor "going for" the rich viands so suptuously spread before bim. After the banquet the children of the aged parent flocked around her and exchanged many kind and comforting words. The affair was made the more interesting from the fact that Mrs. P. was entirely ignorant of the untertaking, living as she does in the immediate vicinity with one of her daughters.; On the day mentioned she was conveyed to said residence and entertained in the parlor until arrangements were completed for a general surprise to the old lady. When the signal was given; in rushed a multitude of small children; then came her own sons and daughters, among whom "Bob," of Philadelphia was mo conspicuous, and owing to his "much-ness" was permitted to advance and congratulate his parent singly; then followed her grand children, all eager to embrace and reiterate the many fond wishes of her children. The children gathered from far and from near, some of whom she had not seen for years. The poor old soul was astounded-trembled-ruised her glasses and when able to speak after a time, usked: "What does alightly inean?" when she was informed that it was the anniversary of her Locust street, and at Second street the inseventy-ninth birth-day and that all were seventy-ninth birth-day and that all were insembled in honor of it: Herdeen grat-the "Hivers" to pass through to their tude to these broand know no bounds.
