COE'S COUGH BALSAM!

This long tried and popular Remedy is again called to the attention of the public. As often as the year rolls around, the proprietors annually make their bow to the people, and remind them that amongst the many things required for the health, comfort and sustenance of the family through the long and tedious months of winter, Coe's Cough Balsum should not be forgotten. For years it has been a household medicine—and mothers anxious for the safety of their children, and all who suffer from any disease of the throat, chest and lungs, cannot afford to be without it. In addition to the ordinary four ounce so long in the market, we now furnish our mammoth amily size bottles, which will, in common with the other size, be found at all

WHOOPING COUGH,

A GREAT BLESSING! [From Rev. L. F. WARD, Avon, Lorain Co., Ohio.] Vesses. Strong & Armstrong, Druggists, Cleveland. GENTLEMEN:—It gives me great pleasure to state that my wife has derived great henefit from the use of Coe's Dyspepsia Cure. She has been for a number of years greatly troubled with Dyspepsia, accompanied with violent paraysms of constipation, which so prostrated her that she was all the while, for mouths, unable to do anything. She took at your instance, Coe's Dyspepsia Cure, and has derived great benefit from it, and is now comparatively well. She regards this medicine as a great blessing. Truly yours,

To an Old Boot.

My ancient pedal friend, a last farewell!
So many days we've footed it together—
The lane of life—in fair and stormy weather,
Mine eyes well nigh their lid dykes overswell.
I well remember when thou did'st encase,
My nether limbs with pressure warm and
tight;
And many a corney twinge, from morn till night. And many a corney twinge, from morn till night,
Evinced the ardency of thy embrace.
Soon, like the love of some long married wife,
Thy grasp, if not so strong, was still as true,
And pleasanter; and as we grew in life,
Thou wert as gentle as a pliant shoe;
And while on thee I trampled every day,
To shield me thou did'st wear thy very sole away.
Though I despise the slander monger's art,
And soom the wretch who blackens the fair
iame
of one whose riches fortune is its name.
(The wretch whose steel goes deeper than the heart),

(The wreten whose steel goes deeper than the heart).
Yet it has been my daily want, I own. To black thy face until the skin has shone With abon glow as lustrous as the hue. That forms the charm of Guinea's native breed.
But 'twas not that I hated thee, indeed; I prize thee so, that when thy sole brok and large the state of the sole of the s And let in water, 'twas my special heed A man of awls thy gapings wounds si And twitching pangs athwart my pocket shoot To part with thee at last, O worn and faithful boot.

The engineer on this train saw the fire when it first broke out at the junction before the flaming terror reached it he, too, put his engine to the utmost speed on a level grade. A mile short of the junc-tion he saw that the effort was a valu one, for the flying conflagration had rushed out upon the Lake Shore track, and was roaring nward in the direction of Dunkirk. He checked the onward course of his own train and brought it to a standstill. It did not proceed until 3 o'clock in the morning.

Running on to a safe distance from the depot, the engineer of the oil train detached his engine and left the six cars to consume. He says his situation was fully realized by ilm. He expected to lose his life. At every moment he expected the engine to leave the track. He saw he was going at a perilous rate of speed, but there was no help for it. The fireman made one attempt to escape by jumping from the tender, but the engineer restrained him. Altogether the occurrence was a remarkable one, and in part remarkable for this, that no lives were lost. The brakemen on the oil cars had gone back to the passenger cars, when the oil cars started. It was well they did. Unless those rear cars had been detached and stopped, their inmates would have been burned to death.—Grand Rapids (Mich.) Eagle.

Trials of a Country Clergyman. A young parson thus feelingly describes his bachelor experience in the first village in which he settled after entering the minstry: Old ladies gave me tracts and tormented ne in every possible way. One gave me cough lozenges because a fly got down my throat in church; another sent me her late husbands's goloshes to wear when out on wet evenings. (The late husbands feet were about five inches long.) A third sent a won-derful kind of India rubber bag, which she said could be applied wherever a chill was felt. Not till my sister came to stay with did I know that hot water was to be put into the creature before using it; I had hought it a sort of mat to lay over my feet and very useless of its kind. A Miss Thompson was the most disagreeable of the old maids; she actually one day run ber fingers underneath my collar, to see if I wore flannel During the year I was at Littleback I had 13 pairs of slippers, 25 sermon cases, and three smoking caps worked for me.

One young lady embroidered my initials on a handkerchief in a shinny looking black thread. Three young ladies declared that I had trifled with their affections; two, on the contrary, affirmed that they had rejected me; while the village school mistress assured the rector that I had tried to press her hand. I certainly never had such hard work as while at Littleback. I played at least three hundred games of croquet, and at any spare moment I was liable to be sent for by Miss Anna Phelps to practice an Ital-ian duet. I bore my trials with christian fortitude, until one morning the Bishop sent for me, and said that my conduct disgraced my profession. I took the hint, and at the end of one year and three months my enneer at Littleback was over. The young la-dies cried when I went; they said I was 'such a darling !" Now I ask my impartial, reader whether it was hard that I should be blamed for the ladies of Littleback? My life is blighted, and all that is left to me is 13 pairs of slippers, 25 sermon cases three smoking caps, one handkerchief marked "T. G.," and a bad character from my late employers.
