an idea of the way in which the son becomes dissatisfied with the farm. The father first fails to instil into the mind of the child that he is working for kindness -in other words, to please his father. There are few children who will not love to work if they know this. Then he neglects to treat his son as a companion, a helper and a counsellor instead of servant. He fails to impart to him his plans of improvement and such things as will interest him and fix his attention on the farm, and consequently he fails to awaken his interest in behalf of the farm. He forgets to teach the immense advantages and benefits of the farm, as compared with other callings, and lastly, fails to show him enough of the world that he may under stand these things for himself. Farmer should understand these things, and endeavor to their sons on the farm. I have attempted to give little argument. Much might be said, but the subject needs it not. Every farmer can see the case in its true light if he but choses. It seems indeed a great wrong that farmers should have a searcity of help, when the merchant and the mechanic have an overplus. Farmers stop and think-it is well worth your while. If you but think, you can understand, fur better than I can explain, and profit by it.

1.12 54 64 My CORN BREAD .---- I quart of sifted neal, 1 small teacup of flour, 1 teaspoonful of saleratus, 2 teaspoorful of cream of tartar, 1 teaspoonful of r elted lard 3 eggs. This makes a delicious loaf of corn bread. Bake in a thick square loaf and cut in squares, it looks like elegant sponge cakes when it is put on the table.

COMMON HARD SOAP .-- Put in an iron kettle five pound of unslacked lime, five pounds soda and three gallons of soft water, let it soak over night ; in the morning pour off the water, then add to the three and a half pounds of grease, boil till thick, turn into a pan until cool, and then cut in bars. TO WHITEN RED HANDS .-- Procure a pair of kid gloves that are much to large for your hands, smcar the inside with a mixture prepared as described below. and wear them occasionally at night. while you are sleeping; Fresh eggs, two oil of sweet almonds, two spoonsfuls, rose water, one ounce ; , tincture of benzine, thirt six grains. First beat the eggs and oil together, and then add the rose water and tincture.

MANY English farmers feed no hay to their horses, but keep them in high work. ing order with straw, roots and shorts.

The equivalent of twelve tons of hay can be produced on one nore in root.
