Saturday, October 23, 1869 Wise and Otherwise.

The Fellow of the Period. He's as common as potatoes, grass, or flies, and that's the reason, he hasn't attrac ed much attention; but as it isn't us to slight any of God's creatures, we politebring him forward. Those distringuish to ed; generous and aminble (?) gentlemen who write for the press have amused themselves by tormenting the "Gals of the Period," until They are neither brute nor human-

Who's to blame? The poor things have been lectured and scolded by aforesaid gentlemen till they can neither act for dress rationally, so they have finally decided to burden their backs with an overload of finery and act as badly as pos-

> Those who prefer the "hump" Will cling to Grecian graces, And those who clumb the "stump" Will fight with men for places; They'll gab for woman's rights, In muslim and alphaea; And hint to Grant, when tight, "Miss Polly wants a cracker.

Political crackers, we mean-sweet official biscutt, upon which men fatten, and for which so many unlucky "cusses" are

But we will dismiss the gal of the period and introduce the fellow. Now gentlemen, please give us your attention, and Will modestly discover to yourselves
That of yourselves which you yet know notof.

The fellow of the period is no more like the grand old boys we read about in "tale and history" than a weasel is like a stately lion. He's a weak-headed, vain -glorious, fast trotting, ang there! We don't care whether he likes to hear the truth or not. He looks well in an opera box-if not over-dressed-and under the influence of champagne can get up a nice speech at a big dinner. He, can trot out fast horses and amuse himself with faster women. He can get tight, put himself into a rage, and swear like a Brewery boy on a " bender ;" in short, do all that's "loud" and dashing, but very seldom anything worthy of praise and renown.

The fellow of the period could look the devil right in the eye, for the devil and he are mutual friends; but he couldn't to save his soul, look a God-fearing, honest man in the face. Why is this? It's because, he can't pay his tailor, cheate his landlady, geles drunk, tells blacks lies, talks disrespectfully of marriage and "lovely women ," deceives his friends, makes a donkey of himself, and knows that he is on the ,, railroad to ruin."

"Even asone heat another heat expels, Or as one nail by strength drives out another," so the fellow of the period goes on from bad to worse with the meets with the devil who politely leads him down to the lowest abyss of Hades, from whose depths no traveler returns. When shall we again see youths of old, who began life with a slice of bread, a few pennies, and a little bundle of clothes, but | WINDOW SHADES, whose brains, honesty and perseverance helped them at last to win fame and fortune and live respec ed and honored ever after? Alas! it will be a hundred or a hundred and fifty, or two hundred years from now, before the world has such ornaments. We must make the best of the fellow of the period, and as " God made. him, let him pass for a man;" for heither

Tom-Higgins'-Honeyutoon.

Seems to me things have changed somewhat!, Seems to me so bust me if it don't. I've been married near six months now, and the fact is, Susan showed the least bit more temper than I thought she had; in fact; to speak the right down. right truth, she's knocked things about generally for the last two months. T : She slung the cut out of the window by the tail, and would have thrown me out by the by the heels, if I hadn't walked out on a last run. She's got no cross as four sticks, and says, shell use haif a dozen sticks on my hack if IL don't quit smoking in the house. And she threatened to throw the boot jack down my throat last (bight, because I spit in the fire. If she'd done that I suppose I'd have the colic or the boot-jack cramp.

"Timothy P. Higgins," said I to myself-"you've gone done it, and have to put up with the consequences, you have, come what will, and you can't get out of it you can't." A.girllooses her besuty mighty quick after she's got to be Miss Susan Sunflower was as pretty as Venus, but just as soon as I married her, her skin turned yellow, her eyes lost her beauty, her hair got thin, and she's got to be just the shape of an ale flask; she has by chow, der , and, oh, what a temper she has got ! Never knowed her to get mad before I married her; never knowed her to throw the stoves or chair down any body's throat; no, never, until sho was Mrs. Higgins!
