What the Gossips Said.

Said Gossip One to Gossip Two. "While shopping in the town is and of One Mrs. Pry towns remarked it is a figure Smith bought his goods of Brown." Save Gossip Two to Gossip Three. Who cast their cyclids down,
"I've heard it said to day," my infending this goods from Brownit."

Says Gossip Three to Gossip Four,

With a something of a frown,
"I've heard strange news—what do you think?
Smith took his goods from Brown.
Says Gossip Four to Gossip Flyet,
Who blazed it round the rown.

'I've heard to-day such shockings news-Smith stole his goods from Brown!" Sayings of Josh Billings.

A young gentleman, happening to sit at church in a pew adjoining one in which sat a young lady for whom he conceived a sudden and violent passion, was desirous of entering into a courtship on the spot but the place not being suitable for a female declaration the case suggested the. following plan:

herself to the ground and said to him : "Why have I found grace in thine eyes, seeing I am a stranger ?"

He returned the book, pointing to the 13th verse of the third Epistle of John : "Having many thing to write unto you, I would not write with pen and ink, but I trust shortly to come unto you and speak face to face, that our joy may be

"Owed Him an Apology." IT A family story is told of Gen. Sherwood, Secretary of State of Ohio. The General has a sightly person, and knows it. Being at the depot in Sandusky, a day or two ago, walking the platform, in a plan linen duster, he was ruffier loudly accosted by a friend . An old codger, sitting in a car near overheard the salutation, and remarked to a companion that he didn't believe that he was the Secretary of State, nobow. "Hello, yeou!" yelled the old codger to the General, "Be yeon the Secretary of State?" "That's what they call me," said the dietinguished individual, "Waall, then," retorted the old chap, " guess I owe you an apology." How so? 'asked the Secretary of State. "Why you see this 'ere fellow said you was the Secretary of State, and I told him. I didn't believe it; I stuck to it that you was a hog drover." The conversation was abruptly broken off at this point. Touching the delivery of some, corn a Southern freedman furnished the following lucid evidence : I know no mor'n dis.
