Wise and Otherwise. Spare that Young Moustache. O barber, spare that young monstache-Your razor, brush, and other trash, Must never venture there.

At last the bud has bursted out, By much caressing taught, . Its frail young tendrils-how they sprout Then, barber, touch it not.

Think of the fair young girl, whose lip Was wont so oft to press That budding mouth, it sweets to sip; Oh! think of her distress. 'Tis unfledged manhood's pride and joy-

With tears and sighs 'twas brought, Let no rude stroke it's life destroy; O barber, touch it not.

Bolls-A Boy's Composition. A boil is generally very small at first, and a fellow hardly notices it, but in a few days it gets to be the biggest of the two and the chap that has it is of very little account in comparison with his boil, which then "has him." Boils appear mysteriously, upon various portions of the human body coming when and where "they darn please," and often in very inconvenient places. If a boil comes anywhere on a person, that person always wishes that it had come somewhere else although it would puzzle him to say just

If a chap has a boil he generally gets : good deal of sympathy from others—"in a horn." Whoever asks him what ails him generally laughs at him for his pains to answer. It is very wicked to make sport of persons with boils: they cannot help it and often feel very badly about it-Boils are said to be healthy, and judgeing from the way in which they take hold and hang on, and ache, and burn, and grow, and raise Uain generally, there is no doubt they are healthy and have good constitutions. They are generally very lively and playful at night, and it is very funny to see a chap with a good large one prospecting around his a couch for a place where his boil will fit without hurting. They are good things for married men, as they give them an opportunity to rest their night keys and get acquainted with their families. It is said that boils save the patient "a fit of sickness," busicess is not the best to have, it must be an all fired mean thing. It is also said that a personal mean thing. Objection to a Large Salary. Ministers of our day rarely object to an increase of salary, but we find in an exchange a capital story of au old Connecti cut pastor, who declined it for very substantial reasons. His country parish raised his salary from three hundred to four hundred dollars. The good man objected for three reasons. "First," said he, 'you can't afford to give me more than

"Second, because my preaching is not worth more than that." "Third, because I have to collect my salary, which heretofore has been the hardest part of my laborers nmong you. I have to collect an additional hundred it will kill me."

MISCELANEOUS. CTILL AHEAD!

OUR GREAT BOSTON We want good reliable agents in every part of the country. By employing your spare time to form clubs and sending us orders, you can obtain the most liberal commissions, either in Cash or Merchandise, and all goods sent by us will be as represented, and we guarantee sutisfaction to every one dealing with our house. Agents should collect ten cents from every customer, and forward to us in advance, for Descriptive Checks of the goods we sell. The holders of the Checks have the privilege of either purchasing the article thereon described, or of exchanging for any article mentioned on our Catalogue, numbering over 500 different articles not one of which can be purchased in the usual way for the same money. The advantage of first sonding the Checks are these: We are constantly buying small lots of very valuable goods, which are not on our catalogues, and for which we issue checks till all are sold; besides, in every club, we will put checks for Watches, Quitts, Inankets, Dress Patterns; or some other article of equal value.

We do not offer a single article of merchandise tha can be sold by regular dealers at our price. We do not ask you to buy goods from us unless we can sell them cheaper than you can obtain them in any other way—while the greater part of our goods are sold at about.

One-HALF THE ILEGULAR RATES.
Our stock consists, upart, of the following goods:
Shawle, Blankets, Quilts, Cottons, Ginghams, DOLLAR STORE

Our stock consists, in part, of the following goods:
