Mr. Moore has called at this office and desires us to state that though regarding the communication as the effusion of some delirious fop, he denies the al-

Mr. Moore promptly thanked his friends for their kindness in rresting his animal, but declined to invite them into the hotel near by and help to make hogs of men, who accept gratitude only in the shape of bad whisky. Mr. Moore feels grateful for all such acts of kindness, and vill return similar favors whenever appor-

ROHRERSTOWN, JAN. 12, 1870. EDITOR SPY :- Since writing my last leter the spirits of many of our citizens have een very much revived by the arrival of a ompany of persons from a distance, who ntend leasing the large rolling mill at this lace, and set it again in working order, The prospects of this enterprise are good, and if the persons succeed in closing a bargain with the owner, Col. Patterson, we vill have a very brisk time again. Then probably the railroad company will condecend to build us a depot that will be res pebtable enough for persons to enter, as the cabin now used as a depot is certainly not, n the condition it is now kept. Our friend, Mr. Geo. Gish, who is nov carrying on the retail meat business here, s always supplied with the choicest slice of that yery nocessary article.

Yesterday evening while Mr. Henry Musser was coming to this place with a porker for one of our residents, he had the fortune of picking from the dust, on the Harrisburg pike, a ten dollar note. The owner can have the money by proving it to honorable man. On Jan 10th, Mr. Daniel Haverstick of this place, slaughtered two very fine porkers whose combined weight was a little less than eight hundred pounds. These are the best we have heard (fyet in our neighbor-On last Saturday night the secondary de much disturbed at night by a crowd of boys who are allowed to prowl about the streets and make night hideous with their incessant yelling. We trust that the proper persons will take the matter in hand, and prohibit it in the future. GASPER.

KENNET SQUARE .- Kennet Square has had a first-class horse story. It does not implicate any of the heroes of the "Story of Kennet;" but several neighbors figure rather conspicuously. A West Chester paper tells the story thus : It seems that on Tuesday of last week a Mr. Jackson of East Marlborough went to Kennet Square and hitched his horse to a post while he attended to some business. On his return the horse was gone and no trace of him could be discovered. The amus ing feature of the scene now comes in. It appears that Mr. James Wilson, of New London township, was to get a horse from his brother Henry, who lives in Londongrove township. The arrangement was, that the latter should bring the horse to Kennet Square, and hitch it at the corner, near Mr. Garret's shoe store. Mr. W. took his hired man with him to the borough, and upon their arrival instructed him to go to the point designed, and if a horse was hitched there to take it home. The man did so, but unfortunately rode off the horse belonging to Mr. Jackson, the other not having arrived. After transacting some business, in passing along the street, Mr. Wilson noticed his brother's horse-the same that was to have been sent him-standing at the place agreed upon. Fearing that his hired man might have missed the nuimal, or gone off without it, he untied and took it along. He was not a little surprised upon arriving at home to find that his hired man had reached there sometime before him with a strange horse. The loss of Mr. Jackson caused considerable excitement in the usually quiet borough of Kennet, but when the matter became known, all parties enjoyed a hearty laugh at the singular mistake that had been made.

From a letter by our correspond Frank, written sometime ago, and received too late for publication in current number of the SPY, we take the privilege of exracting the following : Building operations are still going on, not even the hardships of winter are severe enough to check the indomitable will and energy of some of our enterprising citizens.

The ladies of the borough and vicinity held a grand fair and festival in aid of the Presbyterian parsonage. On Thuisday vening, the 23d ult., the fair opened. Ex tensive preparations were made to make the occasion as attractive as possible, and right well they succeeded. The large room in Massasoit Hall, in which the fair was held, was handsomely decorated with flags, garlands and wreaths of overgreens. Many useful and fancy articles were offered for sale, thus affording persons an excellent opportunity to purchase christmas presents. Supper was provided each evening, for the

UNDERBIDDING AT SALUS .- The following case, lately decided in Chester County, before Judge Butler, will be interesting to the public :

Joseph P. Wilson vs. Yerkes and Jones .-This is a suit to recover the sum of $1645.00, with interest from January, 1867, the said note having been given as part of the purchase money of real estate of Defendants. The onestion is one of underbidding at a public sale. The defendants were owners of the old Ellicott property at Avondale, Londongrove township. On December of 1866, they exposed it to public sale. It was irst put up as one tract, but failing to find a buver, it was then put up in parcels. Mr. Wilson, the plai ntiff, had purchased the mansion tract for $140 per acre. He gave the note in question for part of the purchase money, and paid the ame when it bacame due. He afterwards learned that three gentleman were present who hid at this and other tracts, and who, in fact were merely underbidders or " puffers." On learning this, Mr. W. immediate-

AN ODD WAY OF MAKING BUTTER .---singular method of making butter has lately come into quite extensive use in France, ased upon the observed fact that cream is changed into butter by being simply buried in the curth. The theory of this result is not very intelligible, though the fact is s ated to be beyond question ; and in Normandy and other parts of France butter is actually prepared on a large scale in this way. The process consists in plucing the ream in a linen bag of moderate thickness. which is carefully closed ; then burying the bag about a foot and a half deep in the earth, and allowing it to remain from twennorning and evening in the Lutheran ty-four to twenty-five hours. After the ex church, at the usual time. Rev. S. Curtis piration of this period the cream is found to have become hard, and it is then broken up lish Lutheran Congregation on New Delaware street have at last secured the services of a minister in the person of the Rev. Wm. II. Steck, recently of Columbia, Penu. Yesterday morning and evening, services were held in their church, of a very inter esting character. The congregation seemed onppreciate deeply the occasion and the discourses, which were both able and thor oughly practical. This congregation has een without a pastor since last April, yet notwithstanding this, they have kept to gether, holding their regular Wednesday vening prayer meetings and Sabbath schools, lacking none of the interest com mon to a regularly supplied congregation. They have now secured a pastor-a man of considerable ability as a preacher-and a theologian and one who has heretorore met with great success as a pastor. In taking charge of this congregation he has doubt ess sacrificed many of the comforts incident to the pastoral life in the East, where the church to which he belongs, is large and vealthy, but being fully sensible of the wants of the congregation here, their absolute need of a pastor, and the importance f the task before him, he accepted the call unanimously extended to him, and is al ready in his field of labor.

It is to be hoped that Rev. Mr. S. will receive the cordial support and hearty co-operation of his members, his ministerial brethern and the public generally. The field in which he is called to labor is a great me. All over this western world it is ripe for the harvest. The province of the Church o which he is attached is peculiar, owing to its German origin, and thou-ands-and we might say hundreds of thousands of German Lutherans are scattered over our broad acres, whose children become anglia ised, adopt our language and naturally seek the church of their fathers. We doubt not that Mr. S. will find much to do in our city; in that particular it will test his pastora skill and his ability to collect together "the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

FLATTERING NOTICE .- We clip the following from the Mechanicsburg Valley Democrat of the 5th inst. After referring to the musical soirce, by the Female Institute in that place, the paper says :

"The musical performances during the evening contributed in no small degree to the success of the soirce. As all the young adies who participated in these exercises did well, we will mention but a few whose ordinary process, and it is said that butter performances and vocalization entitle them to special notice. In our judgment, the best vocal solo was "Come E Bollo," as rendered by Miss Lizzie Hess. The vocal duet, "Two Forest Nymphs," by Miss M Bird and Miss Lizzie Hoss was exquisitly sung. Miss Maggie Hess gave the best in strumental solo-Marche de Concert-of the ovening.
