Saturday, January 22, 1870. ... Wise and:Otherwise.

A Dull-Clerk. Pickernel, a successful dry goods merchant of Boston, was waited upon at his hotel by a "gentleman-farmer" who was desirous of getting a boy, for whom he was a guardian, a "place" in Boston—of course he was unoommon smare boy; quick at figures, strong of infultion, and every way fit, he should "judge," to become a merchant: Pickernel thought it over, and said he would try and make a place for Pickernel's store, his broad face ruddy him. In due time the boy arrived at with health and soapy from the morning wash, his hair slicked, his clothes new and uncomfortable, and a stiff dickey cutting his ears. He announced himself as the boy, &c. "Ah! you are the boy, are you?"

said Pickernel. "Yes I'spose so," replied the youngster. Well, come in here, then; I am very busy, but I will examine you in a few practible questions." The boy came in, and sitting down on the desk, swuug his heels underdeath it as though he felt entirely at home, waiting for the questions. "Weil," said Pickernel, "suppose a lady should come in here, and buy a dress of fifteen and a half yards of calico for eleven and a half cents a yard; what would it come to?" The boy looked at his questioner, at the ceiling, at the door, at the floor, in a state of great bewildernient. "How much calikee?" he asked.

"Fifteen and a half yards." " "What price ?"

"Eleven and a half cents." He thought a moment-"Well," said he, "I'am darned if I believe any woman ever wanted so much cloth for a dress as that." This was throwing up the sponge, and Pickernel put another question, "How much would five pounds of tea come to at seventy five cents and three quarters per pound?" He received this pretty much the same as the other, and, after waiting a minute, he asked: "Was it green or black tea." Without answering Pickernel put another question: Suppose I should send you out with a two dollar bill, and you should buy fourteen and a half pounds of beef at seven and a half cents a pound, how much mon ey would you have left?"

The boy looked at him in an instant, and then indulged in a low whistle. "You don't s,pose," said he, "you could get beef anywhere at seven and a half cents a pound, do ye?" Pickernel gave up at this. He asked him no more questions, but sent him back next day with a letter, stating that he did nt think he would answer. SPECIAL NOTICE. COUGH, COLD OR Sore Throat
