The Legislature vs. The People. 4 The Legal Tender Decision. Below we give the text of a bill recently The recent legal tender dicision of Chief introduced into the Legislature by Sena- Justice Chase has awakened the people to tor Billingfelt tor Billinglet. An Act authorizing and empowering the judges of the court of quarter sessions to appoint the prison inspectors of Lancaster: county. SECTION 1. Be it enacted That the judges.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted That the judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions of Lancas-ter county be and they are hereby author-ized and required, at their next regular term commencing on the third Monday of April next, to appoint in lieu and in place of the present inspectors of the Lancaster County Prison six discret, taxable citizens of soil county. It is inserted and the internet part of which we extract.

County Prison six discreter, taxable citizens of said county, io b inspectors of said pris-on, two of whom may serve until the first Monday in January, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-one; two of whom may serve until the first Monday of Junu-ary, one thousand eight hundred and sev-enty-three, as shall be ordered by said court, and the said jindges shall, be requir-ed at their regular term of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and at their regular term in November every year thereafter, to appoint two other taxa-ble citizens as a successors to those, whose terms shall expire in Jenuary of each year and all 'laws' inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

The bill was prepared and sent to Mr. Billingfelt in the same form in which he introduced it. We understand that it does not meet his approval, and that important modifications must be made before it can become a law with his consent.

Its main provisions are radically wrong. Its objects-to break down a "ring," and insure an honest administration of prison affairs-are right in themselves. That there are just causes for a change in the present management, and that private individuals are enriched at the expense of the public: are so patent, that we need only refer to them. But how shall we remedv the evils?

The first part of the above bill provides that the judges of the Court of Quarter Sessions, at their regular term, on the third Monday of April shall appoint in lieu and, in place of the present inspectors six discreet, taxable citizens to be inspectors of said prison. This we believe is transcending legislation power. Messrs. Gast and Musser have recently been elected to serve for a term of three years. . They can not be removed from office except for disabiity to serve. They are esteemed honest men. They : have received the, endorsement of the people, and they have nearly thereto DICTIONARIES, containing 3000 engravings. three years yet to serve. By what right. or pretext of right can any legislative enactment rob them of the honors and the legal emoluments of office? "The Legisla ture might as well create:a 'law,'authorizng the court to appoint whomever it night please, in lieu and in place of Capt. Stauffer, for Prothonotary, or in lieu and in place of Keen, the one-armed soldier, for clerk of Orphans' Court, or in lieu and in place of Captain William Barton, the crippled soldier, for clerk of Quarter Sessions, to take effect on the third Monday of April. Intrinsically and legally one would be as just as the other. All such actions would be unjust. The principle is wrong wherever applied. This measure is no doubt the result of a misconception of the recommendations and suggestions of the Auditors' Report. At first glance, the measure seems plausible, and competent to meet the case. But upon a more thorough examination we feel satisfied that its adoption would only expose us to greater evils. THE PEO-PLE are the ruling power. To them we appeal for redress. As the law now stands we can make the appeal every year. Last fall the people decided in favor of a reform. This is what it, actually did, in the late Messrs, Gast and Musser were elected. war; and the Legal-Tender Act was one From the Lancaster Erpress we leave that of the prominent measures of its success. both these men voted in accordance with the teachings of the result. In another year we hope to secure two more members, then the cox populi ought to cry out from, n favor of reform. And so on. from year to year, we can agitate the subject of economy and reform, until we secure the desired result.

But adopt this bill and what will be the result? For a few years, as the bench is now. constituted, good, honest men may be ap-
