Donation Party.—Last evening, a vory interesting anniversary was celebrated in an appropriate and pleasing manner at the residence. No. 1801, De Laney place, of Rev. Samuel. E. Appleton, rector of the P. E. Church of the Mediator, Nineteenth and Lombard street. Mr. Appleton has been for ten years in charge of this church, and his congregation thought that the occasion was one for mutual congratulation, and for a testimonial on their part of the affection and esteem in which the rector was held. Mr. Appleton therefore held a reception at his residence from 7 until 10 o'clock last evening, and was waited on by the entire congregation, who tender ed their congratulations, and wishes that the end of the coming decade might find the bonds that unite the pastor and his people still unbroken, and that it might be as full pleasant memories to all parties as that which had passed. FAREWELL OF REV. W. H. S. KEYS .-The United Brethren church corner of Perry and Third was crowded to overflowing on last Sunday evening to hear the farewe 1 sermon of Rev. W. H. S. Keys. Mr. Keys prefaced his sermon with a reference to the solemnity of the occasion, and the fact that the ties of triendship, so pleasantly formed. were about to be broken. He selected for his text' those memorable words, "Farewell Brethren, be of good cheer, be perfect, live in peace, and may the God of love and mercy be with you and bless you," The want of space forbids us to follow the speaker in all the beauties of thought, the grandear of expression, and the sublime pathos which marked almost every sentence. He recounted the many pleasant and happy moments he had spent in Columbia, the strong affections formed, and the painful thoughts which the at proach of separation had induced. But as he goes to new fields of labor, he will bear with him the prayers of a united Christian people. Not a few of his congregation gave loud

Mr. Keys' ministry in this place has been very successful. A gentleman of time social qualities, of rare intellectual powers, and of untiring devotion to the cause of the ministry, he has done mighty service for his church. He is a speaker of rare oratorical power, and being possessed of a clear voice, he is pleasing and impressive as well as instructive. Mr. Keys bears with him the prayers of his people as we!1 as the best wishes of the community. If we may accept his ministerial success here as an indication of his future, his labors at Lebanon, the post whence he has been called, will be abundantly blessed.

The Public Reading Room. In pursuance of a call in the Sry of the 12th inst., a large and respectable meeting of the citizens of Columbia convened in the Town Hali on Tuesday evening, the 15th to adopt measures for establishing a Reading Room in this Borough, The meeting was organized by electing S. S. Detwiler, President, Jos. Mifllin, Secretary. Much interest was manifested by those present, in the object in view, and the meeting was addressed by quite a number of gentlemen present, who gave their views as to the best methods of achieving the desired result. These views differed widely and will mate- possession of our home, and piled our tarially aid the committee having in charge the drafting of rules for the government of the organization.

PERSONAL .- Our genial and lovely friend M. M. Strickler, has turned up as a special reporter of the Lancaster Intelligencer, and in his new role succeeds very well. We congratulate Bro. Smith upon this new accession to the editorial staff. In view of the early imbibition of radical principles, and his ante-Johnson demonstrations and expressions, the selection of M. M. as reporter for the "Negro League of Columbia" reflects great credit upon the nice discrimination of Brother Smith. He no doubt "loves a shining mark." What the People say. COLUMBIA, Mar. 14th, 1870.

Editor Spy:-As the congressional cam paign in Lancaster county will soon open and as it is generally conceeded that both the candidates for the office, a subscriber would beg space in your columns to name a third. The merits and qualifications. which will necessarily be required in the coming candidate are peculiar; since the de cease of Mr. Stevens, whose eloquence and distinguished legal ability, by natural right, conferred upon him the leadership of the House, we scarcely presume in our selections to send a member, who can at once attain the prominence which Mr. Stevens had secured for himself. But we propose to name a gentleman, citizen of Columbia, a native of the county, who without seeking the suffrages of the becole, would not shrink from the full performance of his duties, if the office were conferred upon him. The position of a representative in our National Legislation 1 one of weighty obligation, and the many practical questions which are now daily presenting themselves for legislation, re quire for their consideration a man of practical business experience. Theorists have occapied those sents too long, and the business of the country has suffered. The vast internal interests of the nation, our sources of National wealth, require that kind of legislation, which only the business man can intelligently give it. Bankers may legislate for finance, lawyers for reconstruction and for the enforcement of constitutional enactments, but it requires a business man to take care of the staple interests of our

The gentleman whom we are about to name is extensively engaged in the manufacture of iron has studied the subject of protection and tariff in the light of the experience and testimony of European capitalists, and has concentrated about him a power which would point to intelligent and practical legislation. What the scholar knows of books, the lawyer of law, or the banker of finances, this gentleman knows of business and its requirements. So much | substantially made up for a full year, until for his qualifications in a business view. Next to these, and or equal importance are his social qualities. No one can appreciate the want of these in legislators better than those who are compelled occasionally to confer with them. There is no more forbidable barrier to the procurement of intelligent legislation than the want of that urbanity and courteousness which a representative should possess. Socially the gentleman whom we are about to name stands pre-eminent. Combining the superior qualifications which we have here briefly enumerated; possessing a wide and influential acquaintance throughout the county; concentrating in himself the influence of representative wealth and interest, we do not longer hesitate to name Col Christian S. Kauffman as an available candidate for Congressional R.

..... A Pleasant Surprise.

EDITOR SPY :- I owe a line or two of grateful acknowledgement for a most pleasant "surprise" which dropped in upon our quiet on the evening of the 15th inst. Seated by our round table, with book in and, endeavoring to connectional some of the terrific pictures of "Dante's Inferna," aided in our contemplations by a miserable toothache, we little dreamed that good spirits even then were on the wing ready to exorcise for the time being, toothache and every other lower world influence. Did you ever read the life-throbbing lines of "Festus?" how prettily he speaks of youth and Love and Sanshine! So that while you heart, lighting up the rosy blood with its joyous life, making the dark breast shine ike a spar-grot, while prism-hued sunbeams walk like angels through the quiet chambers of the soul, and the worn blood goes tripping o'er its red-solded naths soft and fleet as the cloud-footed shadows which race the vernal slopes of spring crowned hills. But who would ever think of such pictures now? With the dreariest days of dreariest month, sleet-fisted pelting at our doors, while every breath of air, snow-chilled, comes solbling with storms-one must have a "summerish" heart to golden the thoughts with pictures of "sunshine" now, But who that has a heart larger, or better than a "green persimmon" would not be "summersh" when his home was filled, to running over, with farry sunbeams, all the brighter because they flung their fires from beauty's love-sparkling eyes? This was our good fortune on last Tuesday even-bles with substantial tokens of their love. This, to us, was a very pleasant party indeed. Coming at the close of our ministry it could not but be grateful to have the kindly evidences, that, though it is ours no longer to minister to those we so much loved to call our friends, the ties of good will that bound us together were still unbroken. And when their fair daughters came dropping in on us like flakelets of love from the bosom of Heaven, we were sure that we still had a warm place in the hearts of the good and kind people of Columbia. For this friendly atterance, borne to us by the dear girls who blessed our home on last Tuesday night, we are deply grateful, and pray God, that every blessing may crown their young hearts, and fill their homes on earth, and then, when life's

land, So free from all sorrow and pain, With songs on our lips, and with harps in our hand, To meet one another again." May a kind Father in Heaven bless them

REV. W. H. STECK.-We are indebted to Kansas city exchange for the following facts concerning the charge of Rev. W. H. Steck at that place:

From the minutes and records of the church we glean the following facts of inter-

On the evening of the 13th of March. 1867 a meeting was held to take into consideration the establishment of an English Lutheran Church in this city. No action was then taken, but on the evening of the 4th of April, 1867, in compliance with a call ssued by the Superintendent of the Lutheran Home Mission Society, Rev. M. Officer, another meeting was held in the New School Presbyterian Church, and an organization effected. At this meeting the Rev. A. W. Wagenhals was chosen pastor, wno entered at once upon the important work to which, by Providence, he had been called, and his labors proved of immense alue to the infant church. The first place of worship which they ould call their own was an open "Tabernacle" in which the Congregation worshiped during the summer of sixty-sevey. This tabernacle, which was a shed dignified by the name, has long since disappeared; photograph of it is still in existence. Like he Jews of old not satisfied with the "Tabrnacle services" this little band under the eadings of Providence and in reliance upon His aid, determined to build a place of worship more worthy the God of their fathers. A church lot was secured on New Delaware St. and before the close of the year a church edifice was erected thereon, in outward appearance one of the most tasteful in in the city, and in its present location one of the most accessible to a large portion of our rapidly growing and wide spreading

The building is of brick with handsome ower, in front overlooking a large part of he city, and is worthy about $10,000. The organization which has been in existnce not quite three years, during which time it has been without the services of a regular pastor for nearly a whole year, is not large, but in numbers and influence will compare very favorably with older Churches. The Congregation has recently called Roy, W. H. Steck as their pastor who entered upon his labors on the first Sabbath of the new year. SETTLEMENT DAY .- The first of April, ays an exchange, which is now so close at hand is the general settlement day of the People. To the Banker and Broker all days are alike. Their obligations fall due from day to day, and they are obliged to keep their magazine well supplied with ammunition to meet demands. But to the mechanic and farmer-the renter and borrowernine-tenths of the community-the men who live by hard knocks rather than by money changing-thegreat "pay day" comes luckily but once a year--and that is the first of April. When that comes and they are safely over it, they consider themselves it comes round again. The first of April in our locality, is consequently a very busy day. To add to its perplexities it is also "moving day." Already we can see and hear the note of preparation for the coming "first." Debtors are quietly but energetically gathering together their means : mechanics are collecting their debts and laving the sums carefully away to meet the rents, interest or principal which fall due on the beginning of the coming month. In this good work they should have the aid and encouragement of everybody. Whoever owes a doliar, should pay it, es ecially if needed. Punctuality is the life of business; partieularly on the first of April, when the failure of one man to pay what he owes may and probably will disappoint a dozen. The nimble shilling put in motion, will pay many debts on that day, and perhaps save the credit of more than one. As business will crowd on the first of April, we advise everybody who is able, not to wait until that day arrives. Those who have their money in hand will study their own convenience as well as of others, by paying it a few days in advance. They will thus save trouble and get their business done well. Those who depend on scriveners will find them crowded on that day, who will be greatly accommodated by those who shall not defer their business to be last moment. Take time by the foretop, and have business over before the first of April arrives. As for the financial condition of the country we believe it is generally healthy. There read you almost seel the sun upon the I has been little if any speculation of any kind in the county to affect the general interests. Much land has been in the market, but there has scarcely been a sale made on speculation. Purchases have been limited to the actual wants of buyers, and most of those who bought have had the precaution to provide the means of payment. Land has not been runtup to inflated prices. nor has it been sacrificed. It has kept a golden equilibrium. The condition of the ources in view of the large demand that is omers get over the first of April. They are strong in resources but must necessarily be exceedingly cautious in the use of their

OBITUARY . Samuel Martin, eldest son of the late Hon, Peter Martin died this morning, after a short and sovere illness. While but twenty-two years of age. Mr. Martain was a good conveyancer and an expert clark naving been appointed to a clerkship in the Inland Insurance and Deposit Company's office about one year ago, which position he held until his decease. His many excellent qualities of head and hart-rarely equalled and never surpassed in one of his age-coupled with his kind and unobtrusive manners, endeared him to all his acquiantances As all humanity is imperfect, so his character was not without imperfections, but these were few and rare in comparison with his many sterling virtues. His very weaknesses inclined to virtue's side. By his premature death his family are bereft of an affectionate son and brother, and his friends and associates lament the loss of a true hearted companion and friend.

Ir has been a wonder all along how Wm Courtney, of Safe Harbor, this county, was acquitted of the charge of robbing the mail when the proof was so strong against him. But the mystery is explained. It will be recollected that Courtney was mail carried between Penningtonville and Oxford, and had abstracted two valuable letters, and when arrested seventy dollars in money and a check, taken from these letters, were found on his person. He was tried before Judge Cadwallader in Philadelphia. The guilt of the prisoner was so clear, that the Judge and District Attorney allowed the case to go to the jury without charge or argument. A young lawyer, however, J. Davis Duffield, who had been retained for the defense, without a witness, plead in behalf of the prisoner, in manner at once so eloquent and witty, that after an absence of two hours, the jury returned, to the evident surprise of everybody, with a verdict of not guilty. It was the honied toung of eloquence that, in this instance, saved Courtney's bacon .- Express.
