be made to hop the conjugal twig. Smith said he'd rather pop the interrogatory to all of old Thompson's daughters, and his sisters, and his lady cousins, and his aunt Hannah, in the country, and the whole of his female relations, than ask old Thompson. But it had to be done and so he sat and studied out a speech which he was to disgorge at old Thomson the very first time he got a shy at him. So Smith dropped in on him one Sunday evening, when all the family had meandered around to meeting, and found him doing a sum in beer measure.

"How are you, Smith?" asked old Thompson, as the former walked in, white as a piece of chalk, and trembling as if he had swallowed a condensed earthquake. Smith was afraid to answer, 'cause he wasn't sure about that speech. He knew he had to keep his grip on it while he had it there, or it would slip from him quicker than an oiled eel through an auger hole. So he blurted out-

"Mr. Thompson, sir: Perhaps it may not be unknown to you, that during an extended period of five years, I have been busily engaged in the prosecution of a commercial enterprise-"

"Is that so, and keepin, it a secret all this time, while I thought you were tendin' store? Well, by George, you're one of them now ain't you?" Smith had begun to think it all over again, to get the run of it. "Mr. Thompson, sir: Perhaps it may not be unknown to you, that during the extended period of five years, I have been busily engaged in the prosecution or a commercial enterprise, with the determination to secure a sufficient maintenance"-Sit down, Smith, and help yourself to beer. Don't stand there holdin' your hat, like a blind beggar, with paralysis. I never had seen you behave yourself so queer in all my born days."

Smith had been knocked out again, and so he had to wander back again and take a fresh start. "Mr. Thompson, sir: It may not be unknown to you. that during an extended period of five years, I have been engaged in the prosecution of a commercial enterprise, with the determination to procure a sufficient maintenance-"A which ance?" asked old Thompson but Smith held on to the last word as if it was his only chance, and went on: "In the hope that some day I might enter wedlock, and bestow my earthly possessions upon one whom I could call my own. I have been a lonely man, sir, and have felt that it is not good for man to be alone; therefore I would-" "Neither is it, Smith; I'm glad you dropped in. How's the old man?" "Mr. Tompson, sir," said Smith in des pairing confusion, raising his voice to a yell, "it may not be known to you, that during an extended period of a lonely man I have been engaged to enter wedlock, and bestowed all my enterprise on one I could determine to be good for certain possessions-no, I mean-that is-that is-that -Mr. Tompson, sir; it may not be un-

"And, then again, it may. Look here, Smith; you'd better lay down and take something warm-you ain't well." Smith swearing like a four year old colt went in again. "Mr. Tompson, sir: It may not be lonely to you to prosecute me whom you a Our new and well selected stock of friend, for a commercial maintenance but -but-eh-dang it-Mr. Tompson, sir

"Oh, Smith, you talk like a fool. I never seen such a first class idiot in the course of my whole life. What's the matter with you anyhow?" "Mr. Tompson, sir," said Smith, in an agony of bewilderment, "it may not be known that you prosecuted a lonely man who is not good for a commercial, period of wedlock for some five years, but-" "See here, Mr. Smith, you're drunk and if you can't behave better than that you'd better leave; if you don't I'll chuck you out, or I'm a Dutchman." [Mr. Tompson, sir, said smith, frantic with despair, "it may not be unknown to you that my earthy possessions are engaged to enter wedlock five years with a sufsciently lonely man, who is not good for a commercial maintenance-"The very deuce he isn't. Now you jist git up and git, or I'll knock what little brains out of you you've got left." With that, old Tompson took Smith and shot him into the street as if he'd run against a locomotive, going out at the rate of forty miles an hour.—Before old Tompson had time to shut the front door Smith collected his legs and one thing and another that were lying around on the pavement, arranged himself in a vertical position, and yelled out:

"Mr. Tompson, sir: It may not be unknown to you"-which made the old man so wretched mad that he went out and set a bull terrier on Smith before he had a chance to lift a brogan, and there was a scientific dog-fight with odds in favor of the dog, for he had an awful hold for such i small animal."

Smith afterwards married the girl; and lived happily about two months. At the end of that time he told a confidential friend that he would willingly take more trouble and undergo a million more dog nites to get rid of her.
