COUNTERFEITS .- Peterson's Detector says there are a large number of counterfeit five cent pieces in circulation. An assay at the mint has been made of them, and Director Pollock says " you will find the motto, ' In God we Trust,' a good deal larger in the counterfeit than in the genuine. The yellow color of the counterfeit will also afford some test, &c. This is an appearance of Zinc, which is not in the genuine." It seems that counterfeiters as well as the quite satisfactory. Many of the articles voted for and some of those chanced off, were disposed of on Saturday evening-the rest on Monday. Rev. Mr. Schwartz was presented with the arm chair; S. S. Staman, received 10 votes, Mrs. Allison, 2 votes, John Moore 5, and Howard Case 1. John Fry drew the suit of clothes, George Crane, the rag carpet, Geo. F. Rathvon, the Bride cake. and Mr. Foy, the Bride. The interest in the award of prizes was unabated to the last and produced considerable merriment.

- The "Grand Lottery" absorbed more interest than any other feature of the fair. A $10, gold piece, a barrel of flour, piece of Muslin, &c., were among the highest prizes. We have not learned what the net pro ceeds of the fair are, but we presume they Too Much Joke.-We have it on the auhority of a gentleman of "undoubted veacity, intelligence and influence" residing in Rapho, that a young Lancaster city chap, on a visit to the country, thought that he would have some fun with a farmer in the neighborhood. So he decorated himself with a sheet, and planted himself out in the farmer's yard. When the farmer came out to the pump, the ghost began to frisk about the grounds and groan. But the agricultural gentleman was so little open to conviction on the question of supernatural manifestations, that he merely picked up an adz-handle and proceeded to fondle the pale spectre with carnestness and vigor. The next morning the Lancaster youth was confined to the house with what the family called "a slight cold," and he did'nt appear in public for three weeks. The farmer says he is prepared to take out contracts near the cemetery. He can demoralize any disembodied spirit that ever e-visited the glimpses of the moon, or his

FAST RAILROAD TIME .- The Pacific Express, consisting of seven cars, on Saturday norning traversed the distance from Altoona to Harrisburg-one hundred and twenty-eight miles—in two hours and fiftynine minutes, including a stoppage of four minutes for water. This is at the rate of forty-four miles an hour. The distance beween Harrisburg and Philadelpnia is one hundred and seven miles and was made by the same train, with change of engine, in two hours and forty-five minutes, or thirty-nine miles an hour. The entire distance from Altoona to Philadelnhia-two hundred and thirty-five milesoccupied five hours and thirty-six minutes (not including two stops of four minutes each) in running, making an average of forty-two miles an hour. The Harrisburg Patriot, from which we gather the above facts, says that the run from Altoona to Harrisburg eclipses anything of the kind ever accomplished on the Penusylvania Railroad. The train was seventy-five min-utes hehind at Altoona, and was made up a considerable distance west of Philadel-

THE NEW HOTEL AT DOWNINGTOWN. The large and magnificent hotel at Downingtown was burned to the ground on last Sunday morning about 1 o'clock. The hotel was so far completed that it was expected to be opened for the reception of visitors and guests early in July. The building inside was elaborately finished, and every part of it was constructed on the most approved plans, both as to health and convenience. It promised to be a grand success. Some fiend however in human form, jealous no doubt of its success, for We can not conceive what other motive could have prompted its destruction, set fire to it, and its complete destruction was the result.

It is a heap of ashes. It is said that when the slate roof fell in, t was attended with a noise not unlike thunder, which reverberated up and down the valley. The fire was the largest ever seen, and the reflection upon the sky observed for miles away. The loss is estimated at from $75,000 to $90,000, on which there is an insurance of $60,000, and a capital stock of $30,000. The contracters, workmen, &c., are all secured and it is thought that not even the smallest loss will be sustained by them. This announcement will be gratifying to the friends of Messrs. George Bogle, John Peart and Bachman & Dehuff, who had contracts for furnishing the lumber.

MILITARY ENCAMPMENT .-- From the Philadelphia papers we learn that the Third Regiment, Philadelphia City Guards will encamp at Reading for one week this summer. General S. A. Mulholland, present Chief of Police of Philadelphia, an old comrade and fellow officer of ours, is the Colonel commanding. The general served with distinction during the war, having been promoted from Major of the 116th Reg't. Penn'a, Vol. to Brevet Major General of U Volunteers. He was twice wounded, and is in every sense a brave officer, an ac-complished gentleman, and a genial companion. We hope to spend a day with the City Guards during their encampment near Reading, and revive many of the old associations and pleasant incidents of "ye 116th The General received a flattering acknowle edgement of his military services, when the office of Chief of Police was tendered im,on account of his bravery and devotio to the cause of his country.

The Sunday Dispatch in noticing the proosed encampment, says: The City Guards have completed very satisfactory urrangements for their coming encampment. Gen. Mulholland selected the ground last week. It is a beautiful spot, on the Schuylkill river, two miles from Reading; it is high, well watered, and a fine flow of water passing through the encampment sufficient to accommodate ten thousand men, besides which, a dense growth of large timber surrounds the camp on three sides, affording a pleasant retreat from the sun. A fine view of the city of Reading and of the surrounding country may be obtained from the grounds. During the war a camp was located at this spot, and was called camp Sigel. In the year 1862 a militaic camp was pitched here. Judging from the kind reception of Gen. Mulholland and the committee of his officers, the citizens of Reading will give the third regiment a glorious welcome. The regiment will leave this city on Saturday, August 6th, and will remain in camp seven days. The City Guards have completed very sat

Taking the Census-Rules for the Assistant Marshals.

The work of taking the census has commenced. Notwithstanding the fact that the Superintendent of the Census has issued minute instructions we venture to assist Marshals Richards and Bockins, in making their duties more plain to them. Each Assistant Marshal should cut these instructions out and paste them carefully in his

The enumeration is to be made by actua The chumeration is to be made by actual inquiry at every dwelling-house, unless the head of the house is out in the barn, when you may inquire there, but not otherwise. This duty must be performed by the Assistant Marshal alone; he can't send a boy. Marshals must take pains to employ in-elligible terms. If a man is a "shoemak-r," no matter if he calls himself a minister an editor, put him down as a shoemaker. Don't call a man an "artist" because he Don't call a man an "artist" because he goes out whitewashing, or "sailor" simply because he tends saw-mill. A man may be "engaged in a bank" and yet be nothing but a burglar, and you must be careful and make the distinction.

When a lawyer, a merchant, or a manufacturer has retired from business say "retired lawyer," retired merchant," cc. If a man has served a term in the penitentiary you may say "retired convict." Distinguish between stone-masons and reemasons.

In using the term "Judge," let us know whether he is judge of a court, whisky or a horse-race. Officials should have their profession designated, it they have any, as "Retired merchant, Governor of Massachusetts;" "Boneboller, Representative in Congress;" "Rum-seller, member of the Legislature,"

Be particular to distinguish between farmers and farm-hands. This can be done by observing which call the other up in the back-yard either. He says he is . the noorest Hamlet you ever saw in all your born orning.

Be very particular in taking "Diseases," particularly small-pox. The Census Bureau desires all the statistics possible regarding small-pox, and Assistant Marshals must give their personal attention to it. Among Social Statistics the amount o courting done by our young people is important. Careful and delicate in quiry will result in an accurate and valuable estimate of the amount of gas, oil, tallow candles &co., consumed in "sitting up" Sunday nights. Be particular and never describe a wo-man as an "old maid," if you ever expect to travel that way again.

When you employ the term "packer," indicate whether you mean "crockery-packer," "mule-packer," "pork-packer," or Governor Packer, of Pennsylvania. When an able-bodied young man depends upon a poor and feeble old mother for support, set him down as a "loafer." We trust that with the above rules always at hand the census takers will be en perform their duties creditably and satisfac-torily.

Crop reports from the Northwest are in the main, encouraging. The St. Paul Dispatch, of Minnesota, says: "The approximation to drought which has prevailed in a portion of the west and in Ohio and eastward has not retarded the growth of our grass or grain. There will be an early wheat harvest in Minnesota, with a good yield, equal to our best years. In many parts of the State the farmers, instead of attempting to work up a vast surface, are yield, equal to our best years. In many parts of the State the farmers, instead of attempting to work up a vast surface, are cultivating less ground, but doing it more thoroughly, and will find their recompense in good crops." As to Iowa, leading journals of that State say crops never looked better, and were never as torward as now. The best young corn the State has ever had is that which is now covering the ground with its green. It is farther along, looks better, is growing faster and is cleaner than any corn ever seen in the State. In Wiscousin the crops of all kinds are doing well, and the harvest will be generous and abundant. Accounts from Illinois, are very cheering, especially as to wheat. In Michigan wheat will not be much more than half a crop, and corn and oats are so stunted that copious rains and a late iall can only make them of consequence, and much the same story comes from Northern and Middle Ohio. But summing up the whole situation, the Northwest is in good heart, and from its well-filled storehouses will honor all demands that may be made of it. all demands that may be made of it.

The "Herald" and the Odd Fellows'. The Herald of this week contains a base and most cowardly attack on Susquehanna Lodge of Independent Order of Odd Fellows of this Borough, which calls for summary defense. In noticing the ball of the colored people held in the Hall on Tuesday evening, the Herald adds: It may be well for our German population closed against them. Remember this and act accordingly. Now it may be well to state that some time ago Susquehanna Lodge to whom the Hall belongs, and over which they have jurisdiction, passed a resolution in Lodge, which positively prohibited the sale or keeping of liquor in the Hall. So much drunkenness and disorder had resulted from the practise of keeping beer, and retailing it in the ante-rooms at balls, &c., that the Odd Fellows were obliged to act promptly and decidedly in the matter, and the instructions of the Lodge were directed to be strictly enforced by the Treasurer, Mr. Wilson.

A short time ago some of our German citizens, wishing to hold a ball or entertainment of some kind, applied to the Treasurer for the purpose of securing the hall, but upon learning that the resolution of the Lodge prohibited the sale of liquors in the building, they declined renting it. It was not closed against them as the Herald states. but free to all who would pay the stipulated rental, and conform with the rules of the Order. The apparent motive of the Hcrald's atack on Susquehanna Lodge, and especially its threatening admonition to "remember this and act accordingly" is to create the belief that the Odd Fellows' organization makes political discrimination between classes, and that it has so far forgotten its high and christian watch-words of "Friendship; Love and Truth," as to deny to our German citizens what it grants to the 'niggers." This is a base intimation, and we take pleasure in refuting it. The Order has for its aim higher and more charitable objects than those into which the Herald would drag it. Susquehanna Lodge knows her duty too well to allow her fair name to be degraded by such motives as are imputed to her in the Herald's article. Heretofore beneficial societies, such as the Odd Fellows, enjoyed immunity from newspaper attacks, because their principles and practices were consistent. Butthe Herald with a disregard which must be distasteful to all intelligent citizens, has outraged common propriety, and made Susquehanna Lodge the object of its petty spite. The Lodge may congratulate itself however, that the attack comes from a source so puerile and nominally harmless.

The suggestion of the Herald that "our German friends" should "remember this and act accordingly," contains an insult to hat intelligent portion of our people, in the very insinuation that they are not capable of judging for themselves. All well nformed citizens know that they must comply with the rules and regulations of our Public · Hall, or decline its use, and the people of Columbia will sustain Susquehanna Lodge in the enforcement of hese salutary rules.

A MYSTERY CLEARED UP-THE RE-MAINS OF A SUICIDE DISINTERRED-A BUL-LET RATTLING IN HIS SKULL-SAD STORY of His Death.—While a party of work-men were engaged in the removal of some human remains from the south-east corner human remains from the south-east corner of the Presbyterian burying ground of this city, to make room for the erection of a dwelling house for the sexton, a skull was exhumed in the empty cavity of which a ballet was heard to rattle, and on examination a bullet hole was discovered in the right temple. This bullet dropped out of one of the eye holes into the hand of the sexton, and the affair led to suspicions that the persons to whom the remains belonged might have been murdered. the persons to whom the remains belonged might have been murdered.

It so happens, however, that we are able to clear up this supposed mystery completely, and to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. The skull found with the bullet rattling in it was not the skull of a murdered man, but that of a suicide. The story of his death is full of interist, and the particulars thereof we gather from the resoluctions of that most estimable lady, Mrs, E. Michael, proprietress of the Grape Hotel. In the month of Oct., in the year 1820, a gentleman named Torrence Marshall, from Wythe county, Va., came to this city with a drove of cattle. It traveled, as was the general custom in He traveled, as was the general custom in those days, upon horseback, and brought

If of traveled, as was the general custom in those days, upon horseback, and brought with him a drove of cattle, which he sold at a loss to the farmers of Lancaster Co. He was a fine looking man, about forty years of age. His father and his brother had both been among the victims of that terrible calamity, the burning of the old Richmond Theatre. Some time after that his wife was thrown from a carriage and killed. These things, together with the loss of money on his cattle, so preyed upon his mind that he determined to put an end to an existence that he had become burthensome to him. He went to the store of John F. Steinman and purchased a pistol. He took the weapon to the gun store of Mr. Gibbs, and had it carefully loaded. Returning to the Grape Hotel, then kept by Mr. John Michael, the husband of the lady from whom we learn the particulars of this sad story, he had some conversation with a fellow-drover and merchant from the same county in Virginia. The name of his friend was Zimmerman. Marshall told him that he could not wait until the time they had set for their departure together for Baltimore, where they were both to lay they had set for their departure together for Baltimore, where they were both to lay in a supply of goods, each of them being engaged in the mercantile business in Wythe gaged in the mercantile business in Wythe county Virginia. Zimmerman insisted upon Marshall's waiting, telling him that he would be able to leave with him on the following day, as some farmers were to come in and pay the last of his money due him on the day when the conversation occurred. Mr. Zimmerman stated that he was about writing home, and advised curred. Mr. Zimmerman stated that he was about writing home, and advised Marshail to do the same, and lie over with him. To this Mr. Marshall seemed to assent, and taking pen, ink and paper with him he started up stairs. Going to his room he found the chamber-maid engaged in cleaning it up, both he and his friend having risen at rather a late hour in the morning. The girl did not leave the room, thinking he might wait until she had finished.

Mr. Marshall went out, entered another close by, and placing the pistol he had purchased and had so carefully loaded to his chased and had so carefully loaded to his head, fired. The girl heard a report, but thought he had knocked a chair over; Mr. Michael, who was in a room just below that in which the tragedy occurred, heasd a noise and thought the chambernaid had knocked down a looking-glass and broken it. He started up to see about the matter, and discovered Mr. Marshall lying upon the floor, life being extinct and the floor flooded with his blood. He bled very profusely, two large earthen crocks of blood befusely, two large earthen crocks of blood being scoped up. The ball and the entire contents of the pistol, entered his skull, but contents of the pistol, entered his skull, but did not emerge therefrom; this accounts for the presence of the bullet in the skull when it was ding up the other day.—The room where the deed was committed is the back room over the store of Mr. Jucob Loeb, that building being then the Grape Hotel. The remains were examined by the Coroner, an inquest was held, and a verdict in accordance with the facts rendered. There being some objection to the burial of a suicide in church yards at that day, the body was interred in a family grave-yard on the farm erred in a family grave-yard on the farm f Mr. Henry Dietrich, the father of Mrs. Iichael. The deceased had some twenty-Aliehael. The deceased had some twentytwo or three hundred dollars of money in

THE TARIFF MEETING .- The meeting on Monday evening as preliminary to a general meeting was a decided success. About seventy-five of the leading and most influential Republicans of Columbia assembled in the Town Hall, and proceeded to effect an organization by calling J. G. Hess, Esq. the chair and appointing Captain Herbert Thomas, Secretary. The object of the meeting, the call &c., were discussed by the gentlemen present, and a motion fito ponder over the fact that the niggers can have the Hall in which to dance, but it is nally agreed upon, that a committee of five be appointed to draft resolutions, expressive of the sentiments of the Republicans of Laucaster county, to be reported at a subsequent meeting. The chair appointed P. Fraley, Col. C. S. Kauffman, Thos. R.

> on said committee. On motion of Mr. Fraley, on amendment by Col. Kauffman, it was decided that a public meeting be held in Odd Fellows' Hall on (this) Saturday evening, June 25th. The committee was instructed to make the necessary arrangements to carry the resotions into effect.

Extended remarks were then made on the question of protection by Col. Kauffman, P. Fraley and others. The meeting then adiourned.

A mass meeting will be held in Old Fellows' Hall this evening, to consider the subject further, before the status of the Repubicans of Columbia and vicinity on the tariff question. Let every Republican turn out and bring his neighbor with him. Let our laboring men be there in their strength. Let our merchants and our manufacturers be there, and let us have a large and generd out-pouring of the masses.

We have been informed that the working men of Marietta will be here in force. Welcome thrice, welcome! Come in your strength.

LETTER FROM THE WEST .- Mr. Peart Ir vin of Cincinnati, formerly type of the Sry, in a private letter to his sister speaks of the grand Saengerfest, recently held in that city, thus: For the last four or five days our city has For the last four or five days our city has been agitated by what is called a "Saengerfest" which when translated means "Singing Feast." It is a re-union of the different German singing societies of the United States, and a custom that has been repeated annually for seventeen years. This years "feast" however, has exceeded anything ever before held or even anticipated. On a lot, owned by the city and intended for a park, was built an immense structure in the highest style of art capable of seating it is said over 8000 persons; the building itself the highest style of art capable of seating it is said over 8000 persons; the building itself is quite an ornament in its outward appearance but upon my first entrance on the occasion of the second concert I was perfectly astonished to see how richly, gaily and tastily it was decorated with paintings, evergreens and rich flags of the different nationalities, with the stars and stripes grandly and beautifully above all, the standards, mottoes, and colors of the different societies interspersed among them.

The stage, rising in West end of the hall, step above step until it reached as it seemed within ten feet of the arches far above the heads of those in the auditorium, was fille heads of those in the auditorium, was filled with the different singing societies and an orchestra of 150 performers.

The Hall and Galleries were filled to overflowing with people, estimated in numbers from nine to twelve thousand, among whom were our best and most respectable citizens, altogether forming one of the grandest scenes I ever witnessed. Of the music I can only say, that the general criticism is more favorable to the instrumental than yocal part of the programme.

icism is more favorable to the instrumental than vocal part of the programme.

The selections were of a high order of classical music, and when I say the execution was very fine, I only echo the mild sentiments of musical crities.

The week's festivities ended yesterday with a pic-nic in a woods accessible by the I. & C. R. R., as well as the steamboats on the river, being a fine ride of about sixon the river, being a fine ride of about six-teen miles from the city. With thousands of others I wont down to With thousands of others I went down to see the crowd, and was gratified. It is estimated that from thirty to fifty thousand people were on the grounds at one time, and that besides other refreshments consumed, the Germans' great staple beverage, beer, suffered to the extent of 5000 kegs. I have heard of no rowdyism, or accident in connection with this immense festival.

CENSUS OF COLUMBIA.-In 4850, the Census was taken by William Hippey, Assistant Marshal, from which we take the following extract:

Whole number of Males
Whole number of Females
Whole number of Colored
Whole number of persons over 20,
who can neither read nor write
Whole number of families
Whole number of deaths in one year
Whole number of scholars in school

In 1860, the Census was taken by Samuel E. Maxton, Assistant Marshal, as follows: Whole number of Males Whole number of Fenules
Whole number of Colored
Whole number of persons over 27,
who can neither read nor write
Whole number of fnumber
Whole number of families
Whole number of deaths in one year
Whole number of scholars in school

Corner Lounging on corners prevails to such an extent in Columbia that it is becoming a sheer nuisance and a disgrace to the better disposed classes During the week days the corners are wel filled: but especially on Sunday evening they are so crowded and jammed with noisy and boisterous young men, entirely blocking up the pavements, that we have noticed ladies going to church being compelled to step out over the gutter to ge around the crowd, they making no move ment toward opening the passage or get ting out of the way. This unmanly prac-tice should not be tolerated any longer; it should be abated and done away with at once for the respect and morality of our pleasant borough. It would be well if hose having the ruling authority would

The Fall of Breadstuffs.—The joyful intelligence of the full of bread became current in the streets vesterday and spread with electric rapidity throughout the borough, gladdening the hearts of many of our hard-working people. Soon hundreds of eager citizens were seen flocking to the spot where this valuable commodity was said to have fallen, when, lo! it was discovered to have been a barrel of flour which had fullen from a wagon bound for R. Haves' Grocery and Flour store where can be had at the lowest price the best flour in the state. ## Deaths.

Died, on Monday, June 20th, 1870, of dropsy, Martin Luther, son of Robert and Emma Ward, of this place, aged 11 years and 1 month.

A dark cloud has fallen over another household, and Luther, the pride of the family, is gone. Short but severe were his sufferings; but the Father had need of him, and His angels came and took him to their Heavenly Home, where the sufferings of this life are all lost in the perfect joys of unending day. We shall miss him, but the hope the Saviour gives, that, "he is not dead but sleepeth," shall over cheer us; and we shall meet him again in our Father's House of many mansions never to part again forever.
