THE Express has sweet names for swee things, and intimate that the editorials of the Inquirer, Examiner and Intelligencer are "malicious lies," and their editors "malicious liars." This somewhat sets at naught that old saying of "There's nothing in a name."

Claims and No Claims.

The Express of Saturday, July 16, says that it "recognizes no such thing as the 'claims' of any man to a seat in the Legislature."

The Express of June 28, however, not knowing what the future might bring forth named A. C. Reincehl as an acceptable canditate for the Legislature.asone "of whose claims we have heretofore spoken.'

THE Columbia Fire Insurance Company has been reorganized, and now appeals to the public for a liberal support. The solvency of the corporation is established, its ability to meet all liabilities is unquestionable, and a quickly revived credit at home and abroad must follow. Already, thoughonly a few days since its new management went into effect, there is an improved feeling in all circles regarding its future. Maj. J. F. Frueauff, the Secretary and principal business officer, is a gentleman of wide experience, well and favorably known everywhere, and brings to his new field rare qualities for the position. He is strengthened by a full and energetic board of officers and directors, who mean work. We hope to see the Columbia Insurance Company one of the leading institutions of the State, and nothing will tend so much to this end as the interest manifested at home in its success, and in the restoration of its credit. In our local and advertising columns will be found a fuller statement of its condition and prospects. Industries
