

CONGRESS YESTERDAY.

Let every free American read and ponder upon the proceedings of Congress yesterday. Another gigantic step has been taken towards the establishment of Slavery as King of this great Nation. The Senate, by a solid vote and overwhelming majority, has declared the deeds of every ruffian, who at the command of a slave-catcher Marshal, assists in returning a wretched negro to Slavery, equally felonious with those of the men who tracked the snows of Valley Forge with their bleeding feet, and saved New Orleans from the clutches of foreign admirers of her beauty and booty. Gatchelder and Washington are henceforth to be held up as accomplices before the American people. Kline and Lafayette are equally to be regarded as entitled to the praise and reverence of the people. Nay, if anything, the bloodhounds of Slavery are honored more highly than the defenders of liberty—for the claim of the patriotic soldier makes its humble appeal to the justice of Congress for sixteen years in vain, while the hired ruffian of the slave driver is scarcely cold in his coffin before the fathers of the Nation rush to dehonour to his virtues. In our unpopulated nature, we long since thought the lowest depth of degradation to which Slavery could drag down had been attained; but lower steps still open under us as we descend. Surely, retribution for these things cannot be much longer delayed. A patriot trampled on thus would long since have traced upon his tyrant, and not the spirit of the North be led into remembrance at last!

OUR GLORIOUS INSTITUTIONS.

The Berlin (Wis.) Courant, a Democratic journal, in an article on the Fourth of July, expresses itself in the unexaggerated and truthful style: "It is all very fine to refer in such terms to our so-called free and republican institutions; but when we reflect that our free institutions hold three millions of human beings in abject servitude—when we reflect that solemn compromises between the North and South—which were designed to settle and prevent the further extension of the evil of slavery—have been annulled—when we reflect that this abrogation of pledged faith has opened thirteen states as large as New York, to the withering curse of slavery—when we reflect that representatives of free States were the signatories and the principal agents in this iniquitous transaction, and that for the sake of a little public popularity, basely and knowingly interperated their constituents, and bow the head in submission to the demoralizing and anti-republican institutions of the South—when we reflect that the time has nearly at hand when we must choose between anarchy or dissolution of our Union—when we take all these things into consideration, does it not seem strange, does it not seem absurd, to create our 'free institutions,' to claim that ours is a land of liberty, where the down-trodden can raise their eyes to Heaven and thank their God that they are at last upon the soil of the Republic?"

J. BLOOMINGDALE, Principal. The undersigned, Trustees of the Coudersport Academy, are moved by a sense of official and personal duty to invite the attention of the public—especially in particular to the rising and useful character of this institution of learning. When invited, a little more than a half-year ago, to the superintendence of its affairs, we found it depressed and in decline. We requested Mr. J. Bloomingdale to become its Principal Teacher, and trusted his organization and other more energetic efforts to his disinterested management. Experience has proved him to be faithful, efficient, and practical—just such an instructor as this community need. The number of pupils in the school is now over sixty. We refer to Mr. Bloomingdale's advertisement for information as to the terms and conditions on which pupils are admitted, and for other facts of interest; and recommend the institution to the patronage of the people.
