

Miss Greenfield, the Vocalist.
The remarkable and accomplished artist, whose name stands at the head of this article, was born a slave at Natchez, Mississippi, in the year 1823; but under circumstances more favorable than often attends the lot of servitude. Her mother was of Indian descent, her father an African. Her mistress, Elizabeth Greenfield, whose name she bears, was Welch by birth, and in religious profession a member of the Society of Friends. Having come into the possession of the family property, this energetic woman formed the resolution of emancipating her slaves and sending them to Liberia, the settlement of which had then just been commenced. This she did, herself accompanying them, seeing them comfortably established, and sending out to them after her return to Philadelphia, where she herself settled, abundant supplies. Miss Greenfield's mother and two sisters were among these emigrants, and are still living comfortably in Liberia. Miss Greenfield herself, being only a year old, and having been named for her mistress, remained with her, was brought up with her family in Philadelphia. She received only a very plain education, according to Quaker ideas, and was not taught or even suffered to learn music at all, that being a thing not approved by Friends. At the age of about twenty-one, having lost her adopted mother, who made a moderate provision for her by will, she then undertook the superintendence of a gentleman's family, a neighbor and old acquaintance of Mrs. Greenfield, and from his eldest daughter she learnt to play the piano, and acquired some knowledge of music, of which she became a teacher. Two or three years ago she was induced by some ladies, whom she met while on a visit to Western New-York, to give a concert at Buffalo. This proved successful, and after an equally successful tour through most of the Northern cities, she embarked for Europe. There she was everywhere received with great kindness, and had enjoyed and improved many opportunities of musical cultivation. Her concert for the benefit of Mr. Grimes's church is to be repeated. No lover of music should fail to attend.
Miss Greenfield sings again to-morrow evening, in the Melodiam in the Temple. She should have a full house.—Boston Telegraph.

GREAT RESULTS FROM LITTLE INCIDENTS.—Thirty years ago two boys in New-Hampshire quarreled, about a box of blacking. To get rid of one of them, he was sent to New-York, and is now one of our first shipping merchants, a director in a bank, and owner of a line of steamers. A dispute about a tin dipper with the steward of a steambot, resulted in a lawsuit that cost a thousand dollars, and laid the foundation of the fortune of one of our millionaires, who now owns more tin dippers and steamboats than any other man in the world—once a deck hand of a boat, now the captain of the "upper tens." An accident made him, an accident may unmake him.
By the disobedience of a lad in 1819, a garden gate in Rhode Island was left open; a pig got in and destroyed a few plants; a quarrel between the owners of the pig and the garden grew out of it, which spread among the friends, defeated the Federal candidate to the Legislature, and gave the State a Democratic Senator, by whose vote war was declared in 1812, with Great Britain.
Napoleon became a soldier in consequence of one disobedient act to his mother, then General, Consul, Emperor, tyrant, and exile. Washington became, in early life, a favorite with men of influence and power, because of his obedience to his mother. An accident made this known to one who never lost sight of the obedient boy, which resulted in his becoming the head of the American Army.
One single vote sent Oliver Cromwell to the Long Parliament, Charles Stuart to the scaffold, revolutionized England, and made Great Britain free.
Four votes in the city of New-York made Thomas Jefferson President of the United States; one vote gave us the tariff of 1842, and one vote made the tariff of 1846. One vote gave us Texas, made war with Mexico, slew thousands of our people, and purchased California, turned thither the tide of emigration, and will change the destiny of the world.

A SLAVE HUNT came off a few days ago on our old "stamping ground," Hamilton, Butler county. A negro had acted out the Declaration of Independence, by leaving Kentucky. At Hamilton, certain marshals arrested him, and in the proceeding he was brought before his Honor, Judge Walking of the Probate Court, who was not long in finding out who man he was; because the Judge holds that every man belongs to God and to himself. So he discharged the man from custody, who took the first train northward, to the underground.
That night we guess the Judge slept sweetly in the consciousness of having helped the oppressed, and helped a man to seize the boon of Liberty.—Astartaba (Ohio) Sentinel.

SETTLEMENT OF KANSAS—A NEW MOVE.
A wide field for thought is opened by the following, which we copy from the Rochester American:
Frederick Douglas' paper of last week broached and advocates at some length, his plan for the settlement of the new Territories. It is for meeting the South on its own broad platform, and inasmuch as they claim the right to carry their slaves to Kansas—a class of population obnoxious to Northern freemen—so the journal to which we refer, urges the part settlement of Kansas by free colored people—a class of population obnoxious to slaveholders. This is filing a "cross bill" with a vengeance, and one that would cover much new matter. The idea is not bad and is worth the reflection of the white and colored men who are really in earnest, in efforts to elevate and improve the free colored population of the North. The base of the free negro has been his gregarious character—his eternal lingering in cities and large towns, his determination, dogged and sullen, to meet no higher destiny than the lowest class of employment offered in cities. This keeps him degraded and poor, makes him a prey to disease and suffering, and gives reason for the statistics that show that his race decreases in freedom. He is rarely found a tiller of the soil—rarely a mechanic or a trader; but ever a waiter, not less upon the white man than upon Providence. To send a body of intelligent, active, industrious free colored men to Kansas, and set them to clearing up and improving that new country, would be to commence the solution of a new problem in the destiny of that race. If they may colonize and civilize Africa, they may do the same for Kansas and Nebraska.
Free colored men have tried the experiment of farm life in Canada, and if the best report speaks true, with success. Five years ago, the settlement of Buxton, in Canada West, was an unbroken wilderness. Four years ago it had 15 persons fresh from slavery in Louisiana. Now it has upon its 5000 acres some 7000 souls, and all speak of the thrift and good fortune on every hand. The negro is certainly competent to the duties and trials of a new country.
Of course, a thousand or more free negroes in Kansas, would be allowed to vote the character of the institution which the new State shall have. "Squatter Sovereignty," and "Popular Sovereignty," as expressed by Gen. Cass and Stephen A. Douglas would at once be invoked in this behalf. It would be pushing this "popular right" business to its extreme, but it would doubtless go, and some of its advocates would "go to the wall" with it.

PRESERVING FRUITS IN VACUUM.—Joel L. Green, of Cincinnati, has invented and has on exhibition in this City, a method of sealing or soldering cans or bottles of fruit while in the receiver of an air-pump. The receiver may be likened to a big iron pot turned bottom-up upon an iron bed-pate with a ground joint. There are three glass windows, through which whatever is inside can be seen. In the centre of the convex part of the receiver, there is a universal ball joint, and through that a sliding rod, to the lower end of which a heated soldering iron is attached, by which the cans can be soldered whenever the gauge shows that the air is properly exhausted by the working of the air-pump. Within the receiver there is a coil of steam pipe, by which any degree of heat can be obtained.
The apparatus will not be expensive, and will be useful to fruit growers, as it will enable them to put up fruit in that best of all ways, by exhausting the air, by which it can be kept without sugar, and without cooking enough to destroy the natural flavor. Butter, eggs, meat, and sundry other articles of food can be preserved for an indefinite time by excluding the air. This invention will be useful for any purpose of working in vacuo where it is necessary to see and manipulate the article.—Tribune.

ROBBING A HEN ROOST.—James Lucas, of Orange Co., Virginia, writes to the Richmond News that some one of his neighbors has been robbing his hen roost—a night amusement very common in the slave States. He closes his account of the foul transaction thus:
In the morning we found out that sum feller had been committing a salt on Gran mar's poultry and several other hens. Mr. Edytur, when I gazed around upon the wreck of matter and the crash of chickens, I war led to 'scalm in the language of the Poit whar he sez—I feels most like a feller who treds alone sum 'banquet hall deserted, whose lights are del, whose gals am fled, and a' ceptin him and a ole rooster, and all few defunct hens departed.—Yes, sir, that sot the nobil old foul like melancholly on a rock laughing at Patience, as Mr. Shakespeare sez in his 'Pistle to the Raskins. That ar war Gran mar's favorite rooster, and I could but lament in my very gizzard to see him sot in up thar without enny of his numerous wives to comfort his drooping spirits; whar war they now! and Ekko answered whar!

THE LADIES AND GOV. SEYMOUR.—The ladies of Rochester, including the wives of fourteen clergymen, twenty physicians, and some 150 citizens, have addressed a scorching letter to Gov. Seymour on the subject of his veto of the Maine Law. The Governor is handled—as he deserves to be.
Of the eight or nine members composing the editorial corps of Savanna at the commencement of summer, only one remains at his post. One has died, and the rest have been compelled by the unhealthiness of the city to leave it.
A lecturer on chemistry mentioned that a certain quantity of caloric (heat) was found in snow, an Irishman among the audience gravely asked how many snowballs it would take to boil a tea-kettle!

Southern Christianity.
The Columbus Enquirer (Georgia) gives the following account of certain proceedings of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, at its recent General Conference:
"Conference then commenced its afternoon session, and among its first movements was the expunging of the 9th section from the discipline of the church, and other portions of said work wherein the institution of slavery was condemned. But one vote was recorded against the abrogation of the 9th section, which makes it imperative upon ministers of that church to consider slavery as an evil; and upon the test of expunging the rule relative to the 'slavo-trade' proper, the vote was 47 for, to 54 against wiping it out of the book.
"An effort was made on Friday morning to reconsider this vote, but it did not succeed, and the rule adverse to an engagement in the traffic of slaves solely for gain or speculation yet remains in its original force in the discipline.
"But the bold, decisive stand taken by Conference upon the subject of slavery as it exists in the South, will meet with the approbation of all its co-workers in the Gospel throughout the bounds of its jurisdiction, and receive from every friend of the rights of the South a hearty and cordial commendation, as well as a firm and united support."
Forty-seven Methodist ministers voting for the slave trade! Shade of John Wesley! what think you of this approval of the "sum of all villainies"? Only one voted that slavery is an evil! Thus does this foul curse blight even the purest and noblest feelings of man, and in their tasseled pulpits, these blasphemers

TRUE AS THE BOOK.
The tree is not more certainly known by its fruit, than a town or city by its newspapers. A growing city, with an intelligent, enterprising, thrifty population, will send out well-conducted, well-printed newspapers, crowded with advertisements, saying to every stranger who picks them up: "See how sleek, well fed and fat our people make us, and infer, hence, how prosperous, full-headed, and liberal our people themselves must be." How different a story is told by papers of another kind. When you open a dull little sheet, that looks as if it had been printed with sour apple-butter for ink; with six lines of editorial matter, preceding an imploring notification that "the publisher now calls for the last time on those who wish to pay for their subscription in wood;" with low paying advertisements but those of the Sheriff, offering to sell real estate "at two-thirds of its appraised value;" when you open a sheet of this kind, coming from a town you never saw, what is your conclusion? Is it not that the place has "gone to grass" and better be fenced in for pasture? Would you be likely to think of going there to invest money or do business?—Dayton (O) Gazette.

AN ANECDOTE.—We dined with a citizen who enjoys a good joke.—Among others he related one of a Yankee and Dutchman, who, when discussing politics, wound up on the relative merits of Seward and Bouck, both ex-Governors of the Empire State. Says Yankee, "Bouck has not so long a beard as Seward." "Vell," says Dutchee in a huff, "By cot, Seward's head is not half as thick as Bouck's."—Ez.

Henry A. Wise, who has just been nominated as the 'democratic' candidate for Governor of Virginia, says he is in favor of the Nebraska bill because it "repels the Missouri compromise and fortifies Slavery." He is more honest than Northern democrats.
BRIDGE ACROSS THE MISSISSIPPI.—The towers of the suspension bridge across the Mississippi at St. Anthony's Falls are now nearly completed, and workmen are busy twisting the wires preparatory to stretching them across the river. The bridge seems likely to be completed in time to receive quite an income the present season.
The Reciprocity Bill passed on Friday by the Canadian Legislature was signed by the Governor General on Saturday.

The subscriber takes this occasion to express his thanks to the people of Potter and of other sections for their liberal support during the past year, and to assure them that no pains will be spared in the future that may be required to make this school an institution worthy of the entire confidence and support of all who desire a sound, rational, as well as a thorough mathematical and classical education.
J. BLOOMINGDALE, Principal.
The undersigned Officers and Trustees of the Coudersport Academy are moved by a sense of official and personal duty, to call the attention of the public, and of the people of our county in particular, to the rising and useful character of this institution of learning.
When we invited the present worthy Principal to the post he occupies, we found the Academy depressed and declining. We submitted its organization and other most onerous affairs to his discretion and management; and our experience enables us with increased confidence to assure parents and guardians that he has proved faithful, efficient, and practical—just such an instructor as this community needs.
