For Treasurer Dutch Whipple had 1; P. P. Berry 1.

From the N.Y. Evening Post. MORE NEBRASKA SETTLERS. Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana follow the example of the more northern States which have held their elections since the administration gave its support to the Nebraska bill.

The intelligence from Ohio corresponds with that from Pennsylvania. It is said in the Telegraphic dispatch that the anti-Nebraska majority in the State is fifty thousand, and in this we fully believe that the telegraph, loose as its reports sometimes are, has rather understated than exaggerated the fact.

Here are three of the largest and most populous States of the Union, three of the frontier free States, stretching for six hundred miles or more along the border of the slave region, rising up to condemn with one voice the measure to which the administration has rashly linked its fortunes.

Table with columns for DISTRICTS, Gov., Pollock, St. Judge, Bigger, Black, Dasher, Cong., White, Wood, Fernon, Beck, O'Brien, Reg., Jackson, Hill, Co., Taggart, Nelson, Wigham, Lamm, For., Agnew, and various numerical values.

Washington Union will be instructed to say that it was the Know-Nothings who have thrown the majority into the hands of the anti-Nebraska party. But how happens it that the Know-Nothings in all these elections have, in no case, given their votes for a supporter of the Nebraska act?

Rhode Island, Connecticut, New-Hampshire, Maine, Iowa, had already recorded, in their elections, their condemnation of the ordinance opening Nebraska to Slavery. To these may be added Vermont, in which the administration party at the last election—so sweeping was its result—was obliterated.

RELIGIOUS ENTHUSIASM.—The term expressive of contempt varies with the age and country. Paul was called mad in the judgment hall of Caesarea. A man with the devotedness of Paul would, in the Court of Charles II., have been called a Puritan; in a conclave of High Churchmen he would be called a Methodist; in our tasteful and literary circles he would be called a fanatic; in a party of ecclesiastics, where coldness passes for rationality, he would be called an enthusiast; and in private life, where secularity and indifference form the tame and undeviating features of almost every company, he would, if altogether a Christian, be spoken of as a man whose wrong-headed peculiarities rendered him a very odd and unnatural exception to the general character of the species.

LATER FROM EUROPE. BALTI'S NEWS.

New York, Oct. 16. The Baltic left Liverpool at 8 o'clock A. M., on the 4th inst., with 222 passengers. On the 12th off Cape Race, spoke and boarded the British schooner John Clemens, cruising for the missing boats, and learned from her all the particulars of the catastrophe.

The Africa arrived on Sunday Steamer San Jacinto put back to Southampton, with machinery damaged, having broken one of her screws. She will be detained five or six weeks for repairs.

On the 25th the Fort of Sevastopol was invested by sea and land, and after an obstinate defense, was carried by storm. The allies then bombarded the city and the fleet. Ten Russian ships of the line were burned and sunk, and the remainder captured, silencing 800 guns; 22,000 prisoners taken. Russian loss in dead and disabled, estimated at not less than 18,000. Menschikoff, with the shattered remains of his force, retired into a position in the inner harbor, and threatened to fire the town, and blow up the remaining ships, unless the victors would grant him an honorable capitulation.

The allied Generals demanded his unconditional surrender, and in the name of humanity gave him six hours for consideration. The latest dispatch says Menschikoff has surrendered. The British and French flags were floating over Sevastopol.

The entrenched camp of the Russians on the heights of the Alma, contained 50,000 men and numerous artillery, and was carried at the point of the bayonet, after four hours fighting. No general officer of the British was wounded. Marshal St. Arnaud and Lord Raglan commanded in person. Gen. Thompson, French, was thought to be fatally wounded. Gen. Courbort was wounded in the shoulder.

The second engagement, on the plains of Kalti, lasted several hours, and was very sanguinary, and ended in the total defeat of the Russians, who were driven to their entrenchments before Sevastopol.

Dispatches say that the Garrison of Sevastopol was offered free withdrawal, but surrendered as prisoners of war. The dispatches as to Sevastopol are very conflicting. The first is dated Berlin. The third says a telegraph dispatch has been received here direct from St. Petersburg, to the effect that Menschikoff had telegraphed, under date Sept. 25, that he has withdrawn his troops un-molested from before Sevastopol towards Baktchesseraï, where he will await reinforcements. He adds, Sevastopol had not been attacked up to the 26th.

Russian accounts do not conceal the facts of several reverses in the Crimea, to their arms.

A dispatch from Berlin, 29th, says the return of the French fleet from the Baltic, had been countermanded, and a dispatch dated Kiel, 2nd, states that the fleet left that harbor that day, to join Napier in the Baltic. Napier was before Revel on the 23d.

BUCHARIST, Sept. 30.—Again asserted that there were 50,000 Russians at Dobruska, and Gen. Ruders constantly receiving reinforcements. Omar Paacha only waiting St. Arnaud's orders to attack Bessarabia. All the arrangements of the Turkish army indicate the intention of a winter campaign. The Russians have concentrated in the neighborhood of Ismail. Details of the Sevastopol news were not expected by the British Government before the 6th inst. The Turks were hastening to Bulgaria by forced marches to the Sea Coast.

The Austrian Ambassador at Paris, called on Mr. Drovenc D. L. Hays, to express the satisfaction of his Government at the success of the Allied armies.

The St. Petersburg Journal publishes a decree forbidding the export of corn to Austria.

The Paris correspondent of the Independence Belge, says it is rumored a joint note has been presented by England and France to the Cabinet at Washington, requiring an explanation of the engagements entered into by the United States and Russia, especially with respect to the nature and conditions of an acquisition said to be made to the United States from the Russian Possessions in North America.

The latest—Liverpool, Wednesday—Disturbances had broken out at Burgos, Spain.

Official news came of a great battle on Alma river in Crimea on the 21st ult.

Great rejoicing throughout Britain and France. An attack on Constradt threatened.

From the Chicago Tribune, Oct. 18. The Black and the White Douglas—Their Encounter to take place at Aurora.

to day. He will be at Aurora on Thursday, and will reply to his namesake, Stephen A. Douglas, who speaks there on that day.

This will be one of the most interesting events in the whole canvass. The Black Douglass against the White one! Who can doubt as to the result!
