

WHAT THE MAINE LAW DOES.

The New Haven Ct. Advocate in a leading editorial upon the operation of the prohibitory law in Connecticut, used the following language:

Sober, industrious citizens have been made out of persons hitherto intemperate and shiftless. Homes, long strangers to the common enjoyments of life, are now realizing the awards of temperance and frugality. Our streets are quiet; intemperance with its disgusting effects has disappeared to such a degree, as to make the change, the remark of even the opponents of the law. Our watch-house has hardly one inmate, to where it previously had a dozen, and the record of commitments to our county jail is rapidly lessening.

But this is not all; our retail temperance groceriers find their business largely on the increase, since the law came into operation, and are now receiving weekly payments on accounts before considered more worthless than the paper on which they were entered.

We were informed by a store-keeper a few days since that men were now trading with him who had owed him for two years, having become intemperate and left him for places where rum could be procured in connection with groceries, if indeed their money held out to buy the latter, after getting a supply of the former, who since the first of August, had returned to his store, paying promptly for what they got, and also making weekly payments in liquidation of their old accounts, and that his trade had increased almost one-half during the past two months. Here is the difference between rum rule and prohibition, and here the difference between men who sober and when under the influence of intoxication. We have asked others in the retail grocery business, and we do not know of an exception where the reply has not been, "our trade is better than before the law passed." The secret is easily told, men now spend their money to supply the wants of their families, whereas before, if they had any, it went into the till of the liquor shop.

An ex-dram-seller was asked a few days ago, what had become of his customers—quite a number of whom might be found at almost any hour in the day hanging about the shop. His reply was "—em. I s'pose they've gone to work." The expression, rough and heartless as it was, contained much of truth. "Gone to work" and why? The carcass is removed—the article that called them to hover around his grocery and there to spend their time to the neglect of all else, is under the ban of an iron law, and not being able to procure it, they find now no occasion to haze away the hours of either day or night, to the neglect of their families, at his shop, or to longer bestow their patronage upon the one who, taking advantage of their weakness, has done so much to debauch and destroy them.

THE AMERICAN MOVEMENT.

It is very manifest from the returns of the late elections, that a new and formidable element has entered into politics, which bids fair to overthrow the old parties, heretofore known as Democratic and Whig. The great mass of the American born citizens, heretofore passive in party traces, have grown restive in view of foreign domineering and insolence at the polls and in office, and the new element called Know-Nothingism, is but a form to give potency to the almost universal determination, that for the future, the places of profit and trust shall be filled by those born, reared and educated upon our own soil. The proscription which is charged upon the violent action of foreigners themselves, and the clamor made they have heretofore adopted to show their strength; and it may, or may not, pass away with the cause which originated it. If foreigners, as a class, are still found legged together at the polls on the side of one party, nothing can stop the onward march of this new movement, or its supremacy for years to come at the ballot-boxes. No man can doubt, that upon the simple question, whether the American born or the foreign born shall rule, the great body of American Citizens will array themselves under the Home banner. The sentiment of love of country, common to all nations, is eminently active with us as a people, and upon such an issue there can be but one side, for the patriot to take and maintain.

On the contrary, the leaders of the foreign population are wise, and disband their organization, and allow beautiful national sentiments to grow in the breasts of their adherents, a partial love of our institutions—aside from the love of office—an abstinence from attempt to control political affairs, and a wise determination to mingle in election matters, not as partisans, but as citizens; a moderation of the terms and a modification of the principles of the new power in the State may very likely occur. In the meanwhile, it must be manifested to every man who has observed the course of political matters with an attentive eye, that for the folly and haughty fierceness of the foreign voters, we are mainly indebted to demagogues of both of the old political parties, who, seeing in the vast mass of ignorant voters the material of political strength, have pampered their passions, inflamed their prejudices, and organized them into an army of desperate and dangerous partisans for selfish and party ends. Out of this new state of things comes the impressive warning to these politicians, that their day is drawing to a close—that the sure reward of iniquity is about to overtake them—and that obscurity for the future must, beyond all doubt or peradventure, be the merited punishment for daring to tamper with the patience of the American people.—Phil. Sat. Mail.

Who are Abolitionists?—Our neighbors of the Post and Union are fond of stigmatizing us and all who think with us on the Slavery question as Abolitionists. The term is by no means offensive in our ears, however much it may seem so to those who use it; but we are inclined to doubt the correctness of it, in the light of the following definition, which we find in the Richmond Enquirer: "Who are abolitionists? All who say that the Douglas Kansas-Nebraska bill does not legislate Slavery into those Territories."

We have an idea that both of our democratic neighbors have preached this doctrine, and they must, according to the judgment of their faithful co-laborer, either acknowledge their abolitionism or admit that the Nebraska bill does legislate slavery into Nebraska and Kansas.—Pittsburg Gazette.

Infuriated Sucker.—"Isn't this infamous? They've got nigger Douglas out here to answer our Steve on Nebraska! It is a deliberate insult!"

Cool Jonathan.—"No, that isn't the idea. But if your little man isn't a match for our big one, you may withdraw him and put up another. We want the best you've got."

Rural Nebraskaite.—"How is it about Ohio? The Free-soilers say they have got all the Members of Congress from that State. Can it be so?"

Custom House Officer, (sulkily).—"Don't know. Returns seem all kind of mixed up. Believe they elect by general ticket out that way."

It is said that Lola Montes Countess of Landsfield, is about to leave California, and take another trip through the Atlantic States.

Beware of paper in money. Examine it carefully before taking it. The notes of the Indiana and Illinois Banks, generally, are doubtful.

The American Republican Banner is the title adopted by Mr. WHITE, of Connecticut, for his paper. He repudiates the old parties and espouses the American platform.

MAINE LAW IN MIDDLETOWN, CT.—The Middletown News, Democratic, in speaking of their recent town election says:—"We believe there was no great degree of excitement manifested, and certainly there was less disorder and drunkenness than usual at the close of the day. Whatever may be said of the Maine Law, it has at all events been instrumental in effecting a considerable external change in the habits of many—at least we do not see as many instances of intoxication as formerly."

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

Daily, $3.00. Weekly, $2.00. ALWAYS IN ADVANCE.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE commences its XIVth annual volume with the month of September—commences it with a circulation (115,000) larger than was ever before accorded to any general newspaper who ever. This circulation has been gradually and laboriously attained by concentrating upon THE TRIBUNE the best efforts of many editors and correspondents and by a greater liberality of outlay in each department than was probably ever before risked on any journal. It has been attained, not by sailing smoothly in the current of opinion before the wind and banking in the smiles of majorities, but by an earnest, fearless devotion to Truth and Progress above all partisan exigencies, an temporary interests, all momentary illusions of popularity and success. Its thorough advocacy of Temperance and Liquor Prohibition, of Justice to the despised and down-trodden, and of the equal and inalienable Rights of the Human Race, irrespective of Sex or Creed or Color, have from time to time repelled many sunshine friends, whose prejudices or seeming interests were thereby contravened, but it will endeavor to maintain and assign it a position among journals which we feel, that it will be henceforth a success not to impair.

The reading idea to which THE TRIBUNE is devoted may be briefly set forth as follows: 1. FREEDOM, to do whatever is essentially right—none for white Americans, or Ang & Saxons, or Caucasians even—not for one Race to determine whether they will or will not hold another Race in bondage—but for every Race and Nation, and every adult rational human being. This Freedom is rightly absolute in the broad domain of Opinion and involves the equal and imperative right to Political Franchises; 2. ORDER, or the necessary right of the legally indicated majority to interdict in the sphere of action all proceedings which it deems demoralizing, therefore prejudicial to the common weal; 3. BENEFICENCE, or the wisdom and policy of employing the resources and credit of the community to accomplish works of general and unquestioned utility to which individual means are inadequate or which, though eminently conducive to the public good, do not promise to reimburse by their direct income the outlay required for their execution; 4. INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT, as the corner-stone of a true and benign National Policy, and the means of creating a new and abundant and productive soil more important than the acquisition of a fresh province or island, and equally within the legitimate sphere of National concern and National aid; 5. PEACE, as a condition of true Progress, to be cherished by the most anxious, assiduous study or prayer as readily as we are prone to require redress for every wrong, and never to be surrendered except at the call of endangered Liberty. Such are the chief landmarks by which THE TRIBUNE directs its course.

But a small portion of THE TRIBUNE is allotted to what is currently distinguished as light reading; but reviews of New Books of decided merit, with choice extracts illustrating their quality, are freely given, while the greatest body of our paper is devoted to a lucid and careful digest of the News of the Day, with editorial comments thereon. We have reliable Correspondents in each quarter of the globe, and in nearly all the principal cities of Europe and America, and their efforts will aid our readers to a clearer understanding of the causes which are now agitating and convulsing the Old World into one gigantic arena for the death struggle of rival creeds, passions and ambitions.

THE TRIBUNE contains reliable reports of the Markets. Our Cash Market reports alone are worth more than the price of the paper to those who are engaged in raising and sending Cash.

No paper involving so great an expense as our Weekly and Daily could be afforded at the price of these sheets, except in connection with a Daily, nor could our Daily be sustained at its price without the aid of our Country editions. Large as our circulation is, it would involve us in ruinous loss, but for the receipts for Advertising. We believe that in THE TRIBUNE is realized the largest variety and extent of information concerning the events of the day which has been or can be combined with extreme cheapness; and in that fact we commend it to the favorable regard of the reading public. We offer no premiums for subscribers, except none to take it by gauging prospects of winning firms or unions in a lottery in which tickets are furnished to the donors, employ no traveling agents to importune people in taking up wages none of our room in dining our subscribers for pay.

TERMS OF THE DAILY TRIBUNE. Single copy, one year, $2.00. Three copies, one year, $5.00. Five copies, one year, $7.50. Ten copies, one year, $12.00. Twenty copies, one year, $20.00. And any larger number at the rate of $1 per annum.

At the price of the $20 Clubs we cannot direct the paper to each subscriber. Subscriptions may commence at any time. Payment in advance is required in all cases, and the paper is invariably discontinued at the expiration of the advance payment. Money may be remitted for subscriptions in letters at our risk; but the Postmaster at the place where the risk is incurred should be made acquainted with its contents and keep a description of the bills.

Bills of any specie-paying bank in the United States or Canada received at par for subscriptions. We have no travelling agents. Any one wishing to receive THE TRIBUNE need not wait to be called upon for his subscription. All that is necessary for him to do is to write a letter in as few words as possible, inclose the money and write the name of the subscriber with the Post-Office, County and State, and direct the letter to GREELEY & McCLATHRY, Tribune Office, New-York.

THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE. Persons residing at points where mails arrive oftener than once a week are requested to examine the Semi-Weekly. We regard it as the cheapest paper, all things considered, published in the United States.

Single copy, one year, $3.00. Two copies, one year, $5.00. Five copies, one year, $11.00.

POSTAGE ON THE DAILY TRIBUNE. Postage on the Daily Trib. one year is $1.50. Postage on the Weekly Trib. for one year 25c. Postage on the Semi-Weekly for one year 32c. Payable quarterly in advance, at the office where the paper is received.

THE fall term of this institution will commence on Wednesday, October 25, 1854, and continue eleven weeks.

Elementary branches—Orthography, Geography, Arithmetic, Physiology, $3.00. Higher Arithmetic, First Lessons in Algebra, and English Grammar, 3.50. Higher English branches, Philosophy, Astronomy, Algebra, &c., 5.00. Higher Mathematics and the Languages, 6.00. Instruction on the Piano Forte, extra, 10.00. Use of instruments, 3.00. Vocal music free of charge.

Literary higher classes of studies will include any or all the lower classes. The subscriber takes this occasion to express his thanks to the people of Potter and of other sections for their liberal support during the past year, and to assure them that no pains will be spared in the future that may be required to make this school an institution worthy of the entire confidence and support of all who desire a sound, practical as well as a thorough mathematical and classical education.

J. BLOOMINGDALE, Principal. The undersigned Officers and Trustees of the Coudersport Academy are moved by a sense of official and personal duty, to call the attention of the public, and of the people of our county in particular, to the rising and useful character of this institution of learning.

When we invited the present worthy Principal to the post he occupies, we found the Academy depressed and declining. We submitted our organization and other most important matters to his discretion and management; and our experience emboldens us with increased confidence to assure parents and guardians that he has proved faithful, efficient, and practical; and such an instructor as this community needs.
