From the 2d No. of the Kansas "Heraid of Freedom," Jan. 6, 1855.

Delay in Printing this Number, When we issued the first number of our paper from our old office in penusylvania, in October last, we expected to have been on the ground in Kansas, and issued our second number as early as the first of November. Contrary to our expectations, and probably to the great disappointment of our subscribers, we were delayed in the time of our departure, until the very last of October. We were then compelled to come by railin procuring material, and other causes, number of workmen, in the erection out and been forgotten. of a frame structure eighteen by thirty feet on the ground, and a story and a half in height. This was not completed until the first of January, nevertheless, we commenced distributing our type on Christmas evening, though inches in width. Unless we err, it will be well ventilated by spring.

We are not aware of any causes which can provent our regular weekly appearance from this time forward. e have near four tons of paper, and a sufficient quantity of ink to work it ; up; hence the low state of the rivers, or other similar causes, will be inoperative in our case.

To THE POINT.—The Tribune of Monday refers thus pointedly to that slavocratic squirtgun, the Richmond Examiner:

We have hitherto been wont to consider the Richmond Examiner as a pretty smart specimen of a journal for Virginia, but we begin to see that it is as slow and stupid as any of its easy and lazy colleagues in that decaying old nursery of slaves and slave breeders. As a part of the current news of the day, the Examiner waiting for a rise in the Ohio river, of the 12th inst. publishes a paragraph from the Tribune of Friday, Sept. 1st -four months and a half ago-and road, and were detained on the route then goes on to rejoice over the decline and downfall of this journal.
