PREMONITIONS FROM DREAM-LAND.

BY PUNCH. I watched the sun's retiring beams, That linge ed o : the wood-crowned hill, Until the last expiring gleams Were lost in twitight's shadows still.

Tatigued with toil, and worn with care, I then my humb c cottage sought, In perce to spend the evening there,

My troub es and my toils forgot.

As eve's deep shadow's fell before me, I drank my filt of Le he's stream, Old Morpheus drew his mant'e o'er me, And called up many a pleasing dream-

Of happy hours, and happy faces, Of happy scenes in bright succession, Such as the Muses or the Graces

Might envy morials the possession ; Home's b'est endearments, too, and those Dear ties that or inson beauty's check;

When to ! a spec ra. form arose, And thus i. spoke, or seemed to speak :

"Mark those clouds that darkly hover, Dubious, over the Sou hern sky ; Look! and can you no. discover

That a storm is gathering nigh ! " Hollow, whispering winds are sighing, Darkly he wing billows rise, And anon the lurid flishes Glare athwart our Northern skies.

"Hear it, ominously waiting O'er the d rk and turb d waters, Presaging english unavailing "To Afric's suble sons and daughters."

"Will the chunderbolts that gather Bursi on their defense ess heads l

Don't the 'prognostics of the weather' Denote a brighter day ahead ?" "No ! the sky looks fierce and scowling,

The bellowing temp est nearce raves; Hark! the storm-fiend hoarsely growing, 'Kansas shall be a home for slares.

it We want new markets for the chattel, Accumulating on our hands; We breeders thick our human cattle

More ready mency would command. "What though, to quench our lust and greed,

The deales, human ties are riven ! Can we the bondman's sufferings heed,

When Manamon has the mandate given? ""We sacrifice on Slarery's altar,

And at its shrine ascends our praver. Friends of Oppression, shall we falter, When immolating victims there 1

"The mother from the child we'll part, Young maiden innocence we'll riffe, The lash will cure a bleeding heart, Their sebs and tears our oaths shall stiffe.

"'Undreamed-of efforts must be made To save our projects from the lurch; Demperacy will give us aid,

And comfort we're sure of f. om the Church. "Meanwhile the Union must be saved

From agitation and distraction; If Freemen's minds can be cuslaved,

Our point is carried to a fraction." At this, I looked and caught a glimpse

Behind the veit that shrouds the Future ; I saw the Demon and his imps. A fiend sh host, in full accountre.

And 'neath the r blood-polluted hanner Ranked he b and merchant, with the shaver,

Pries., po i.ician, churchman, gamb.er, The doughf.ce and the Union-saver;

While on a chosen height were seen Fair Freedom's host with canners free, A stern array, in glorious sheen, With Justice for a canepy.

Now drawhile impending conflict nigh, Within whose coils re entless Fates Seem to have placed the desliny Of future embryotic States.

Vain were the task for me to tell The feats of this eventful day, How many heroes lought and fell, How many cowards ran away;

How treachery with fraud combined, And iteason, ardfice, and des, Freedont's strong bulwarks undermined,

And bore away the victory's prize. Demoniac shouts the we kin rend,

FASHION.

The gentlemen have such a husy New. time ridiculing the ladies' fashions that In the peacent and quee propartnership business we have formed a copartnership under the name and style of N. S. BUTLER they have no leisure to see the ridiculous figure they often cut on their account. Here, for two winters they count. Here, for two winters they Block, in the village of Olean, formerly occu-have been stalking around, looking for pied by Thing & Brother, and are now reall the world like so many pumpkins with two corn stalks stuck in the blos-som end and a bit of stem left on the other — in costs int the length of a other,-in coats just the length of a farmer's wamus, a half yard too wide, ; has been so long established in this section. stuffed out with wadding, and drawn ing Goods: up around their ears,-sleeves like meal sacks, and pantaloons as tight as fiddle strings. To see them hundle thier drum sticks in this outfit was a natural curiosity. This winter the still like supporters mysteriously di sap pear; pautaleons are invisible, and coats bid fair to rival ladies' skirts in can be assured of finding everything they usually want at prices that will do them good the sublime art of street sweeping. May we not expect in a few years to have some adventurous reformer of the wiser sex advocating and adopt ing a Bloomer costume to emancipate the taller half of creation from the thraldom of heavy skirts ?

We do think gentlemen should spare us many of their hemilies on woman's vanity in dress, until they learn to regulate their own costumes with some appreciation of comfort and suitability .---Mrs. Scrisshelm.
