

HEAR THEM—A DANIEL.

The New Orleans Bulletin has a word to say about "Sam," and the election of Seward and Wilson. It is common sense in part. It charges "that Wilson obtained the Know-Nothing vote by false pretenses," but, admits Seward fought a brave battle with Know-Nothingism and gained the victory. It acquiesces Know-Nothingism of all blame in either case: "We conscientiously believe, as we before said, that the new organization is radically opposed to sectionalism; that the foundation of its platform is as wide and as broad as the entire Union. The election of Wilson and Seward has been effected, not by Know-Nothingism, but in spite of it. The new element was too young, too weak, too diluted, to have itself effectually felt."

But the future! The Bulletin does not like the look of that. It is black with omens of ill for the Slaveholder, and bright with light for the defenders of Freedom. Consequently, it says:

"But it is not our business to vindicate the imputed agency of the Know-Nothingism in this election. That they failed in the experiment of neutralizing the Free-soil element in their process of fusion is to be deplored. The failure is no more to be imputed to them as a crime than to the Silver-Gray Whigs and Hard-Shell Democrats who attempted the same thing and as signally failed."

We rather design to point the moral furnished by it, by showing that strong and formidable as is the new organization, it is not sufficiently so to war successfully against Free-soilism. With the Richmond Whig, an able champion of the new party, "we have no defense to make in behalf of any party at the North in regard to the question of slavery." Without exception they are all rotten on the subject.

"The trait of the serpent is over them all." No Northern party has yet been able to sustain itself against the assaults of this formidable and insidious foe. The National Silver-Gray Whigs as well as the Hard-Shell Democrats had to "pale their ineffectual fires" before the burning and consuming blast of Free-soilism. There is and will be no party, however organized or for whatever purpose, that can purge itself of the devouring element. In all elections in which the issue is made, in which men or measures are implicated, the free-soil principle will predominate. We have just had the most positive proof of its potency, of the strength and efficiency of a homogeneous party when conclusions are fairly drawn, plainly demonstrating the utter vanity and hopelessness of any attempt to dismember it by side issue and new organizations."

All true, every word. The man who seeks to purge out the free-soil element in the North is' hopes only damned; the party which dares make the effort, is hopelessly crushed.—Love of Freedom burns as a living and central fire in the bosoms of the people of the free States, and no mortal power can quench it. Whoever attempts it will be consumed by the very flame sought to be put out.—Cleveland Leader.

EXTRACTS FROM THAYER'S WRITINGS.

It is only the straw of plants which bear a great quantity of leaves, such as peas, vetches, haricots, lentils and buckwheat, that contains a larger supply of nourishment. Its nutritive power is in proportion to the greenness of the crop when mown. Millet and maize straw, when properly prepared, likewise belong to the more nutritious class.

For winter feeding, it is almost universally thought necessary to chop the straw. The chopped straw is divided into sheffels, one of which, coarsely divided for horned cattle, weighs about 9 lbs., taking the straw of spring and autumn cows together. For an ordinary native cow, from three-quarters to one sheffel per day is thought sufficient.

Some persons think that hard water is best for horses; but they prefer soft water, and drink more willingly from ponds than from clear springs. Hard spring-water should therefore be exposed to the air for some time before given to horses.

Cleanliness is of great importance to the health of the horses; if it be neglected, a crust of sweat and dust collects on the skin, and gives rise to mange and other diseases. Agricultural horses cannot, indeed, be treated with all the minute attention bestowed on pleasure horses; such as currying, brushing, dusting, and washing every time they return to the stable; but, at all events, they should be carried every morning, and have their hams, knees and feet washed every evening, when they have got dirty.

When pigs are accustomed to pasture, that of the woods is always preferred by them. It is indispensable, however, that they have a proper supply of water.

SUM IN VIRGINIA.—An election for magistrates in one of the wards of Alexandria on Wednesday last. Ninety-three votes were polled, of which the American candidates received eighty-nine, and the hunker Wise ticket five votes.

MICHIGAN.—The Legislature of Michigan passed a law which provides for the trial by jury to any slave claimed, prohibits the use of jails to retain fugitives, and requires that the prosecuting attorney of each county shall, upon request, give aid and council to any such fugitive slave. The new prohibitory liquor law goes into effect on the 8th of May next.

A Wolf.—We learn that our neighbors back in Jerusalem have been honored with a visit from one of those early inhabitants of the valley. He made a descent upon a sheep-fold, killed eight sheep, satiated his hunger, and then took to his legs. The inhabitants were soon on track with guns and dogs. But we believe his wolfship out-generated them all, and is doubtless now returned to the hains of his brotherhood, in the fastness of the unsubdued forests which spread in primeval glory over some of our northern counties.—Elmira Republican.

Very Important Information.
Dr. JONES, one of the most celebrated physicians in New-York, writes as follows:
Dr. CURTIS—Dear Sir—Having witnessed the excellent effects of your HYGEANA or FRONTAL HYGEAN VAPOR and GIBBERT SYRUP, in a case of chronic Bronchitis, and being much in favor of counter-irritation in affections of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs, I can therefore cheerfully recommend your Medicated Apparatus as being the most convenient and effectual mode of applying, in the case of the kind I have ever seen. No doubt thousands of persons may be relieved, and many cured, by using your remedies.
You are at liberty to use this in any way you may think proper.
Respectfully, yours, &c.
G. H. HENRY, M. D., No. 609 Houston street, New-York.
Prof. S. C. KENT writes as follows:
GENTLEMEN—I have recently had occasion to test your Cherry Syrup and Hygean Vapor in the case of chronic sore throat, that had refused to yield to other forms of treatment, and the result has satisfied me, that, whatever may be the composition of your preparation, it is no imposition, but an excellent remedy. I wish, for the sake of the afflicted, that it might be brought within the reach of all.
Rev. Doctor CHEEVER writes:
New-York, Nov. 15, 1854.
Dear Sir—I think highly of Dr. Curtis's Hygeana, as a remedy in diseases of the throat and lungs. Having had some opportunity to test its efficacy, I am convinced that it is a most excellent medicine, both the Syrup and the inhaling application to the chest. The Hygeana is for sale by D. W. SPENCER, Coudersport.

THE U. S. SENATOR QUESTION.

Advices from Harrisburg assures us that Mr. Cameron's chances of securing the Senatorship were effectually blasted by the prevalence of the motion to postpone the election until Tuesday of next week. This information gratifies us, and we trust the final result will demonstrate its correctness. Not that we believe Mr. Cameron to be a worse man than nine-tenths of those who clamor against him; but mainly because on the Slavery question neither his antecedents nor his present avowals commend him to our judgments as the man for the emergency. That he has ability is evident from the manner in which he baffles his foes; that his talents are not of the order to grace the State, is manifested from his career at Washington hitherto.

When Mr. James Cooper entered the Senate he enjoyed the confidence of his party throughout the Commonwealth, and had a reputation both for capacity and consistency that drew to him the eyes of the friends of freedom all over the Union. His Senatorial career has been a failure, mortifying to himself, we doubt not, and humiliating to his friends. For some part of this miscarriage the feeble condition of health accounts, that is, for the want of ability and energy that has marked his course; but it does not explain his connection with the Kinney expedition, and other acts whereby the cause of freedom has suffered at his hands. He has his reward, in the refusal of the Legislature to re-elect him.

A few years ago Mr. Wm. F. Johnston was the foremost man in the State. He had fairly earned the leadership, and though he exercised it somewhat imperiously, it was to ends that met the general approbation. We remember when he first rose in the Baltimore Convention how every face instantly turned towards him with intense curiosity. The North loved him, and the South feared yet respected him. He left Baltimore short of his strength, for he had deserted the principles he professed and gone over to the enemies of them. It was a fatal step; we felt so then; we know so now. Ambition lured him and he fell, and perhaps he knew not that he had fallen, till he asked the Legislature to confer the Senatorial dignity upon him. He knows it now.—Honesdale Democrat.

Nobody would suppose, on a first thought, that more money was expended in the United States for cigars than for all the common schools in the Union; and yet it is found to be a fact.

"Sam" has crossed over into Canada and already won a victory in an election for Alderman in Quebec.

THE NATIONAL ERA.

WASHINGTON, D. C.
G. BAILEY, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.
J. G. WHITTIER, CORRESPONDING EDITOR.

The National Era is an uncompromising opponent of slavery and the Slave power, an advocate of personal, civil, and religious liberty, without regard to race or creed; a foe to all secret combinations to control the Ballot-Box, whether under the direction of priests or laymen; a friend of Temperance, the Household, and all reforms calculated to secure the peace, order, and good government of the Nation; a friend to the rights of the oppressed, and to the rights of every man to a fair trial by jury, and to the right of every man to buy and sell in whatever market he pleases. It believes in the right of individual judgment in all matters, whether of religion or politics, and rejects the dogma of passive obedience and non-resistance in both Church and State; holding that no man who swears to support the Constitution of the United States, can deliberately violate his own sacred conviction of its meaning, without incurring the guilt of perjury, and that no citizen can obey a human enactment which requires him to commit injustice, without incurring it.

It regards Slavery, and the issues involved in it, as forming the great Political Question of the day; taking the ground, that slavery, from its necessities, its insidious habits, its perpetually agonizing cry for Freedom and Free Labor, and its unchangeably aggressive character, is a permanent evil, and can only be removed by a permanent system of measures; that the Whig and Democratic Parties, not having been formed with a view to the issues raised by the Slave Interest, but being held in thrall by it, so far from presenting any resistance to its exactions, afford facilities for enforcing them; and that one or both must be broken up, and the true friends of Liberty be united, without regard to old issues or prejudices, on a Party of Freedom, as a necessary preliminary to the overthrow of the Slave Power. It therefore gives its earnest support to the Republican Movement, so far as its policy has been developed—a movement which promises to effect such a union.

The National Era, while occupying a decided position in Politics, has amply provided in its Literary, Miscellaneous and News Departments for the various wants of the Family. Careful abstracts of Intelligence, Domestic and Foreign, are given every week in its columns; during the sessions of Congress, special attention is devoted to its movements; and it has secured the services of some of the most distinguished literary writers of the country.
