From the Oswayo Banner. EDITORIAL.

Kind reader, we present you to-day the last number of Volume 1st of the Banner. Its publication was commenced under very unfavorable circumstances, and owing to our small for the "jours," thinking they would list of contributors, the editorial department has been conducted at an expense of much time and labor. Our subscription list is also small, which is nothing more than we exnected, as a periodical of the nature of the Banner must depend upon time to develop its own intrinsic merits before it can enjoy a good reputation far from being discouraged on account of our limited circulation. On the contrary, we have excluded the words fail, I can't and back out, from our vocabulory, and if circumstances are as favorable as present appearances indicate, we intend to issue the first number of Volume 2d shortly after we commence our next term of school. Volume 2d will consist mainly of lit erary matter in the form of contribunew publications, brief advertisements, &c., &c. It will be independent in politics and religion, but characterized by a high moral tone; --- and above all, its pages will ever be open for all who consider themselves, as some peet has expressed it, like a
