Á GOOD HIT.

Mr. Sumner, in his midnight speech contended that Congress had no right to enact the Fugitive Law; that it was a usurpation; that the Constisution gave no such authority; that the whole question of returning fugitives devolved on the States; and that they had the whole power over it. He showed that the associate clause guaranteeing to "the citizens of each State all the privileges and immunities of the cilizens of the several States" stood precisely on the same footing as the clause in the same section requiring the return of fugitives, and then he pointed to South Carolina, and showed what had been her action in regard to it: She nullified it by a resoluti n as follows:

"Resolved, That free negroes and persons of color are not citizens of the United States within the meaning of the Constitution, which confers leges and immunities of the citizens the persons to whom certain words of the Constitution are applicable .--to "the privileges and immunities of citizens" be not applicable to the previously concerned. colored citizens of the several States, and may solemnly deny its applicability, then may Massachusetts, and every other State, determine for itself whether the other clause, relating to the surrender of "persons held to service or labor," be really applicable to fugitive slaves, and may solemnly deny its applicability .- Syracuse Evc. Chronicle. ` •

WIT OF A GERMAN LAWYER -A young man of Nuremberg, who had no fortune, requested a lawyer, a friend of his, to recommend him to a family where there was a handsome daughter, who was to have a large fortune.

The lawyer agreed. But the father of the young lady, who loved money, immediately asked what property the man had?

The lawyer said he did not know, but would inquire.

The next time he saw his friend he asked him if he had any property at all ?

"No," replica he. "Well," said the lawyer, "would you suffer any one to cut off your nose, Church. if they would give you twenty thousand dollars for it ?"

"Not for the world," suid he. "It is well," replied the lawyer, "I "had reasons for asking."

The next time he saw the girl's father he said I have inquired about the your man's circumstances. He has indeed no ready money, but he has a jewel for which, to my knowledge, he refused twenty thousand dollars."

This induced the old man to consent . to the said marriage, which accordingly to six-place; though it is said in the sequel that he shook his head when he business, he feels confident of giving satisfac-

THE VERDANT GROOMSMAN. On no necasion (says the Springfield Republican) do people seem more prone to commit blunders than at a wedding. The following actually occurred in a heighboring town:

In the midst of a crowd of witnesses, the clergyman had just completed that interesting ceremony which binds in the siver bonds of wedlock two will ing hearts, and stretched forth this hands to implore the blessing of heaven on the union. At this point, the groomsman seeing the open hands reached out, supposed it was the signal for him to surrender the wedding fee, which was burning in his pocket. Accordingly, just as the clergyman closed his eyes in prayer, he felt the pressure of two sweaty half dollars on his open palms. The good man hesitated a moment, appalled at the ludicrousness of his situation, but coolly deposited the money in his pocket, and proceeded with his devotions.

In the peacefol and quiet pursuit of our
