

time. And now I must tell you how these two unlucky shirts came to be buttonless."

"No, don't say one word about them, my love," said Clement, penitently. "I will never complain again if the sleeves are missing as well as the buttons."

"But I must tell you because I really mean to have my housekeeping affairs in as good order as any one. I was looking over your shirts yesterday afternoon, and had put them all to rights but these two, when Mrs. Lennox came in, in great distress, to say that her sister's child was much worse, and they feared dying; so I dropped all, and went over there. You know how it was. No one had any presence of mind. The child's convulsions were indeed frightful to witness; the mother was in hysterics, and Mrs. Lennox worse than nobody at all. It was nearly midnight before I could get away, and meantime, Annie had put the room in order, and restored the shirts to their places."

Annie now put her head into the room. "If you please missus, a young woman in the kitchen would like to see missus a minute."

"Missus" arose and went out into the kitchen, and Mr. Ashton taking a candle from the table entered the study, and locked himself in. Crissey waited for a long time, and at last went and tapped at the door. It was opened with a warm embrace and a fervent kiss, and though there were not many words spoken on either side, there was a light in the eyes of both husband and wife, which showed that the understanding was perfect between them.—Lady's Book.

Objects of Art Contained in the East India House.

I regret not to be able to give such a description of the remarkable objects of art preserved in this building, as they fully merit; for though I inspected them under the most favorable circumstances, yet the objects were too various and numerous to permit of any thorough examination. The specimen of Indian sculpture are very numerous, but with few exceptions, on a small scale. Some are in bronze, others in black stone, but most are in white stone. The latter partially gilt; others entirely so. Among those in bronze are some of most admirable execution. The representations of Buddha are particularly frequent. Smaller idols in gold and silver also occur. The collection of coins is especially rich and interesting. Among the weapons, for example, the sabres are many, like that of Tippoo Saib, which are remarkable for costliness and taste of ornament. A pair of gloves, in particular, executed in Lahore, are very remarkable. Among the pictures may be mentioned, first, a number of copies of large pictures, of a frieze-like form, executed by an English officer by commission from the Company, from wall paintings found in India. They represent chiefly highly dramatic scenes, hunts, battles, &c., and are of very animated, and in some cases, of happy motives. As regards drawing, modeling, and color, they are of very low grade, with a rudeness of execution which, to all appearance, is not to be laid to the charge of the copyist. As there was no room for placing these pictures, they were taken out one after another for my inspection—a trouble which I very much regretted giving. The Indian painter appears, however, to much advantage in his miniature, of which a large collection is here preserved, containing some of great excellence. If there be a department of Indian Art in which something of that delicate and poetic feeling is reflected which attracts every cultivated mind in their poetry—for instance in the poem of Lacina—it is in the department of miniature. There we find those tender and graceful female forms delicately and individually rendered. Nor are the power and beauty of the male figure less well given. The motives are true, animated, and various; the proportions generally slender; the drawings frequently correct; the separate portions are not without some modeling; the colors fresh, and in some cases harmoniously arranged; and finally, the execution is of admirable finish. In the representation of native animals—for instance, of elephants—a singularly true and close observation of Nature in every respect, is evident. The weak point of Indian Art, is the absence of light and shade, and of linear and aerial perspective. In the elegant ornamentation that prevails which we meet with in Arabo-India architecture.

Admirable specimens of Persian miniatures are also here. A historical work displays numerous representations of battle scenes of the most surprising truth. The natural physiognomy is very accurately rendered, and the execution is careful. The Arabian taste has been most elegantly applied in the ornaments of the borders. Upon the whole, they may be placed on the same level of development with the Indian miniatures. Finally, some very choice specimens of Chinese miniatures are to be seen here. In comparison with the idealizing tendency of the Indians, the Chinese may be called the realistic painters of the East. In the rendering, however, of separate appearances in Nature, they display uncommon delicacy, and also great feeling for the refinement of Chinese female beauty. Their colors are also of the most marvelous freshness; technical process of great precision. The gaudiness of arrangement and the total want of all modeling, however, give the miniatures the appearance of maps, the outlines of which are filled with local color, while the absence of aerial perspective entirely excludes all idea of pictorial effect.—Dr. Haagen.

Napoleon is said to have remarked of physicians, whom he found to be materialists; "They do not believe that a man has a soul because they cannot find it with the dissecting knife."

Plants in a Bedroom.

Mr. D. Beaton, in the Cottage Garden, remarks that although it is quite true that plants do vitiate the air of a room to comparatively a fractional degree, it is equally well ascertained that they consume and destroy a very great deal of foul air; and that without foul air, such as would kill a man, plants could not be kept alive at all. We gardeners know this fact from our every day experience; we cannot grow plants so quickly in the sweetest air, as in a stinking hot-bed. All the animal creation vitiate the common air every time each one breathes the breath of life, or life-sustaining air; and were it not that all the vegetable kingdom depended on this vitiated air for part of their subsistence, and a great part, too, this world would have been at an end as soon as animals covered the earth. Therefore, and without the shadow of a doubt, plants are the best purifiers of the agents that have yet been known, to cleanse the air of a bedroom, or any other room in a house, provided always that such plants are not in bloom, or at least do not bear bloom with a strong scent.

NOT BLIND.—When the Northern politicians seem to overlook, with one accord, the fact that the free States have a very handsome majority of the whole electoral vote of the Union, and that a party with principles popular at the North could afford to lose even New York, and yet elect the President without a single slave State vote, the veteran editors of the National Intelligencer, as will be seen by the following, are quite conscious of the power of the free States. We make the extract below from the Cincinnati Gazette:

A PHENOMENON.—The Slavery part of the Know-Nothing platform is styled that of the majority of the National Council, but the National Intelligencer, in publishing the list of years and nays on the question, calls attention to the fact that the year represented fifteen States, with 146 electoral votes, while the nays represented sixteen States, with 150 electoral votes.

THAT'S SO.—Little girls are young ladies. They used to retire at eight o'clock but now they do not "go home till morning." They are charmed with the opera, they work cats that are no mousers, and birds that are no singers, with green and yellow worsted, but the moulding of a loaf is one of "the lost arts." They can tell you who wrote the last novel, the color of the heroine's eyes, and the curve of the hero's nose, but seem totally oblivious to the fact, that their poor old-fashioned mother is tolling her life out for them, and the poor old mother is willing—but then we are not.—Albany Knickerbocker.

VERY UNGALLANT.—An old fashioned naval captain stood up to go through a country dance with a very fine lady who was shocked to observe that his huge and warm hands were not covered according to etiquette. "Captain," said his fair partner, "you are perhaps not aware that you have not got your gloves on." "Oh! never mind, Ma'am," answered the commander, "never mind; I can wash my hands when we've done!"

THE BEST OUT.—A friend has furnished us with the following sign over the door of a respectable looking house near Chichester, England: "Her life I oo quers a goos." Any joker that can translate the above, at one reading, "Can take our hat!" We have frequently published the march of the schoolmaster, but recollect nothing like this. Now if you want to have some fun, just "turn down a leaf," and ask a friend to translate it. We submit it: "Here lives one who cures agues."

SINGULAR OCCURRENCE.—A few days since a spot of land, more elevated than any in the immediate vicinity, in Walworth county, Wisconsin, suddenly sunk to the extent of about forty feet in circumference, leaving a small lake or well in its stead, to which, thus far, no bottom has been found. The water has risen to within three or four feet of the surface of the earth surrounding it, and remains at that point.

BEAUTIFUL ALLEGORY.—A traveler who spent some time in Turkey relates a beautiful parable, which was told him by a dervise and which seemed even more beautiful than Sterne's celebrated figure of the accusing spirit and recording angel. "Every man," says the dervise, "has two angels, one on his right shoulder and another on his left. When he does anything good, the angel on the right shoulder writes it down and seals it, because what is well done is done forever. When he has done evil, the angel on his left shoulder writes it down. He waits till midnight. If before that time the man bows down his head and exclaims, 'Gracious Allah! I have sinned, forgive me!' the angel rubs it out; and if not, at midnight he seals it, and the angel upon the right shoulder weeps."

The incapacity of men to understand each other, is one of the principal causes of ill temper.

War Declared at Last.
The long repose of Europe is about to be disturbed by the bugle's note and the rattle of the drum, calling its slumbering millions to arms in the defense of their Brides and their country. England and France are calling for men and means, and sending forward their armies to battle against the aggressions of the Russian Bear; but while the Old World is convulsed by revolution, annual peace and plenty reign in the New.
In the peaceful and quiet pursuit of our business we have formed a copartnership under the name and style of N. S. BUTLER & CO., and have taken the store in Empire Block, in the village of Olean, formerly occupied by "Thing & Brother," and are now receiving a splendid new stock of goods adapted to the season and wants of the community, which we intend to sell exclusively for cash down, at prices that will cause consternation and dismay in the ranks of old fogyism that has been so long established in this section.
Our stock will consist in part of the following Goods: Hardware, Crockery, Boots & Shoes, Hats, Caps, Carpets, Oil Cloths, Drugs, Medicines, Dry Stuffs, Glass, Paints & Oils, Suits, Putty, Chairs, Beds, Bedsteads, Mattresses, Featherbeds, Stone and Woven Ware, &c. And we mean to keep such an assortment of the above goods that persons from a distance can be assured of finding everything they usually want at prices that will do them good Call and see for yourselves.

Putnam's Monthly.
In assuming the publication of PUTNAM'S MONTHLY, it is only necessary for us to refer to the special notice issued, with our hearty approval, upon the first of April, by the late publishers. The Magazine will aim at greater extent, and in the direction hitherto pursued; and, without being a partisan, will hold decided opinions, and will treat all public questions from a humane and truly national point of view.
In all the other varied departments of a Monthly Magazine, it will hope to amuse, instruct, and benefit; to criticize generously but justly; and to attract to its pages, as it has already done, the contributions of able men in every walk of Literature, Science, and Art.
The past volumes are the best assurance that nothing offensive to the purest morality, and no wanton attack upon honest conviction, will ever find a place in the Magazine.

HYGEANA.

Brought Home to the Door of the Million.

As WOODBRIDGE DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. Curtis, of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma, and all diseases of the Lung, we refer to Dr. Curtis' Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup. With this new method Dr. C. has restored many afflicted ones, to perfect health; as an evidence of which he has innumerable certificates. Speaking of the treatment a physician says: It is evident that inhaling—constantly breathing an agreeable, healing vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the arial cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion. The Hygeana is for sale at the druggists through out the country.

N. Y. Dutchman, Jan. 14.
The Inhaler is worn on the breast under the linen without the least inconvenience—the heat of the body being sufficient to evaporate the fluid.
Hundreds of cases of cures like the following might be named. One package of the Hygeana cured me of the Asthma of six years standing.
Jas. F. Kersherry, P. M., Duncannon, Pa. I am cured of the Asthma of 10 years standing by Dr. Curtis' Hygeana.
Margaret Eastman, Brooklyn, N. Y. Mrs. Paul of No. 5 Mammond-st., N. Y. was cured of a severe case of Bronchitis by the Hygeana.
My sister had been cured of a distressing cough of several years standing, and decided to be incurable by her physicians. She was cured in one month by the Hygeana.

N. B.—Dr. Curtis' Hygeana is the original and only genuine article, and all others are base imitations or vile and injurious counterfeits. Shun them as you would poison.

TO OFFICERS, SOLDIERS, SEAMEN, &c. OF ALL WARS.

SEEKING AND HONOR CALLED FOR BY S. M. KNIGHT, Attorney for Government Claimants, Washington, D. C.

CONTINUES to give prompt and particular attention to the prosecution of every description against the Government, and particularly to those before the Treasury Department, Pension and Bounty-Land Claims, Patent and General Land Office, and Board of Claims.
An experience of years, and a familiarity with the means of obtaining the earliest and most favorable action on Claims, with facilities for the dispatch of business, enable him in assuring his Correspondents, Claimants, and the Public generally, that no case entrusted to his keeping will not be speedily and successfully prosecuted.
PENSION, BOUNTY LAND, PATENT, and PATENT LANDS.
He has nearly ready, for gratuitous distribution among his business Correspondents (and those who may become such) a pamphlet containing a synopsis of the Pension, Bounty Land Patent, and Patent Land Laws, down to the end of the last Congress—including the BOUNTY-LAND ACT OF MARCH 3, 1853, under which all who have heretofore received less than 100 acres are now entitled to additional land; said Act grants also to all Officers, Non-commissioned Officers, Chaplains, Soldiers, Veterans, Teachers, and Friendly Indians, of the Army, including State Troops, Volunteer Soldiers, Marines, Clerks, and Landmen, of the Navy, not heretofore provided for, who have served not less than fourteen days (unless in later acts) at any time since 1776; and to the widows and minor children of all such persons entitled, and deceased.

This pamphlet contains "Forms of Application" more full and complete than any where to be found; adapted to the several every class of Claimants under the Act, and copious decisions and instructions of the Department, and practical suggestions as to the course to be pursued in suspended or rejected cases.
Parties not wishing to avail themselves of the facilities afforded by this Office in carrying prompt and personal superintendence of the claims at the Departments, can obtain copies of the above pamphlet by remitting 25 cents in postage stamps.
INDUCEMENTS TO CORRESPONDENTS.
Correspondents who prepare and forward cases for management by this Agency, are dealt with liberally; supplied with all necessary blanks gratis, and kept conversant with the changes that from time to time occur in the execution of the laws.
It is within the subscriber's power to direct his Correspondents to the locality of many persons entitled under the Act, and having obtained several thousand land warrants under former laws, he is in possession of data that will materially assist in securing additional bounty.
Fees, below the usual rates, and commensurate upon the admission of Claims.
The highest cash prices given for Land Warrants, Revolutionary Script, and Patent Land Patents.

Premium Fanning Mills.
Important to Farmers and Mechanics.
THE subscriber has purchased of J. Bamforth the right to use in Potter and McKean counties his patent in the construction of Fanning Mills. He has also, at great expense, commenced the manufacture of a PRIMUM MILL which will clean from 100 to 200 bushels per hour. This Mill was patented March 20, 1847, since which time it has been at the head of the list at all the State and foreign agricultural societies where it has been exhibited, and is a universal favorite with all farmers, who have tried it. It took the premium at the first Agricultural Fair held at Harrisburg, Oct. 31st, 1851, when there were 30,000 people present; and at the great State Agricultural Fair at New-York, held at Rochester Sept. 16-19, 1851, this Fanning Mill received the highest honors.
Having met with uniform success wherever tried, I cordially invite the farmers of Potter and McKean counties to call at my shop in Coudersport and examine for themselves.
A supply always on hand, to be sold on reasonable terms.
