LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Russians made a sortie against the French on the 14th; the Russians were repulsed.

The French are so close to the abattis of the Malakoff, that a man may throw a stone into it. The abattis is described as truly formidable: it is formed of trunks of oak and beech, from the woods of the Crimea, and it is more than six feet high. Before making a fresh assault, attempts will be made to destroy it. The Russians are still at work on the position, and are also repairing the Redan. The exchange of shot and shell is almost incessant.

The French are very sanguine of their ability to reach the shipping Kane to bring into court the bodies from their new battery at the White of certain persons, a woman and her works. There is but little sickness in the allied camp. The British wanted had emancipated by bringing them mittee, these appropriations were mattrasses for the wounded.

On the night of the 16th there was a sortio from the Malakoff, during a pouring rain; it lasted about a quarter of an hour. There was heavy being ready for another assault in about a fortnight.

An address was presented to Sir George Brown at Learnington on the 28th of July. In his reply he deprecated any change in the mode of officering the army, for it was precisely because the officers were gentlemen that the men were so attached to. them. He wished that the committee of inquiry had examined some French officers, who had associated with the English troops, and they would have found our allies formed a very differlish troops from that which has been formed by some of our own country-

Rumers have been current of a misunderstanding about Sebastopol having broken out between the English and in the best informed quarters, the Paris correspondent of the London

"England asked the French Government for its opinion on the question whether, in the event of Sebastopol not falling into the hands of the allies before the end of October, it would not be desirable, in order to preserve the troops from the terrible of promotion. He tendered him Mr. Mcrigors of a Crimean winter, to give Lanc's place as Commissioner to China, and up the siege, remove the camps to also Mr. Buchanan's place as Minister to near Constantinople, and recommence England. Mr. Reeder offered to resign and the siege carly in the spring, on an accept the latter place if the President would entirely new plan.

"The French government answered that, though the plan suggested was not without its advantages, the withdrawal of the French army from the ately after. This, the President refused to Crimea without the capture or destruction of Sebastopol, would create er, and justify himself as he could. such a painful sensation in France, that, for its part, it could not think of anything of the kind. The English cabinet, which, probably, had no fixed opinion on the point, did not say a word in defence of its question, and the matter dropped."

TEXAS LADIES ON LIQUOR.

The Ladies of Georgetown held a ruceting on the 6th ult., on the subject of alcohol and drunkenness, and passed resolutions requesting the merchants to bring no more liquor into that town for sale. A committee was appointed to wait upon the principal business men, which, having done, they report that only one store gave entire satisfaction of complying with the request. The others were doubtful.

They therefore unanimously resolved, "that we solemnly and firmly pledge ourselves not to trade at any store where intoxicating liquors of any kind are kept, if we know it. And furthermore, that we will, each individual, use all reasonable exertions to find out, and make known to each other, the fact of liquor being kept at stores pretending to be with-

THE NECESSITY OF DROUGHTS .- The State agricultural chemist of Maryland, Mr. Higgins, publishes a paper, showing the necessity of droughts to replenish the soil with mineral cut estimate of the merit of the Eng- substances, carried off to the sea by the rains, and also taken up by the crops, and not returned by manure. These two causes, always in operation, would, in time, render the earth a barrest waste, in which no verdure would quicken, and no solitary plant take root, if there was not a natural counteraction by drought, which operates to supply this waste nuxiliaries for carrying on the war, in the following manner. During dry weath and the restoration of Poland as the era continual evaporation of water takes place from the surface of the earth, which is not supplied by any from the clouds. The evaporation from the surface creates a vacuum, so far as water is concerned, which is at once through the recent tains a number of filled by the water rising up from the subsoil of the land; the water from the subsoil is replaced from the next stratum below, and in this manner the circulation of water in the earth is the reverse to that which takes place in wet weather. HYGEANA.

Brought Home to the Door of the Million. A WONDEREUL DISCOVERY has recently been made by Dr. Curtis, of this city, in the treatment of Consumption, Asthma, and all diseases of the Lung. We refer to "Dr. Cur-tis' Hygeana, or Inhaling Hygean Vapor and Cherry Syrup." With this new method Dr. C. has restored many afflicted ones to perfect health; as an evidence of which he has inunmerable certificates. Speaking of the treatment a physician says: It is evident that inhealing vapor, the medicinal properties must come in direct contact with the whole of the arial cavity of the lungs, and thus escape the many and varied changes produced upon them when introduced into the stomach, and subjected to the process of digestion.
