away, for a good, steddy boy; guess I'll have you down from there soon, if no better opinion is formed of you, than some of these gentlemen are so gratuitously bestowing on you."

"No, gemmens, Ise no runaway, Ise good boy what kin, do de work ob de gemmens good as any boy. Ise de boy for do work—hoe corn, pick cotton, dig um sweet tater, wid ebery ting else to do; Ise de boy for gemmens to buy," he would then say, evidently wishing to help on the sale of his own body and part; for the new hat was a prize worth his best efforts on the present occasion, having been bare-headed, or hatless for weeks past.

Finally there was a bid got up on him of five hundred dollars—six hundred, seven hundred, seven hundred and fifty, eight hundred, nine hundred, nine hundred and fifty—the hammer goes down with a smash, and off goes poor Jim to a nigger drover, as hatless as ever. The master pockets the thousand dollars minus fifty, chuckling over his good fortune. "Good trade, well, for a dead horse," says he in an under tone, to a looker on. "I say, Bill," continued he to his friend, "nine hundred and fifty dollars is not to be sneezed at, for a runaway, is it?" "No," replied his friend Bill, and added, "the old nigger will be off before night, and up through Old Kentucky again in a few days, unless he combs and collars him." "That's his own look out," replied this dealer in human blood and bones, "I've got the chink, and ha the nigger, and now he may go to Canada or elsewhere for all me." Poor Jim? I could not but think of him—by almost superhuman efforts in traveling nights, living on ground nuts, roots, and bushe, and for weeks together wading through swamps, crossing rivers, plunging through bayous, and avoiding all places of public travel, he had succeeded in making his way from the lower part of Arkansas to within a few miles of Ohio, and was there captured, brought back to this slave-market, and sold to a Southern trader for the New Orleans trade. He will undoubtedly soon be shipped off with hundreds more of his own breed, for this great mart of human souls, and there sold, body, soul, and spirit, to some Epps, Legree, or to some of their neighbors up on Red River, and used up, like old Uncle Tom, in a few short years. All, sir, as I have more than once on former occasions informed yourself and readers, these SLAVE-AUCTIONS are barbarous, horrid sights to behold, by a civilized, human person. They are behind the spirit of the age, as much so as the heathen gladiatorial combats of Pagan Rome under the reigns of Nero and Caligula, of bloody memory. And yet, these heathen, horrid, anti-republican, anti-human practices, are to be witnessed in all the Southern Cities, where they are sanctioned by time, supported by law, enforced by Religion, defended by the Church, taught from the pulpit, propagated by Congressmen, and apologized for by some Northern Divines. And all this, in a free, three hundred thousand proud, haughty, aristocratic, tyrannical men to live over and grind into the dust, nearly four millions of native born Americans; more than half of whom are of Anglo-Saxon origin. And then, to look upon and treat the remaining two millions, composing the balance of Southern whites, as an inferior race to themselves, but a step above the chattel breed. Oh the mischief of this national, civil, social, moral, and ecclesiastical incubus and curse, who can calculate its extent! There are some people I have seen whose sympathies have been excited upon the subject of slavery who, nevertheless, if they can be satisfied that the slaves have enough to eat think it is all well, there is nothing more to be said or done. They are better off, say they, under such circumstances than many of the poor whites north. Now if slaves were mere animals, whose only or chief employment consisted in the gratification of their bodily appetites, there would be some show of sense in this conclusion. But the fact is, however crushed and brutified these poor beings are, they are still men: men whose bosoms beat with the same high aspirations—the same ardent, boundless desire to improve their condition, the same wish for what they have not, the same indifference towards what they have, the same restless love of social superiority, the same greediness of acquisition, the same desire to know, the same impatience of all external control, as other men. The tremendous excitement which the singular case of Casper Hausel, produced, a few years ago, in Germany, is still remembered by thousands now living.

From the representations of that enigmatical personage, it was believed that those from whose custody he declared himself to have escaped, had endeavored to destroy his intellect, or rather to prevent it from being developed, so as to detain him forever in a state of infantile imbecility. This supposed attempt at what they saw fit to denominate THE MURDER OF THE SOUL, gave rise to great discussions among the German Jurists, and they soon raised it into a new crime, which they placed at the very head of social enormities. It is this crime, Mr. Editor, and dear readers, THE MURDER OF THE SOUL, which is in the course of continuous and perpetual perpetration throughout the South, by Churches, deacons, elders, leaders, ministers, and all other graceless dealers, robbers, and mongers in the bodies, souls, and spirits of men.

Sir, for the extirpation of this insult to Christendom, and curse of the age, let us strike, strike, strike. Strike blows that will writhe, reel, burn, strike on the Sabbath, strike on the week-days, strike at home and strike abroad—strike with the tongue, with vote, and keep on striking until the last pro-slavery rat shall be purged from the nation. ARGUS.

30,000 feet Brass and type Metal Rules, and all the novelties in the business now out.

All the above Types are cast by steam power, of the new metal peculiar to his foundry, and which is certainly superior to any ever used before in any part of the world. The unequaled rapidity in the process of casting, enables me to sell these more durable types at the prices of ordinary types, either on credit or for cash.

Presses, Wood Type, and all other Printing Materials, except paper and Cards, (which have no fixed quality or price,) furnished at manufacturers' prices.

The Press Specimen Book of the Foundry is free, given to the printing offices, on the receipt of fifty cents to prepay postage.

☞ Printers of newspapers who choose to publish this advertisement, including this note, three times before the first day of July, 1855, and forward me one of the papers, will be allowed their bills at the time of purchasing five times the amount of my manufactures.

New-York, Feb. 12, 1855.

Address, GEO. BRUCE,
15 Chambers-st.,
45-3t New-York.

War Declared at Last.

THE long repose of Europe is about to be disturbed by the bugle's note and the reville of the drum, calling its slumbering millions to arms in the defense of their firesides and their country. England and France are calling for men and means, and tending forward their armies to battle against the aggressions of the Russian Bear; but while the Old World is convulsed by revolution, unusual peace and plenty reign in the New.

In the peaceful and quiet pursuit of our business we have formed a copartnership under the name and style of N. S. BUTLER & CO., and have taken the store in Empire Block, in the Village of Olean, formerly occupied by Young & Brother, and are now receiving a splendid new stock of goods adapted to the season and wants of the community, which we intend to sell exclusively for cash down, at prices that will cause consternation and dismay in the ranks of old fogyism that has been so long established in this section.

Our stock will consist in part of the following Goods:

Hardware,	Crockery,	Boots & Shoes,
Hats,	Caps,	Carpets,
Oil Cloths,	Drugs,	Medicines,
Dye Stuffs,	Glass,	Paints & Oils,
Sash,	Putty,	Chairs,
Bedsteads,	Mattrasses,	Feathers

Stone and Wooden Ware,

And we mean to keep such an assortment of the above goods that persons from a distance can be assured of finding everything they usually want at prices that will do them good. Call and see for yourselves.

MESSRS EDITORS: We had designed to advertise our mill in your paper before, but fortunately no accident has saved us the trouble since which we have been crowded with grindings. Now, whether our mill takes the preference over any other mill in this county or not, is not for us to say; and whether we have been to much or made expense in fixing it upon is of no consequence. Such as it is, it will be in operation all seasonable hours, unless out of repair, or we get too much engaged to furnish wood, as it is now hindered by low water.

Accompanying this notice we send you a specimen of flour of our own manufacture, and we appoint Mrs. Mann our judge.
