nomination of Fremont was made unanimous. Kansas voted nine votes for him amid deafening cheers. Several of the Southern States were represented, all voting for Fremont.

I feel myself inadequate to the task of describing the scenes which followed. Immediately on the announcement a large pennant was stretched arcoss the hall bearing the inscription "FOR PRESIDENT, JOHN C. FREMONT," and over 3000 men rose as if by an uncontrolable impulse and cheered for several minutes. The street was filled with people all the way down to the Park and cheers after cheers reached us from there. The Convention then adjourned every man feeling that he had done one good day's work. To-day the Convention nominated W. L. Dayton of New Jersey for Vice President.

Every evening since the Convention began Mass Meetings have been held and address by some of the ablest speakers in the Nation. There is not room in Philadelphia capable of holding the people, so they meet in the Musical Fund Hall and in the street. To-night, for example, I was in the Hall, and listened to a speech of Senator Wilson of Mass. The room was densely crowded and after Wilson closed his remarks, and another gentleman had taken the stand, I squeezed my way out and left the 3000 people to all the comfort they could find there But on reaching the street I was nearly as bad off, for I could not get near enough the speaker to hear him. Perseverance does much, and it brought me near enough to hear a fine speech from S. N. Wood, one of the Kansas Traitors now in this city. He was mounted on the steps of a private house about mid way between the hall and the park and was going it. He was followed by Hon. David Wilmot, in a speech by far surpassing the one I heard him make in Coudersport two years since, in beauty and eloquence, Wilmot is popular here. He was followed by Dr Cheeves of Pittsburg and the crowd adjourned about 11 o'clock, P. M. And so it has been every night, always new speakers, and with their diversity of talent, of course always new interest.

As near as I can figure I am forced to the conclusion, not very reluctantly neither, that John C. Fremont will be our next President. Such is the opinion of the leading Journals of New York including the border ruffian Herald. The political sagacity of that delectable sheet is greater than most people would like to exhibit.—There is but one question however now before the American people in this contest: Whether shall be nationalized, Slavery or Freedom!

LAWRENCE, June 6th, 1856.

FRIEND MANN: As your correspondent has left for the East, I will give you some of the incidents around Lawrence for the last week. The Ruffians not content with the destruction of property in Lawrence, have commenced to burn the farm houses. Last Friday they notified Capt. Walker, that they should burn his house, the following night, accordingly Mr. Walker with about half dozen of his neighbors were prepared for them, fifteen rode up to the house about ten o'clock in the evening, and while dismounting and hitching their horses, the Capt, and his men fired upon them, they scattered in all directions, two were taken prisoners. In the Morning, Walker and his men found scattered around the following property. One dead horse, one Sharps Rifle, two U. S. Muskets, three Revolvers, four Bowie Knives, one Saddle, and one Coat-tail, with a bottle of whisky in the pocket. Undoubtedly the owner was "shot in the neak" and not wishing to be shot in the back, was forced to make a retreat without any liquor. The next Morning Shannon came down with a company of Dragoons to arrest Mr. Walker and take what Sharps Rifles he could find. Preparatory to this however Mr. W. had left, on going into one house he inquired of the Lady for her husband, she wanted to know what he wanted of him, he (Shannon) said, "I want to cut out his damned heart, and if you aint careful I'll serve you the same can a community expect from a man who's human feelings (if he ever had any) are all ejected, and nothing but the brute passions left, and these daily way." From his language you may judge of his acts. What protection efeited with whiskey, and, all of the vituperations against the Northern men that a set of pro-Slavery blackguards and liars could manufacture.—The next day they attempted to surround a house owned by a Mr. Storrs, for the purpose of killing the occupant and burning the house, several shots were fired from both parties, without any serious result. At this stage of proceedings a couple of U. S. Dragoons with some of the citizens of Lawrence proceeded to the scene of hostilities, but before reaching the house they were fired upon by some of the ruffians, one of the dragoons a nephew of Thos. Weed of N. Y. was shot in the thigh and waist. The wounded man was taken to the house of Dr. Prentiss, where every hospitality is shown him that can be by a kind family, and an able physician. The time has come for that portion of the people of Kansas who are opposed to slavery and will not succumb to the dictates of men like Atchison and Stringfellow, to fight or leave the Territory. This is no place for conservative men, an hours examination of the records of the court that decreed the destruction of property in Lawrence is enough to turn the most radical old democrat that you have in Potter Co., into a Garrisonian whig. Two days ago a fight came off 15 miles south of here which resulted in 5 pro slavery men being wounded and 2 free State. Prisoners were taken on both sides and during the fight the ruffians took what prisoners they had and set them in the front ranks for breast work. During a melee at Franklin last night one pro Slavery man lost his life. The prisoners are under Col. Sumners protection and will be taken to Fort Leavenworth next Monday. The Col. is now disbanding some of the Guerilla parties and it is generally supposed that he has orders from Washington. Not a man can travel from any point to Lawrence without being robbed of all he has. Highway robbery is sanctioned by Shannon. That Pierce is the cause of all this high-handed proceedings every one knows; and that Shannon could have evaded it, no one ought to deny. One word from Shannon to Col. Sumner would have prevented any conflict between settlers of the territory, and the Ruffians would have left for more congenial quarters, but knowing that this Territory would become a free State unless something desperate was accomplished, the South have submitted to acts which are enough to astonish any community that such things should be tolerated in a country which pretends to be governed by others than savages of the most barbarous kind. Many of the men who have regarded U. S. law as the palladium of our terrestrial rights, have had their "course ordained" by the law and order party" and they have been forced to flee to the states, or be trampled under foot by a U. S. Marshal's posse comitatus, and Shannon with a fiend by the name of Titus, who served in the notorious Walker's expedition is scourging the claims owned by northern men for arms, and threatening to eat the hearts out of 100 men because their hearts were not as fiendish as his own. The Investigating Committee are in Westport, and will leave next Monday morning for Washington. Mr. Upton the Sergeant-at-arms has just reached this place, he was taken prisoner between this place and Westport, and requested to make his will, but the ruffians finding out who he was told him it was a mistake and let him "pass," perhaps it would be well to send it verbatim.

PASS

"I no this man to bee a law and abidin man—let him pas.

Sam Salters, Deputy Sharif of doglas county."

The dragoons stand around swearing about Shannon and the Border Ruffians only wishing to get an opportunity to revenge the aggressions and lawless violence which they know northern men have suffered from the hands of the recognized Territorial Milita, if the men of Lawrence had not been kept down by the Government, the Free State Hotel, would never have been razed to its present position and the type of the Free State and Herald offices sown broad cast over Lawrence by a mob that scarcely know their use.

OF AMOS LAWRENCE.

First published Diary and Correspondence of the late AMOS LAWRENCE. Edited by his Son, Wm. R. Lawrence, M. D. With elegant steel engravings of Amos and Abbot Lawrence, and other illustrations, Royal 12mo cloth, $1.

The octavo edition of this work has had an almost unprecedented sale. Willing to give to the other hundred thousand readers the opportunity to first get a portion, twelve thousand copies have been sold without producing any sensible abatement of the demand. Scarcely any other biographical work has met with equal success in the same length of time. The success is due entirely to the intrinsic merits of the work.

It is the Autobiography of a merchant who began business with only $50, and gave away during his lifetime, in public and private charities, more than seven hundred thousand dollars.

As a book for young men, it has been pronounced invaluable. In this conviction, merchants and business men have largely purchased it for present to their clerks and employees. In Boston, more than eighty mercantile houses have thus put upon it the stamp of their approval, in some cases one hundred copies; in others, forty, twenty-five, fifteen, &c., have been purchased by a single firm. This example has been followed in New York, Philadelphia, and other cities.

Clergymen, regarding the book as a rare moral and healthful influence in community, have voluntarily contributed to extend its circulation, by making it the basis of sermons and lectures, and public assemblies.

HARRIET BEECHER STOWE, in a letter to the New York Independent, volunteers this emphatic commendation of the work:

"We are proud of this work. We are willing to let it go forth to other lands as a specimen of what America can produce. The good effect which this life may have in determining the course of young men to honor and virtue, is invaluable."

So high is the estimation put upon the book in all quarters, that urgent and repeated demands have been made upon the publishers, by the press and by individuals, for a cheaper edition, notwithstanding the price of of the octavo edition is much below what is usually charged for such a volume. Yielding to this demand, they now offer to the public a CHEAP EDITION.

It is a large 12mo. volume, printed on thick, white paper, from the plates of the octavo edition, and is sold at the extremely low price of One Dollar. All things considered, the publishers are confident that a cheaper book will not be found in the market.

☞ To publishers of newspapers who shall give this advertisement (displayed in good style) three insertions, a copy of the work will be sent by mail free of expenses.

The Octavo Edition will continue to be published and for sale as heretofore, at One Dollar and Fifty cents.
