From the London Times, Sept. 11. THE FALL OF SEVASTOPOL.

On Saturday, the Sth of September, within a few days of the auniversary of the landing of the Allied forces in the Crimea, and 326 days after the ppening of the besieging batteries against Sevastopol, on the 17th of October, 1854, a final victorious assault was made upon the southern part of the town. Before night the French flag waved in triumph upon the Malakoff Tower, which had fallen before the indomitable courage and perseverance of the assailants, and within a few hours more the Russian garrison had evacuated the Karabelnaya suburb and the southern portion of the fortress, after blowing up the magazines and principal works, setting fire to the town in many places, and then endeavoring to withdraw by the bridge across the harbor from this terrific scene of devastation and defeat. So fell Sevastopol.

The catastrophe surpasses in horrible interest all the preceding scenes | few square miles of the enemy's terriof this gigantic contest. They have annihilated the naval power on which she relied to secure her supremacy in the Euxine, and to establish her authouity from the shores of the Caucasus to the mouths of the Danube. But, above all, they have shown the servile and credulous nations of the East that the Powers now paramount in the world are not those of fanaticism and barbaric absolutism, but those of liberty and of civilization. In this struggle Sevastopol became at once the test of strength and the reward of victory. To reduce it by force of arms was to overthrow that colossal fabric of Russian influence which a century and a half of rapine and intrigue had called into being, until it overawed the surrounding nations and threatened the independence of Europe. Single Speech Party.

In times when ability was requisite to po litical eminence, it was considered disgrace-ful for any one who pretended to speak upon public allairs, to repeat his speeches from time to time, as a parrot prates his smart things to the sickened ears of the company. But now it is the pride and glory, as well as the stern necessity, of Old Line speakers to run over the ofi told rigmarole of scandal, backbiting, and second hand misrepresentations. Afraid to argue, and unable to reason, they belie history, garble public documents, defame the Church, and denounce as traitors all who differ with them in political opinions. Claiming to be peace-makers, they inflame the deadliest hatred by their denunciationsthey infuriate men who belong to their own party by slanders upon ours, varying as little from day to day and from place, as the adder ddes his hiss, or the hyena his how!.-Indiana State Journal.

Lewisville Steam Mill Company.

MESSES EDITORS : We had designed to advertise our mill in your paper, bu your time-ly notice has saved us the trouble, since which we have been crowded with grinding. Now, whether our mill takes the preference over any other mill in this vicinity, or not, is not for us to say; and whether we have been to much or little expense in fitting it up, is of no consequence. Such as it is, it will be in ope-ration at all seasonable hours, unless out of repair, or we get too indotent to furnish wood, as it is not hindered by low water. Accompanying this notice we send you a specimen of flour of our own manufacture,
