

SMALL FENCE
Upon this New York world has these sensible remarks, which, although known to every thinking farmer, will bear reiteration:

It astonishes a great many men to notice how many other men persist in fencing small fields, in keeping up fences where they are not needed, and plowing short furrows where long ones would save a vast deal of time and labor, besides avoiding the tramping of the ground in turning, which few men know how to avoid. The economy of time and labor in farming is as important as the saving of crops. Two long rows of potatoes are far more easily cultivated than eight short ones containing the same number of hills. An acre or ten acres of corn costs far less money to cultivate if embraced in only five or fifty rows than if double or treble the number. Then there is not, in the case of corn, the loss of breaking it down in turning, if the farmer has left no grass head lands to turn on, or has not two or three rows of potatoes planted on the outside of his field.

The fences about small fields involve not only great waste of labor and money to care for them, but are also a great waste of land. They are not only unproductive property, but cost in the waste of land alone enough on many farms to pay the annual taxes. It is also noticeable that the smaller the farm the greater the number, proportionately, of fenced fields. If in the case of pasture it is desirable to feed only part of a field at a time, (which, by the way, is not often a wise policy), it is cheaper to build and move hurdle fences, unless the stock kept is large.

Mosquitoes immigrated to this country in the year one. They are the smallest fowl that navigate the air. Although not soaring so high as other fowls, they make some fouler sores than any other bird ever dreamed of. They are not very devout, although they are birds of prey. They are so tame that they will come up and eat out of a fellow's hand. As songsters they are a success, making some of the sweetest sounds ever heard. We are sometimes constrained to stay awake all night and listen to their strains, even if it's ever so confounded straining on us. If any one doesn't like their music he can lump it, and failing to do so, they will lump him, and if he "gets on his ear" about it, such a proceeding is foolish, for they are very accommodating and will get on his ear for him. I like their music better than anything else about them. Many a time have I lain on my downy bed and listened to them as they sang "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming" "We Won't Go Home Till Morning" and such like, till I have been so carried away (and wishing I was carried still farther) that I've joined in the melody "Shoo Fly," and cheered them by clapping my hands together, in the hope of giving the little suckers an affectionate squeeze.—Danbury News.

A ride on the Blecker street (New York) horse-cars shows some odd signs. There is one on a large clothing house in Crosby street which reads, "Clothing sold at Home at prices," and many persons wonder where there is a Home at, only to find that the word "honest" had misled them. Another sign in Beekman street reads, "The Gold Heating Company," which also puzzles the passer. After many conjectures as to what the company heat gold for and whether the sweating process is referred to, an inquiry in the office develops the fact a Mr. Gold is the proprietor of a kind of furnace. An Elm street saloon-keeper has for a name Danmeyer—not an easy name for christians to call at a distance.

The Court (to the jury)—Were you unanimous?
The Foreman—Yes; we were nine to three.
The Court—Really this is losing the time of the Court; don't you know, sir, that that is not a proper verdict?
The Foreman—Before discussing the case we agreed that the minority should be ruled by the majority.
The Court then sent the jury back, and it soon returned with another verdict of acquittal.
The Court (to the prisoner) you are now discharged, and I hope, if you come here again, that you will not get off so easily.
The Prisoner—It is my first offense, your worship, and it will be my last.
The Court—But the jury found that you committed no offense at all. (Laughter, in which the entire Court joined.)

The Elmira Advertiser.
A DAILY AND WEEKLY JOURNAL FOR THE PEOPLE.
The News Paper of this Section.
LATEST NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE WORLD.
THE DAILY ADVERTISER is a morning paper published every day except Sunday. It is published at such an available point, that it is able to give all the latest news to a very extensive territory earlier than it is possible for any other journal to supply it. Over a large portion of Southern New York and Northern Pennsylvania it reaches points early in the morning, and west of Elmira even to the Lake Erie.
ADVANCE BY MANY HOURS of any metropolitan journal.
Its specialties and features that recommend it to the public are numerous and known far and wide.
It is the representative journal of Southern New York and looks earnestly and persistently to the interest and advancement of that portion of the state.
It has an interest in and care for the large and constantly increasing population, wealth and power of Northern Pennsylvania, and although printed in another state, covers by all reasonable means to forward it on the high road of prosperity and wealth.
THE SPECIAL FEATURES of the ADVERTISER are: Its full, latest Telegraphic intelligence from all quarters; its faithful reports of the daily Markets at all the Commercial Centers of the country; its comments on political and passing events and its full, fresh and reliable local intelligence.
It contains all the best features of a first-class general newspaper and a first-class local journal.

THE WEEKLY ADVERTISER
Is a large, eight-page, fifty-six column newspaper, issued every Thursday, and contains the cream of the weekly column.
It is especially addressed and intended for that large and intelligent class of community who reside on the great main lines of communication and the facilities for reaching whom make it possible to supply themselves with a daily paper.
For those, besides the late general and local news, are provided reports of local agricultural interests and full reports of late markets for country produce.
It is especially a readable paper and furnishes those who read a vast amount and variety of reading matter.
