LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.

Extracts of Letters from Judge Story, Chancello Kent and John Quincy Adams.

(3.0. Can.bidge, April 24, 1844.

THAVE read the prospectos with great pleasure; and an tirely approve the plan. If it can only obtain the public patronage long enough, and ingreenough, and securely enough to attain its true ends. It will contribute in an amment degree to give a healthy to sa, not only to our literature, but to public opinion. It will enable us to posses, in a moderate compass, a select library of the best productions of the age. It will do more: It will redeem our periodical literature from the reproant of being devorted to light and superfictal reading, to transitory speculations, to stelly and epinement sentiment tables, and fines and extravagant sketches of life and character.

New York, Thi May, 1844

I approve very much of the plan of the "Lving Age," and if it be conducted with the intelligence, spirit and taste that the prospectus indicates, (or which I have no reason to doubt.) it will be one of the most instructive and popular periodical internative and popular periodical for the outperform and the supportance of the most instructive and popular periodical conce which abound in Europe and in this country, this has appeared to me the most useful. It contains indeed the exposition only of the current iterature of the Eagish language, but this, by its immense extest and comprehension, includes a portrature of the human much in the utrues expansion of the present age.

PHILADELPHIA. GODEY'S LADY'S BOOK POR 1952.

Increase of Reading Matter !!!

THE LADY'S BOOK for the ensuing year, will present many novel fentures suited to the advancing demands of the public taste. It has ever been the object of the publisher TO TAKE THE LEAD. Aming the popular Magazines of this county; and the host of imitators, who have been constantly following—"telling after him in vain"—are sufficient to attest his brilliant rucces. The promptness with which every sew idea that he suggests is adopted by others, is a sufficient, exron for his not being very explicit and evact in his promises of what is yet to come. Hat does not wish to lay out plans for others to foi low. It is sufficient, however, to say that all the existing popular features of the Lady's Book will be retained, and many new ones, particularly attractive in a Lady's Book and Family Magazine, will be introduced. The useful and the elegant will always be kept in view

To the Magazines alone we must look for the effactions of the master-minds of Literature. It is uneless to publish a list of names—suffice it to say, that we have piblished articles, and have others to publish, from

DIGESTION.

1 IGESTION is chiefly performed in the stomach by the aid of a fluid which freely exudes from the inner contof that organ, when in a state of heath, called the Gautio Julies. This Fluid is the Great Solvent of the two, the Puvifying, Preserving, and Stimulating Agent of the swanch and intestines. Without it there will be no digestion,—no conversion of Food into Blood and no notatist in of the lody; but rather a foul, topid, passful, and destinuite condition of the whole digestive apparatus. A weak, half lead, or injured stemach produces no good Gastino Julies, and hen either discussions, distress and debility which cause.

DEPSIN AND RENNIET. PEPSIN AND RENNET.

PEPSIN AND RENNET.

PEPSIN is the chief element, or Great Digesting Principle of the Gastric Junce. It is found in great abundance in the solid parts of the human atomach after death and sometimes causes the atomach to digest itself, or eat thatf up. It is also found in the stomach of animals, as the ox, callf. &c it is the material used by farmers in making cheese, called Rennest, the offs of which has long been the wonder of the different the offs of which has long been the wonder of the different net possesses attombing power. The stomach of a cult will out one nearly one thousand times its own weight of milk.—
Baton Luebig states that "One part of Pepsin distaffeed in sixty thousand parts of water, will direct meet and other food,"—
Distanced stomachs produce no good Gastric Juice, Renal of the following.

SCILENTIFIC EVIDENCE.

SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE.

RARON LIEBIG, in his colebrated work on Animality Chemistry, so 1: "An Artificial Directive Fluid may be readily obtained from the nuccus membrane of the stemach of a Unit, in which various articles of food, as meat and exest, will be Soltened, Changod, and Directod, precisely in the same manner as they would be in the human atomach."

JR. PEREIRA, in his famoustreatice on 'Food and Diet." published by Wilson & Co., New York, nare 35, totes the same grant fact, and describes the method of preparation.—
There are few higher authorities than Dr. Perei a Dr. JUNEAPER, Professor of Chemistry in the Medical College of the Univ. raity of New York, in his "Taxt flook of Chemistry," pare 383, says. "It has been a question whether artificial direction could be performed—but it is now universally admitted that it may be.

Professor DUNGLISON of Philadelphia, in his great work, on the Gastrie Juice, wheather work on the man Physiology, devotes more than fifty pages to an examination of this subject. His experiments with Hr. Heaumont, on the Gastrie Juice, whathed from the living human stomach and from animals are well known. "In all cases," the Natural dressions,"

AS A DYSPIPSIA CURER.

DR. HOUGHTON'S preparation of PEPSIN has produced. SCIENTIFIC EVIDENCE.

DR, HOUGHTON'S preparation of PEPSIN has produced the mast marvellone effects, curing cases of Beblitty, Emadistion. Nervous Becline, and Byspeptic Consum: tion, supposed to be on the very verse of the grave. It is impossible to give the details of cases in the limits of this advertisement—but anthenticated certificates have been received of more than 200 REMARKABLE CURES In Philadelphia, New York, and Hoston alone. These were nearly all desperate cases, and the cures were not only rapid and wooderful, but permanent.

It is a great NERVOUS ANTIDOTE, and from the astonishingly small quantity necessary to produce healthy digostion is believed to act upon ELECTRO-MAGNETIC PRINCIPLES. There iano form of OLD STOMACH COMPLAINTS which it does not seem to reach and remove at once No matter how bad they may be, it GIVES INSTANT RELIEF.
