

THE FARMER

THE CROP OF OATS. FRIEND EDITOR:—Notwithstanding the many well-written articles on the culture of other grains, that of Oats appears to receive the cold shoulder almost entirely...

It appears to be the practice with most farmers to plant Oats like the Irishman, "where nothing else would grow." This kind of land and culture is good enough, and with all this negligence it is astonishing that we get as much as we do.

On the 28th of February, 1851, I commenced plowing for Oats six inches deep, and finished on the 11th of March; harrowed the ground with a heavy harrow on the 27th, and sowed two bushels of well cleaned seed per acre on the 28th, and harrowed and rolled it in.

I have sowed from 1 1/2 bushels to 3 per acre, and find that as much oats can be raised from two bushels sowed, as from any other quantity. If sown too thick, the straw is weak, and more apt to fall, and the heads not so well filled.

CUT FEED. The question is often asked, whether much is gained by cutting up hay, straw, &c., to feed neat stock. Something does depend on circumstances.

We have had coarse fodder cut fine, and sprinkled with water, and by adding a little meal, and mixing the whole together, our cattle have been wintered at less expense than on merchantable hay.

RECIPE FOR TOMATO FIGS.—Pour boiling water over the tomatoes, in order to remove the skin; weigh them and place them in a stone jar, with as much sugar as you have tomatoes, and let them stand two days; then pour off the syrup, and boil it until no steam rises.

WALLACE HILLS respectfully announces to their friends, that they have just received a large and well selected stock of FALL AND WINTER GOODS.

Book-wheat.—The soil should be light warm, and rather moist, and previously prepared for the reception of the seed, by careful plowing. A fine tith is indispensable to the full development of its excellent, as is also a cleanly cultivation.
