...erican and British Navigation.

The following paragraphs, which we copy from the N. Y. Courier and Enquirer, present a strong light the triumphs recently w... by American enterprise and skill applied ... the different forms of navigation:

"It is a so... that striking fact that each of the four ...els of the Collins line has now performe... transatlantic voyage in less than ... days. In April, 1850, the Pacific, C... in Nye, steamed from Liverpool to New ...rk in nine days, twenty hours, and fort...e minutes; in August, 1851, the Baltic, ...aptain Comstock, steamed from Liverp... to New York in nine days, fifteen hours; ... February, 1852, the Arctic, Captain L... steamed from Liverpool to New York in ... days, twenty-three hours, and fifty mi...es; and now in May, 1853, the Atlan... Captain West, steams the same hor... yard voyage in nine days and twenty-two h...rs. This distribution of the victories among... the vessels and all the commanders of t... American line shows, as conclusively a... anything can, the intrinsic superiority of... the line itself over its great rival, of which the two shortest voyages ever performed were by the Asia, Captain Judkins, in ten days, four hours, and fifty-two minutes, and the Arabia, also Captain Judkins, in ten days, three hours, and thirty minutes. The ordinary average trips have exhibited a still greater disparity in speed. The average of the voyages performed in the year 1852, by the Collins line from New York to Liverpool, was ten days nineteen hours, and fourteen minutes; from Liverpool to New York, eleven days, sixteen hours, and twenty-four minutes. The average of the trips performed in the same period by the Cunard line from New York to Liverpool was eleven days, eight hours, and fifty-five minutes; from Liverpoole to New York, twelve days, eleven hours, and thirty minutes. It is but fair to say, however, that there have been other computations making the difference somewhat less, but yet not very materially. It must however, be borne in mind that three only of the Cunard steamers have the size and power of the Collins steamers—the Asia, the Africa, and the Arabia. The two first have been almost uniformly beaten in both directions, though by no means so considerable as in the other cases. The Arabia, with a power much more largely proportioned to its size than exists in any of the Collins line, and of which the highest expectations were formed by our English friends, has yet performed but two voyages which fairly tested her best abilities—one in February from New York to Liverpool in ten days, three hours, and thirty minutes and the other in April from Liverpool to New York in ten days and nineteen hours. Considering that the Collins line have now triumphantly maintained their ground for three years against every successive vessel that the long experience and great resources of the Cunard line have been able to bring out against them, we belive we are fully entitled to regard this contest in steam navigation as settled in favor fo American skill and American enterprise.

"In regard to sailling vessels, the same superiority is as strikingly manifest. The failure of the ship-builders of Great Britain to accept the challenge of the American Navigation Company last autumn to run each a clipper with cargo from to an Engiish to a Chinese port at stakes of £10,000, was in fact a tacit confession that such a race would in their belief, go against them. Nothing could have been more fair, liberal, and straight forward than the terms of the challenge; and all the world knows that no people have heretofore been more eager to enter upon such contests than the English. If the British shipwrights did not deem it safe eight months ago to take up the gauntlet, subsequent developements have made them the more afraid of it. At that time the best voyages by the Aberdeen clippers between England and China were, we believe, that of the Chrysolite from Canton to England in 104 days, and the ...tornaway in 103 days; while the American clipper the Witch of the Wave had sailed from Canton to England in 90 days. The greatest speed which had then been attained by the Aberdeen clippers was that of the Chrysolite—370 statute miles in twenty-four hours. The Witch of the ... run 389 miles in the same period. Now ... American Flying Cloud performs 4021 statute miles in twenty-four hours and nineteen minutes, and the American Sovereign of the Seas 419 statute miles in twenty-three hours and twenty-five minutes. The latter clipper for four consecutive days ran twenty-eight miles further each day than any single day's voyage in the annals of British navigation. The English have given up the contest, and we now see the strange spectacle of American clippers, unable to find a competitor abroad, summoning each other to the combat. And as if to impress the world yet the more strongly that our supremacy is not the result of any lucky accident, but of the surest scientific knowledge, the Soverign of the Seas no sooner earns her laurels than the new clipper Young American is pitted against her at stakes of ten thousand dollars, though no trial whatever has yet been made of her sailing abilities. Thus Greek meets Greek,' while the Persian is content to be but a bystander.

"In every department of navigation the English are now outstripped by the Americans."

☞The Johnstown Echo says that no less than six citizens of that place have died of intemperance within the last eighteen months. What an awful lesson to those who are pursuing the same downward path to ruin and death! Will it be heeded? We fear not.

☞Man, thus you stand.—An unmarried lady last week in speaking of man, and in particular, husbands, pronounced them necessary evils. We have nothing to say.

☞The expenses of the late Legislature foots up nearly $200,000.

THE SIGNAL AT NORWALK.—The editor of the Norwalk Gazette, in alluding again to the catastrophe at that place, and speaking of the signal and the engineer, says:

"We have taken much pains to ascertain if there might not be some object which could have misled the unhappy man, and are now entirely satisfied that the engineer was misled by the top of a chimney, which is in range with the ball, and all save its top concealed by a tree, so that at one point, near the bridge over the cut, this entirely hides the ball. We are satisfied now that the engineer did look, and was thus deceived, and that thus was he left to enact the awful tragedy of Friday."

☞The Springfield Repub. says: We published a short time since, the marriage of a couple, whose ages are respectiyely, 74 and 73 years. They were lovers in the hey day of youth, and a matrimonial connection was then prevented by parental authority. They have each been married, and each lost a partner by death. The ...sts of time have failed to chill the af...ions of their hearts, and, with the weight of ...rs upon them, they have now come toge...r to fill the vows of their early years.

Later From Mexico.

WASHI...ON, May 28—A letter has been receive... in this city from New Mexico, which stat... that the American Consul at Chihuahu... arrived at Fort Fillmore on the 6th of Ap... with despatches from Gov. Trias to Gov... ne. Trias has made a forced loan of 20,0... on three principal merchants of Chihu...ua, and then proceeded to El Paso with a ...dy of troops.

AN UP AND DOWN REPLY.—During the examination of a witness, as ... the locality of stairs in a house, the co...sel asked him—"Which way the stairs ran. The witness, who, by the way was ...noted wag, replied, that "One way they ... up stairs, but the other way they ran d...n stairs." The learned counsel winked both eyes, and then took a look at the ceiling.

ANOTHER DECISION UNDER THE $300 LAW.—The Supreme Court, at its present session at Harrisburg, has decided that a debtor cannot waive his interest under the $300 law in favor of one creditor, in preference of prior creditors; the assignment of his right is an abandonment of it, and that prior just creditors are entitled to the money in the order of their seniority.

THE WHEAT CROP of Lancaster county will not be above one half an average yield this season, owing to the extensive ravages of the fly. Some fields are literally destroyed and very few have entirely escaped. This apparently has all happened within the last two weeks. The Harrisburg Reporter says there will only be a third crop in this county, owing to the fly.

☞On Friday week, six soldiers who had been tried at the Carlisle Barracks for desertion, and sentenced, were flogged, marked with letter "D." on the hip, and had their heads shaved, and on Sunday morning were drummed out of garrison.

☞A bet of $10,000 has been made between the owners of the clipper ships Young America and Sovereign of the Seas, on the time to be made by those vessels on a passage between New York and San Francisco, to be commenced forthwith.

☞A mad dog was killed in Easton last week, but not until he had bitten a man and a boy, and a number of dogs and cattle.

257 Broadway, N. York.

Grand Literary and Artistic Combination.

Arrangements have been made to furnish the KNICKERBOCKER MAJAZINE, the HOME JOURNAL, and the NEW YORK MUSICAL WORLD AND TIMES, to new subscribers, for FIVE DOLLARS a year. This is a cap fit-ture, with a vengeance. The Knickerbocker is Three dollars per annum; the Home Journal Two dollars; and the Musical World and Times Three dollars; making Eight dollars a year at the usual rates. That three such works can be obtained for Five Dollars a year, is a fact truly worthy the Calonic age, which is just now being ushered in. Of the Knickerbocker Magazine, edited by LEWIS GAYLORD CLARK, it is unnecessary to speak. For twenty years it has been the most genial, humorous and spicy "monthly" in the world; and the present volume will be better than any that preceded it. The Home Journal edited by GEO. P. MORRIS and N. P. WILLIS, is well known as the best family newspaper in America; and the Musical World and Times, edited by RICHARD STORRS WILLIS, with Lowell Mason, George H. Curtis, Thomas Hastings, Wm. B. Bradbury, George F. Root, and other musical writers contributing; and which gives, among other things, over $35 worth of music in each and every number; in short, the very Nick and Perfection of Newsdom; including whatever can be given in Literature and Science; including whatever can be given in Literature and Science; including whatever can be given in polite literature and solid instruction in the family, and help to make it Better, Wiser, and Happier, may be now obtained for Five Dollars. Address DYER & WILLIS, 257 Broadway.

MARRIAGE.

Happiness and Competence.

WHY IS IT?

THAT we behold many females, scarce in the meridian of life, broken in health and spirits with a constitution of diseases and ailments, depriving them of the power for the enjoyment of life at an age when physical health, buoyancy of spirits, and happy serenity of mind, arising from a consciousness of health should be predominant.

Many of the CAUSES of her sufferings at first—perhaps years before, during childhood, or the first years of her marriage—were in their origin so light as to pass unnoticed.

IN AFTER YEARS,

When too late to be benefitted by our knowledge, we look back and mourn, and regret the full consequences of our ignorance.

What would we not often give to possess in early life, that knowledge we obtain in after years. And what days and nights of anguish we might have been spared, if the knowledge was timely possessed. It is

MELANCHOLY AND STARTLING

To behold the sickness and suffering endured by many a wife, for many years, from causes simple and controllable, easily remedied—or better still—not incurred, if every

WIFE AND MOTHER

Possessed the information contained in a little volume, (within the reach of all) which would spare to herself

YEARS OF MISERY,

And to her husband the constant toil and anxiety of mind necessarily depriving upon him from sickness of the wife, without giving him the opportunity of acquiring that comfort which his exertions are entitled, and the possession of which would render the happiness of himself, wife and children.

SECURE THE MEANS OF HAPPINESS

By becoming in time possessed of the knowledge, the want of which has caused the sickness and poverty of thousands.

In view of such consequences, no wife or mother is excusable if she neglect to avail herself of it if knowledge in regard to herself, which would spare her much suffering, but a means of happiness and prosperity to her husband, and of far often her children that blessing above all price—healthy bodies, with healthy minds. That knowledge is contained in a little work entitled

The Married Woman's

It is impracticable to convey fully the various subjects treated of, as they are of a nature strictly intended for the married, or those contemplating marriages, but no female desirous of enjo
