"Hurrah!" I shouted; "try it again, my boy," and away we went at a gallop, which bade fair to distance everything like pursuit. Never was spur more needed, however, for soon the clatter of horses hoofs, in full speed crossing the bridge, came sharp and clear through the stillness of the night. One mile was passed, anlenght, "are you awake? Stand up, if you other nearly compleated. The moon now shone forth, and turning in the saddle, I looked back upon the road we had passed. One trooper had headed the rest, and was within a hundred yards of us. If saw the fellow throw himself from his horse upon the ground. I knew his object, and said to my comrade, "Lower your bodylie flat over the saddle. The fellow is going to fire!" I had hardly spoken, when the report of a carbine startled the echoes, and the ball striking the hind leg of my companion's horse, the poor animal fell headlong upon the road, throwing his rider head formost over the saddle. My first impulse was to stop and share whatever fate might await my comrade; but my second and wiser one was to spur on, and save myself and despatch. I rode on at a gallop. Turning to observe my comrade's fate, I writer has frequently told us they want ent routes. The Republican learns that a saw his pursuer, having remounted, side rapibly up to him, and on reaching the spot where the man and horse lay, rein in and dismounted. He was hardly opon the ground, when my companion shot him and it must be borne in mind that a com-dead with one of the holster-pistols which mercial is the most solid of all political anhe was soon lost among the ditches and the country. Another mile being passed, I had the satisfaction to perceive that the pursuit was given over, and in an hour more, I crossed Thormond Bridge, and
