RECAPTURE OF SHANGHAI.

On the 17th of November a vigorous attack was made by the imperial troops upon one of the bastions of the city, and a very sharp contest was kept up for nearly an hour.

The Snipe, another insurgent vessel, was captured in the same way. An attack was then made upon the forts, but it was repulsed.

A Ningpo boat, containing about one hundred passengers, whilst passing up the river, on her way to Shanghai, was fired upon by the whole imperial fleet, and was finally boarded by small boats and her passengers captured.

On the 3d the Antelope, and others of the imperialist boats dropped down the river, when they were fired upon by the insurgents.

The Peking Gazette contains voluminous reports of the progress of the insurgents towards the capital, from which according to the government accounts, they were distant only one hundred and fifty miles in October.

Imperialist troops commit the most horrid barbarities on all who fall into their power. Dr. W. H. Medhurst publishes a petition he has received from some of the villagers, who state that they are industrious harmless persons, but that they are constantly assailed and plundered by the government soldiers.

LEGALIZATION OF DISSECTION.—The act before our state legislature to promote medical science by legalizing dissections, authorizes the warden, superintendent, or other officer having in charge the Baltimore Alms-house, or the Maryland Penitentiary, to deliver to any regularly chartered Medical College or school in the state on application from the trustees or teachers thereof, for the purpose of medical and surgical study, the remains or body of any person dying in any of those institutions under their charge, provided that the said remains shall not have been claimed or demanded for interment by any relative or friend of said deceased person within twenty-four hours after death, in which case said remains shall not be delivered, but shall be interred in the usual manner.

A lunatic in the Chicago jail, who calls himself Lord Fraser, sent out for a bottle of wine the other day to treat his fellow prisoners. On being furnished with a bottle of pop, he declared it the best wine he ever drank, and in a grandiloquent manner exclaimed, "Now gentlemen, for a toast—may we ever steal, swear and cheat; steal away from bad company, swear to the truth, and cheat the devil of his prey. Verily there was method in that man's madness."

BALTIMORE, March 6.—The miners in the Cumberland coal region had a procession on Saturday afternoon, carrying with them banners on which were inscribed "Forty cents per Ton—Victory or Death." They went to several mines and forced the miners to quit work. It is reported that 300 miners are coming from New York allured and determined to prosecute themselves. Bloody riots are anticipated.

FALL AND WINTER PLOUGHING.

When sod ground is ploughed in the fall or winter, we do not expect to plough it again in spring, and therefore, as a security against worms, or in December, January or February, if the ground is not frozen, is as good a time as autumn. In December 1852, I ploughed a field for corn, with round furrow slice, and to the depth of ten to fourteen inches; and although snow covered the ground of most of it to the depth of three or four inches while I was ploughing, the operation was so well performed, that a friend of mine, one week after the work was done, thought it appeared more like a summer fallow that had just been cross-ploughed than like sod. Although the worms were numerous in the soil, thousands were perished in the cold. Their winter retreat was broken up, and I lost but few hills of corn by them.

POISON IN GUANO.

A subscriber at Newark N. J., sends us the following, which he translated from a late dutch paper: "One of the custom officers stationed at Kaldenkirchen, near Venlo, Holland, had a slight wound in the fore-finger, caused by a thorn in shearing a hedge. The wound was nearly healed, when, receiving some guano, he was so incautious as to work the stuff with bare hands, that was at 3 o'clock, P. M.—at 4, the whole hand was swollen—at 5, the arm to the elbow—at 6, the whole arm and a part of the chest were in a state of high inflammation, and at 11 o'clock the same day, the poor wretch was a corpse, notwithstanding the aid of two skilful physicians. It appears, therefore, that guano contains some very venomous particles, and that people cannot be too careful in using that stuff."—lb

A COMPROMISE.—A young Irishman named Mahan, yesterday led to the hospital after a widow, Mrs. Fenarty, in order to escape a prosecution for larceny. It appears that Mahan, while courting the widow, slipped his hand into her bosom, and took a pocket book containing $20. He delayed saying anything about returning the money for three or four weeks, when she demanded it, and he refused. She then put him in jail. Mahan finally consented to marry the prosecutrix, by so doing preventing her becoming a witness against him, she settled costs, jail fees, &c. Mayor Voltz released him on his own recognizance, and sent him in company with a police officer, attended by her family, to the Rev. Father Garland's residence, where the marriage ceremony was performed.—Pittsburgh Gazette, 3d inst.

DEATH OF T. DEVIN RILEY, Esq.—We regret to be called upon to announce the sudden decease of this accomplished young gentleman. He died at his residence in this city, on Sunday evening, having retired to his bed in good health and spirits. It is supposed that the cause was apoplexy. Mr. Riley was one of those able and courageous spirits who were compelled to fly from the wrath of the British Government, owing to the part he took in the Irish troubles of 1848. He was one of the most fearless and forcible speakers and writers of the day, and was endeared to a large circle of friends. He leaves behind a wife and child, almost without protection. Let them not be forgotten by those who know the worth, the genius, the courage, and the manly qualities of her gifted husband.

LEGALIZATION OF DISSECTION.—The act before our state legislature to promote medical science by legalizing dissections, authorizes the warden, superintendent, or other officer having in charge the Baltimore Alms-house, or the Maryland Penitentiary, to deliver to any regularly chartered Medical College or school in the state on application from the trustees or teachers thereof, for the purpose of medical and surgical study, the remains or body of any person dying in any of those institutions under their charge, provided that the said remains shall not have been claimed or demanded for interment by any relative or friend of said deceased person within twenty-four hours after death, in which case said remains shall not be delivered, but shall be interred in the usual manner.

All the regiments in the service are to be raised to the full number of 1000 men each. All the artillerymen are armed with the Maine rifle.

The preparations for war continue with the greatest activity. The troops are embarking at all points.

From France, we learn that 80,000 men, comprising the flower of the French army, are ready to embark simultaneously with the British troops.

The Paris Moniteur contains an official notice of the annexation of New Caledonia.

A terrific storm occurred on the night of the 17th in the vicinity of Liverpool, which is said to have caused great damage on the coast.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.—A despatch from Vienna, dated the 15th, states that a circular has been forwarded to the diplomatic agents of Austria in the following sense: Austria considers an armed intervention of the Western powers in Turkey as extremely dangerous. Austria has full confidence of the loyalty, and rectitude of the Czar and will take the necessary steps for securing her frontier. A battering train of 80 guns and 6000 weight of powder have been sent to the southeast frontier.

It is better to throw a guard about the baby's cradle than to sing a song at the bad man's death-bed; better to have a care while the bud is bursting to the sun than when the heat has scorched the heart of the unguarded blossom.

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—The annexed beautiful lines are taken from Sir Humphrey Davy's Salmonia;—I envy no quality of the mind or intellect in others, be it genius, power, wit or fancy; but if I could choose what would be most delightful and useful, I should prefer a firm religious belief to every other blessing, for it makes life a discipline of goodness; creates new hopes when all earthly hopes vanish; and throws over the decay, the destruction of existence, the most gorgeous of all lights; awakens life even in death, and from corruption and shame, the ladder to Paradise; and far above all combination of earthly hopes calls up the most delightful visions of palms and amaranths, the garden of the blest, the security of everlasting joys, whose sensualists and skeptic view only gloom, decay, annihilation and despair.

A cotemporary noticing the fact of the Georgia Agricultural society offering a premium for the three best looking babies, says he is at a loss to know what branch of mechanic Arts or agriculture these premiums would come under. We should suppose they would come under the heads of domestic manufacture.

Accompanying the above notice we received one dollar in payment in advance for one year's subscription to the Republican, which we consider a more liberal reward than even a large and delicious cake, and would recommend others to follow suit.
