

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—The annexed beautiful lines are taken from Sir Humphrey Davy's Salmonia;—I envy no quality of the mind or intellect in others, be it genius, power, wit or fancy; but if I could choose what would be most delightful and useful, I should prefer a firm religious belief to every other blessing, for it makes life a discipline of goodness; creates new hopes when all earthly hopes vanish; and throws over the decay, the destruction of existence, the most gorgeous of all lights; awakens life even in death, and from corruption and decay, calls up beauty and divinity; makes an instrument of fortune and shame, the ladder to Paradise; and far above all combination of earthly hopes calls up the most delightful visions of palms and amarantus, the garden of the blest, the security of everlasting joys, where the sensualist and skeptic view only gloom, decay, annihilation and despair.

A contemporary noticing the fact of the Georgia Agricultural Society offering a premium for the three best looking babies, says he is at a loss to know what branch of mechanic Arts or agriculture these premiums would come under. We should suppose they would come under the heads of domestic manufacture.

It is better to throw a guard about the baby's cradle than to sing a song at the bad man's death-bed; better to have a care while the bud is bursting to the sun than when the heat has scorched the heart of the unguarded blossom.

In the late arrest at Havana, of the steamer Black Warrior, the bark C. B. Hamilton, and Pacific, and the brig J. T. Gettings, all belonging to the U. States, would seem to be the working of manifest destiny, the beginning of troubles which may end by checking the utter nigrication of that beautiful island.

Whoever desires that his intellect may grow up to soundness, to healthy vigor, must begin with moral discipline.

Mr. Corwin says he got but $6000 for his services in the Gardner suit. His cousin, Robert Corwin, got $8,000 more.

An exchange paper says there are three dangerous institutions in the world, viz: kicking colts, pretty calicoes and gunpowder.
