ARRIVAL OF THE NORTHERN LIGHT.

A Million and a Half in Gold—Serious Trouble at Nicaragua—Arrest of Mr. Borland, U. S. Minister.

The steamer Northern Light, with 820 passengers and $1,500,000 in specie, arrived at New York, on Thursday evening. Among the Northern Light's passengers are Hon. Solon Borland, U. S. Minister at Nicaragua; Col. Fremont, G. M. Bowen, British Consul at Realago, and Bishop Simpson of the Methodist Church in California.

The purser of the steamer, by authority of Captain Churchill, furnishes the following report of extraordinary proceedings at San Juan involving the arrest of Mr. Borland, the American Minister.

On the evening of the 16th inst., the river steamer Routh, Captain T. T. Smith, arrived at Punta Arenas, and was lying alongside the Northern Light to deliver passengers. About dusk, while the passengers were passing from one steamer to the other, a barge, having on board some 25 or 30 armed men, mostly Jamaica negroes, headed by a mulatto man calling himself the Marshal, came over from San Juan or Greytown, and ranged himself alongside the steamer Routh. The so-called Marshal, accompanied by several of his armed men, jumped on board the steamer and announced their purpose to arrest Captain Smith by virtue of a warrant from the Mayor of Greytown, upon the charge of murder. Capt. Smith refused to be arrested, and armed himself for resistance.

At this stage of the proceedings, Mr. Borland, the American Minister, who was at the time on board the Northern Light, was informed of what was going on. He immediately went on board of the Routh, where he found a crowd of persons—among them a number of the armed men from the barge, in a high state of excitement. The Marshal with his men was attempting to arrest Captain Smith, and the latter, standing at the cabin door, was keeping them at bay. Mr. Borland at once interposed, telling the Marshal that no authority recognized by the United States existed at Greytown, to arrest or in any way to interfere with any American citizen, and ordering him to withdraw his men from the steamer, and go away. The Marshal proposed to exhibit the Mayor's warrant, under which he was acting. This Mr. Borland declined to examine.

After some hesitation, the Marshal announced his purpose to withdraw, as advised by Mr. Borland. While this was going on, and before the Marshal and his men had left the steamer, much excitement was manifested among the men who had remained on board the barge; loud threatening language was used by them, and brandishing their weapons, several at once rushing on board the steamer. At this moment Mr. Borland, taking a rifle from the hands of a by-stander, stepped over the railing upon the guards, warned the men in the barge to keep off, and at their peril not to put a foot on the steamer. Upon this, the movement toward boarding the steamer ceased, and in a few minutes the Marshal and his men returned to the barge, and she returned to the opposite side of the harbor.

About dark Mr. Borland, accompanied by Mr. Scott, a son of the agent of the Transit Company on board of one of the boats of the Northern Light, went across the harbor to San Juan or Greytown, to visit Mr. Fabius, our commercial agent. Soon after arriving there Mr. Borland heard that at a meeting of the town, held at the Station House, presided over by the Mayor, it had been proposed and seemingly agreed to, that he (Borland) should be arrested. In a few minutes the execution of this proposition was attempted. A loud knocking was heard at the lower doors of Mr. Fabius' house; and upon his going to ascertain the cause, a body of men armed with muskets, consisting in part of the regular police of the town, and headed by a Jamaica negro, inquired for Mr. Borland, and declared their purpose to arrest him.

Mr. Borland hearing this, went down stairs, confronted these men, and demanded their business with him. Their leader informed him they came by order of the Mayor to arrest him, because of his preventing the arrest of Captain Smith.

Mr. Borland then repeated to them what he had said to the Marshal about their want of authority, &c., and inquired of them if they were aware of his exemption from arrest in his capacity of Minister of the United States. To this they answered, they cared nothing for all that, but that they had come to arrest him, and meant to do it. He then warned them of the serious consequences to themselves and to all concerned with them, if they proceeded to the extremities they proposed. They replied that they knew the consequences, and were prepared to meet them.

Mr. Borland said to them that they must proceed at their peril, and called several gentlemen who were in an upper room to come down and be witnesses of the threatened assault upon him. Upon this the leader of the armed force called Mr. Martin, (ex-Mayor), as if for the purpose of consolidation, and Martin, not answering, they went off a little from the door in the direction where from their manner they expected to find him.

About this time, Mr. Borland still standing at the door, the Mayor (a Frenchman) came up and said these proceedings had been without his order and authority; and while this conversation was going on, some one threw the fragments of a broken glass bottle which struck Mr. Borland, and slightly wounded him in the face. The particular person who threw this missile was not recognized, as the night was dark and a crowd in the porch and about the door. Soon after this blow was inflicted upon Mr. Borland the crowd dispersed.

Mr. Fabius, the commercial agent, procured a canoe, and passed the harbor to the Northern Light to make known to Capt. Churchill and the passengers the state of affairs on the other side. A meeting was held at which it was agreed to send a committee of three gentlemen to consult with Mr. Borland as to the best steps to be taken—these gentlemen with Mr. Fabius proceeded in one of the steamer's boats to the town; but upon approaching the shore they were hailed by a number of armed men, who fired one gun over the boat and threatened to fire into them if they attempted to land, and this, although informed that Mr. Fabius was on board, and desired to go to his consulate. Thus forcibly prevented from landing, the boat returned to the Northern Light. During the night the town was occupied by armed men, whose sentinels were stationed before the American Consulate, where Mr. Borland was, and the harbor, challenging all who attempted to pass, preventing boats from landing or leaving the shore, and thus keeping Mr. Borland a prisoner all night.

On the next morning, he procured a boat and returned on board the Northern Light, where he was informed by Mr. Fabius, our commercial agent, and Mr. Scott, the agent of the Transit Company, of the violent and lawless disposition manifested by the people of San Juan. They did not deem the persons and property of our citizens safe from aggressions, or even destruction, in the absence of force sufficient to protect them. Mr. Borland, concurring in this opinion, called a meeting of the passengers, and proposed to engage the services of fifty men to remain and afford the necessary protection, until our Government, informed of the state of affairs, should send a proper force for the purpose.

The requisite number of men volunteered, and were organized under the command of Crawford Fletcher, Esq., formerly from Tennessee, and now on his return from California.

Mr. Fabius, our commercial agent, has taken up his abode under their protection, and Mr. Borland embarked on the Northern Light, to proceed forthwith to Washington, to lay this matter before the Government.

BUFFALO, May 27.—The steamer Detroit was sunk yesterday in Lake Michigan. She will prove a total loss. The passengers and crew were saved.

Mr. Levi Swain, Meredith, N. H., informs the editor of the Democrat that he has worked forty-seven years at the carpenter business, and has never cut himself with an edged tool, never has been sick a day, and always voted the Democratic ticket.

A Journeyman Printer by the name of J. L. Moore, of New Orleans, lately came into possession of a fortune of $3,000,000. Happy Fellow! Who would't be a Printer?

The Lehigh county court refused, at its late sitting, to license any new taverns.
