

The Signers—Their Births and Professions

They left all for their country's sake. Who does not see that the worthiest of the Revolution might have been in any station in the British Empire? They might have revelled in the royal bounty; they might have stood within the shadow of the Throne which they shook to its base. It was in the full understanding of their all but desperate choice, that they chose for their country. Many were the inducements which called them to another choice. The dread voice of authority; the array of an empire's power; the pleadings of friendship; the yearnings of their hearts towards the land of their father's savior; the land which the great champions of constitutional liberty still made venerable; the ghastly visions of the gibbet, if they failed; all the feelings which grew from those sources were to be stifled and kept down, for a dearer treasure was at stake. They were anything but adventurers, anything but inn-contented.

had cast frequently, and as frequently finds his second horse already half beaten by the last management of the groom.—When the ostich is blown in the chase, the rider strikes him with a sharp tap on his forehead, and with a stroke deprives him of life, a small stick being his sole weapon. At Rome-Kousou, unprovoked by cutlets taken from the breast of the ostrich, is the royal dish of the desert, while the steam of the boiled fat imparts an unctuous taste and gummy flavor to the whole.

TALKER COOPER.—An observant stranger in Gotham might as he walks down Broadway be struck with the appearance of an old-fashioned vehicle drawn by one steady nag, and occupied by a tall, thin old gentleman with long gray hair and spectacles; by the novice he might be taken for a benign country physician, who had wandered from a suburban vicinage into the metropolitan thoroughfare; yet the dexterity with which he threads the crowd of liveried equipages, carts, and omnibuses, indicates a driver used to the bewildering streets; while the numerous and smiling nods he exchanges with passers-by, suggest one both well known and beloved.—Perchance he draws up to the curbstone, and in that case, is likely to draw forth a leather pocket book in which are notes, contracts, invitations, scraps from newspapers, the Omnium gatherum of a man of business, of primitive habits and philanthropy. When you look at him closely, you find an honest benevolence of expression mingled with a certain quiet shrewdness, a dress plain in the extreme, and manners as unpretending as they are kind.

Few would imagine that the individual whose appearance thus contrasts with the ostentatious men of wealth around him is one of New York's greatest benefactors—a man who has made a large fortune by the manufacture of glue, for years explored the adjacent country for hoofs of slaughtered kine, and transformed them into inslag and adhesive matter, the enormous sale of which made Peter Cooper rich; but nature previously made him generous, and now an immense edifice in the heart of the city bears witness to his munificence.

Boston Transcript.

The following beautiful paragraph is an extract from an address delivered before the graduating class of Rutgers's college, by the Hon. Theodore Frelinghuysen.

"Resolve to do something useful, honorable, dutiful, and do it heartily. Repel the thought that you can, and therefore you may, live above work, and without it. Among the most pitiable objects in society is the man whose mind has not been trained by the discipline of education; who has learned how to think of the value of his immortal powers, and all these noble faculties cultivated and prepared for an honorable activity, ignobly sits down to do nothing; with no influence upon the public mind; with no interest in the concerns of his country, or even of his neighborhood; to be regarded as a drone, without object or character, with no hand to lift and no effort to put forth to help the right or defeat the wrong. Who can think with calmness of such a miserable enterprise? Never permit your influence to go into hostility to the cause of truth and virtue. So live that, with the Christian poet, you may truthfully say that "If your country stand not by your skill, At least your follies have not wrought her fall."

TORCHING INCIDENT.—A mulatto girl, a slave, has recently been tried in New Orleans, on a charge of having attempted to poison her mistress and the family. It was proved that she sprinkled some powder on a dish of oysters, which made some of the family sick. It came out in the trial however that the poor girl was innocent of any evil design. The powder being analyzed, was found to be not poisonous; and the girl in her simple innocence, having been told that it had the charm of love powder, had sprinkled it upon the food, to make her mistress love her.

"I wish my portrait taken," said a young man from the country to a daguerrotypist.

"Very well, sir; just take a seat here."

"You warrant a resemblance?"

"Certainly, sir."

"For how long a time?"

"Even when old age overtakes you there will be some traces of your features."

"Suppose I catch the small pox, how can you warrant a durable likeness?"

"Makes no difference; just bring it to me and I will punch a few holes in it."

A friend of ours going home with his wife from the theatre the other night, was urged by his said wife to quicken his pace, in consequence of the lateness of the hour, and the probability that little Bessy was kicking up a muss at home.

"I never walk past a certain gate," was the reply.

"Indeed," said the rip, "whose gate is it?"

"Women require more sleep than men, and farmers less than those engaged in any other business. Editors, reporters, printers and telegraph operators, need no sleep at all. Lawyers can sleep as much as they please, and thus keep out of mischief. Clergymen can sleep twenty-four hours, and put their parish to sleep once a week."

OSTRICH HUNTING.—With Fauchaux's revolver, a couple of southern hounds, having plenty of tongue and not too much speed, and a horse safe on his legs and light in hand, a man might have an unlimited amount of sport at oases in Algeria. But, if he aspire to rarer game, there is the lion, the panther, the gazelle, the bustard, and the ostrich, in the Tell and Sahara of that country. The chase of the ostrich is held in high estimation, and is only followed by the Arab aristocrat, who makes a long, extensive preparation for its enjoyment. For some weeks before the time appointed for the sport, the Arab feeds and trains his horses with special care; and unless their wind and condition are perfect, they stand no chance with the ostrich; he runs them out of sight. This is exactly what is done in our own country by good kennel management: the fox is overmached by the condition of the hound. There is a curious point of similarity between the English sportsman and the aristocrat of the Sahara; he rides his second horse in the chase of the ostrich as the other does in that of the fox. But, if anything, he of the desert has the advantage; he posts his relay with such a thorough knowledge of the running of his game, that he rarely misses his mark; whereas the Meltonian makes a Borough Ordinance. That no fire or chimney shall be built in any building heretofore erected within the limits of the borough of Clearfield having walls of less thickness than 44 inches, and all fire or chimneys heretofore to be built within the limits aforesaid shall be so constructed that such pipes as are to be inserted thereon shall be inserted in the side. Nor shall any brick or chimney be erected unless on a firm or stone foundation at least 5 inches thick, and shall be raised at least 2 feet above the roof of the building in which it is placed.

Sec. 2. That no pipe connected with any stove, oven or furnace, and used for the passage of smoke, shall be carried through any floor, roof or partition constructed of inflammable materials, unless the passage through such floor, roof or partition is guarded by a collar of earthenware or other substance, affording equal protection.

Sec. 3. That no person shall, within the limits aforesaid, set fire to any shavings, brush, or other combustible materials, on any of the streets or alleys, or lots within the distance of fifty feet from any house or other building without permission from the Burgess.

Sec. 4. That no person shall, within the limits aforesaid, carry any lighted candle, or other material having fire thereon, into any barn, stable or shed, used for cattle, unless enclosed in a lantern so made as to be capable of emitting light without opening.

Sec. 5. That no person shall be permitted to fire or set off any fire-ball, squib, rocket or other fire-works within the limits aforesaid—and all every person or persons offending or violating any of the provisions aforesaid, shall be fined in a sum not exceeding fifty dollars, nor less than one dollar, to be collected as other fines are now recoverable.

Sec. 6. It is hereby made the duty of the fire wardens to examine as often as occasion requires into the condition of flues, chimneys, furnaces, &c., and report such as are not in a safe condition, or built in accordance with this ordinance. And it shall be the duty of the high constable to notify all persons occupying any premises having flues, chimneys, furnaces, &c., which may be considered unsafe, to remove or repair the same within one week, and on failure of such occupier or occupiers to so remove or repair them, it shall be the duty of the high constable to remove or repair the same at the cost of the owner or owners of such premises—and the owner or owners shall be fined not less than five dollars nor more than fifty dollars. All ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

GREAT DISCOVERY OF THE AGE. Important to TOBACCO CHEWERS. DR. GUSTAV LINDNER'S TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES. The Great substitute for Tobacco. It is a well known and incontrovertible fact that the use of Tobacco is the promoting cause of many of the most severe MENTAL AND PHYSICAL DISORDERS to which the race of man is subject, and which are long and painful experience has clearly proven that it contains certain narcotic and poisonous properties most dangerous in their effect, which by entering into the blood deranges the functions and operations of the heart, causing many to suppose that organ to be seriously diseased.

TOBACCO affects also the entire nervous system, manifesting itself—as all who have used the narcotic will bear testimony—in Lassitude, Nervous Irritability, Water Brash, Dyspepsia, & many other disorders of a similar character.

THE TASTE RESTORATIVE TROCHES are designed to counteract these baneful influences, and have proved completely successful in a multitude of cases, and wherever used. Being harmless in themselves they exert a beneficial effect upon the entire system, restoring the Taste which has become vitiated or destroyed by great indulgence, completely removing the irritation and accompanying tickling consequent upon the habit, which are always consequent upon the obtaining from the use of Tobacco, and by giving a health tonic to the stomach invigorate the whole system.

Persons who are irrevocably undermining their constitutions and shortening their lives, should use these Troches immediately and throw off the injurious and unpleasant habit of Tobacco chewing.

These Troches or Lozenges are put up in a convenient and portable form at the low price of 50 cents per box. A liberal discount to the trade.

UNPARALLELED ATTRACTIVE EMERSON'S MAGAZINE, PUTNAM'S MONTHLY. TWO GREAT MAGAZINES IN ONE. 10000 COPIES, THE FIRST MONTH. MANUSCRIPT PROGRAMME FOR 1858. $20.00 in works of art. FIVE DOLLAR IN ADVANCE in every subscriber. THE GREAT LIBRARY OFFER. Agents getting rich.

The union of Emerson's Magazine and Putnam's Monthly has given to the world a combination second to but one similar publication in the country, and has secured for it a combination of literary and artistic talent probably rivaled by any other Magazine in the world. During the first month, the sale in the trade and demand from subscribers exceeded 80,000 copies and the numbers already issued of the combined work are universally conceded to have surpassed, in the richness of their literary contents and the beauty and profusion of their pictorial illustrations, any magazine ever before issued from the American press. Encouraged by these evidences of favor, the publishers have determined to commence the new volume in January with additional attractions, and to offer such inducements to subscribers as cannot fail to be in circulation, at the head of American Magazines. With this view they now announce the following splendid programme. They have purchased that superb and costly steel-plate Engraving, "THE LAST SUPPER," and will present a copy of it to every three-dollar subscriber for the year 1858. It was engraved at a cost of over $6,000, by the late celebrated A. L. Dick, from the original of Raphael Morghen, after Leonardo Da Vinci, and is the largest steel-plate engraving ever executed in this country, being three times the size of the ordinary three-dollar engraving.

The first impressions of this engraving are held at $10, and it was the intention of the artist that none of the Engravings should ever be offered for a less sum than $5, being richly worth that amount. Thus every three-dollar subscriber will receive the Magazine one year—cheap at $1—and this splendid engraving, richly worth $5, thus getting for $3 the value of $8.

We shall commence striking off the engraving immediately, yet if you had expected that impressions of so large a plate can be taken so fast as they will be called for by subscribers.—We should therefore, furnish them in the order in which subscriptions are received. Those who desire to obtain their engravings early, and from the first impressions, should send in their subscriptions without delay. The engravings can be sent on rollers, by mail, or in other manner, as subscribers shall order.

$20,000 IN WORKS OF ART. In addition to the superb engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," which will be presented to every three-dollar subscriber for 1858, the publishers have completed arrangements for the distribution of the 25th of December, 1858, of a series of splendid works of art, consisting of ten thousand copies of fine old paintings, valued at from $100 to $1000 each. Also, 2,000 magnificent Steel-Plate Engravings, worth from $3 to $5 each, and 1,000 choice Holiday books, worth from $1 to $3 each, making in all, over THREE THOUSAND GIFTS, worth TWENTY THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Enclose $5 to the publishers and you will commence receiving the Magazine by return mail.—You will also receive with the first copy a numbered subscription receipt, entitling you to the Engraving of "THE LAST SUPPER," and a chance to draw one of these "THREE THOUSAND AND PRIZES."

Reasons why you should subscribe

EMERSON'S MAGAZINE FOR 1858. First: Because its literary contents will, during the year, embrace contributions from over one hundred different writers and thinkers, numbering among them the most distinguished of American authors.

Second: Because its editorial department, "Our Studio," "Our Window," and "Our Ohls," will each be conducted by an able editor, and it will surpass, in the variety and richness of its editorial contents, any other magazine.

Third: Because it will contain, during the year, nearly six hundred original pictures of illustrations, from designs by the first American artists.

Fourth: Because for the sum of $3 you will receive this splendid monthly, more richly worth that sum than any other magazine, and the superb Engraving of "The Last Supper."

Fifth: Because you will very likely draw one of the three thousand prizes to be distributed on the 25th day of December, 1858—perhaps one that is worth $1,000.

Notwithstanding that these extraordinary inducements can hardly fail to accomplish the objects of the publishers without further effort, they have determined to continue thro' the year

THE GREAT LIBRARY OFFER.

To any person who will get up a club of twenty-four subscribers, either at one or more offices, we will present a splendid Library, consisting of over Forty Large Bound Volumes embracing the most popular works in the market. The club may be formed at the club price, $12 a year, without the engraving, or at the full price, $15 a year, with the engraving of the last Supper to each subscriber. List and description of the Library, and specimen copy of the Magazine will be forwarded on receipt of 25 cents. Over 20 Libraries, or 8,000 volumes, have already been distributed in accordance with this offer, and we should be glad to furnish a library to every clergyman, to every school-master, or to some other very good office in the country.

AGENTS GETTING RICH. The success which our agents are meeting with is almost astonishing. Among the many evidences of this fact, we are permitted to publish the following:

GENTLEMEN:—The following facts in relation to what your agents are doing in this section may be of use to some enterprising young men in want of employment. The Rev. John E. Jordan, of this place, has made, since last Christmas, over $4,000 in his agency. Mr. David Heath, of Ridgely, Mo., your general agent in that county, is making $8 per day on each of his agents employed by him, and Messrs. Welmer & Evans, of Oregon, Mo., your agents for that state are making from $8 to $25 per day, and yet humble servant has made, since the seventh day of last January, over $1,700, besides having 500 acres of land out of the business worth $1,000. You are at liberty to publish this statement, and to refer to any of the parties named.

DANIEL GREGG, Carrollton, Mo. With such inducements as we offer, anybody can obtain subscribers. We invite any gentleman out of employment, and every lady who desires a pleasant money-making occupation to apply to us for an agency. Applicants should enclose 25 cents for a specimen copy of the magazine, which will always be forwarded with answer to application, by return mail.—

SPECIMEN ENGRAVING.—As we desire to place in the hands of every person who proposes to get up a club, and also of every agent, a copy of the engraving of the "LAST SUPPER," we will receive the Engraving, post-paid, return mail, and also specimens of our publications and one of our numbered subscription receipts, entitling the holder to the Magazine one year and to a chance in the distribution. This offer is made only to those who desire to act as agents or to form Clubs.
