

Crowds of people have thronged our usually quiet village since Monday last, attracted here by the courts which are now in session. Of these the majority are the citizens of our own county, while a small minority are from adjoining counties. Some are here in search of justice, and some are seeking to evade their obligations; some are in search of adventure, and some are seeking to escape the consequences of some former adventure; while some doubtless are for nothing in particular. At all events we are glad to meet so many of our friends and acquaintances, and to see our town enlivened by the presence of such a variety of fine specimens of human nature; and we extend to them a hearty welcome.

The uncertainties of the law have long been proverbial and those who attempt to unravel them often become deeply entangled in their meshes; yet we can always resort to it when every other means has failed to right our wrongs, and redress our grievances. And although it may be to us in many instances like the candle and the moth, it is after all the great palladium of our social system; which the more we respect, and the more we strive to preserve the noble structure perfect in its outward proportions, and pure and undefiled in its inner chambers, the more will it prove to us a temple of security from wrong, and safety from oppression.

THE PRIMARY ELECTIONS.—We find it impossible to give the result of the late primary elections in this county. The official vote by districts will be given next week.

The names of the successful candidates will be found at our mast-head, and it will afford us great pleasure to use all honorable means to secure their election—a result we look upon as not at all doubtful, for the reason that we are quite sure that no ticket ever gave greater satisfaction to our party friends, considering the warmth of the contest for the nomination.

Pic-Nic.—The pleasure seeking part of our citizens had a grand Pic-Nic in the grove east of this borough on last Thursday. The amusements of the day consisted in dancing, strolling and chatting in the cool shade of the fine grove in which it was held, and in discussing the delicious viands which had been prepared in abundance for the occasion. We were unfortunately too much engaged to be able to participate in the affair but we have been assured that it was one of the most pleasant and agreeable of the season; which is saying a great deal, for there have been a number of charming Pic-Nics in this vicinity during the summer.

THE JUVENILES. had also a Pic-Nic in the grove on Friday last in the same place where the one was held by the adults the day before. From this one too we were compelled to absent ourselves, although much against our will. The young folks also indulged in the healthful and innocent amusement of dancing, and judging from the happy looks of all the young masters and misses upon their return to town, they must have had a delightful time.

TRUMPETING.—Even in the throng of court week it seems almost impossible to pick up an item worth noting, and much as we desire to gratify our readers in this particular, we sometimes feel like giving up in despair. Our case reminds us so forcibly of the story of the French leader of the orchestra in a Theatre "Out West" which we met with in the "Belleville Watchman" last week, that we cannot help repeating it.

He was flourishing his baton in the most frantic manner—the fiddles were speaking the brass instruments were braying—the cymbals were clashing, and the orchestra was making all the noise it possibly could. But a man in the pit was not satisfied. "Louder! louder! louder!" he yelled.—The French leader dropped his baton in despair, wiped the perspiration from his brow, told the orchestra to cease playing, and in tones of indignant supplication exclaimed, "ze gentlemen may say low-dare, but vere ze diables all we get ze wind, begar."

A CURIOSITY.—We were shown quite a curiosity a day or so since by Mr. Gulich of this place. It was nothing else than a fine large cucumber encased in a glass bottle, the neck or orifice of which was not over half an inch in diameter, while the cucumber was not less than two inches in diameter, after cogitating for some time upon how so large a cucumber could get through so small a place, we finally concluded that it must have been like Pat's cannon, which was first a pistol and then grew to be a cannon.

CAMPMEETING.—A Campmeeting has been in progress near New Milport in this county since last Friday. We have not been able to ascertain many particulars concerning it, except that it was very well attended, and very good order prevailed. The exercises closed on Wednesday.

CAMPMEETING.—A Campmeeting will commence in the neighborhood of Mr. Bloom's two and a half miles from Curwensville on the 27th, inst. This meeting is to be conducted under the auspices of the United Brethren, and is expected to be largely attended.

THE WEATHER still continues warm, and dry, and the earth is again beginning to need moisture. The "dog-days" threaten to continue as sultry throughout as they began, making one of the hottest summers we have had for a number of years.

THE PRIMARY ELECTIONS are over and the candidates apprised of the result.—Those who have been successful have reason to congratulate themselves upon it, and those who have not been, should rest content, and console themselves with the old saying of "better luck next time."

We have had the pleasure of meeting a number of them since the result of last Saturday's labors have been ascertained, and all seem satisfied, if not gratified therewith. This is just as it should be, and such incidents always tends to enhance our estimate of the qualities of human nature, which have been censured in all ages of the world for illiberal and selfishness. The character of the true man is always best developed in adversity and misfortune, and the more philosophy he brings to his consolation in defeat, the more worthy he will be deemed of success in future. Prosperity too has its facilities for showing the man in his true light, and in this connexion we are proud to be able to say that the victors on this occasion "bear their blushing honors meekly."

GREAT BLOW.—The wind about two o'clock yesterday afternoon, rose to high tide, and afforded considerable employment, and some amusement in the way of hat-chasing which in several cases became quite exciting between the owners and the fugitives. We did not see any Crinoline in the hurricane, but we very much fear if any was exposed to its fury that it would scarcely escape danger.

COURT.—The August Term of our courts commenced on Monday last. The Honorable Jas. Burnside reached here on the Sunday evening previous; which enabled him to call court on Monday forenoon.—Since the sittings of the court commenced, a number of causes have been disposed of and considerable other business transacted, court will probably adjourn on Saturday forenoon.

BE WISE.—To improve the understanding is among the most laudable of human desires; he who devotes his time and his energies, to the furtherance of this object may justly be considered a public benefactor. We would therefore take this occasion to say that Mr. Joseph Goom, who has well earned this distinction, has recently removed his boot and shoe store to the first door in the east end of Shaw's new row, in this borough, where he has on hand, and is constantly manufacturing all kinds of merchandise in his line for both ladies and gentlemen; which he proposes to part with for the above purpose for unusually small quantities of what he calls the "ready rhino." See his advertisement for full particulars.

THE FOND MEMENTO.—Wm. T. Purviance, of Pittsburgh, Ambrotypist, expects to visit this place in three or four weeks and will devote a portion of his time while here to the practice of his art. The papers speak flatteringly of Mr. P.'s proficiency as a photographer. All who are desirous of obtaining excellent likenesses should avail themselves of this opportunity of securing "the shadow ere the substance fade." Mr. P.'s stay in this place will be brief.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—The thanks of all hands in this office are due to Mr. R. B. Taylor of the restaurant on second st. for the large and delicious jelly-cake presented by him yesterday; which furnished an ample feast for each one, and lots of fragments left. By-the-way Taylor is a clever fellow and deserves success in his business generally, and the "devil" thinks, he ought especially to be encouraged in making such judicious presents.

LUTHERBURG, Aug. 14, 1858.
Editor Republican.—The Harvest Home held at this place on Thursday the 12th of August inst., was, I am glad to say, quite a lively affair. The arrangements were all well made and admirably carried out. Every thing which was calculated to render the occasion pleasant, was amply provided for, for which much credit is due to the gentlemanly managers, and especially Jas. C. Barrett, Esq. who was kept constantly busy attending to the wants and comforts of the Company.

The dinner was of such a character as to reflect endless credit on the culinary skill of our hospitable ladies and the rich profusion of eatables with which the table was laden, shows conclusively that nothing was intended to be saved if it could possibly be appropriated by their tiny fingers to the wants of us poor sinners who were eager to do full justice to the excellence of the repast.

The meeting was addressed by Rev. Johnston of Jefferson county, and Rev. Brenderhall of this place, and I. Test, Esq. of the borough of Clearfield. And here let me remark that it never has been my pleasure to listen to a more chaste, eloquent and sublime address than the one which fell from the lips of Mr. Test, and the general enthusiasm which it aroused, will ever dwell on the minds and hearts of those who had the unspeakable pleasure of listening to it.

In the evening a democratic meeting was held at Mr. Goodlander's. The meeting was quite large and respectable. Here too, Mr. Test made a point by his pungent wit and cutting sarcasms. He spoke for about one hour and twenty minutes, during which time, he seemed to hold his audience completely under his control. Dr. T. J. Boyer also made a short speech in the evening.

On the whole, Mr. Editor, this was quite a gala day for Brady, and one that will long be remembered by her quiet citizens. I hope Mr. Test will take occasion in future to visit our democratic township.

"THE DAILY PENNSYLVANIAN."—We are in the daily receipt of this able and long established Democratic Journal. This Pennsylvanian is one of the leading Democratic papers of the country, and the leading one in Pennsylvania. As a champion of Democratic principles it has few equals, and certainly no superior in the whole country. As a medium of general news, and interesting information, and as a vehicle for general advertising, its large size and extensive circulation it is especially valuable. The publisher has our thanks for his kindness in putting us on his daily exchange list.

JOSIAH RANDALL AND THE CHINA MISSION.

From the New York Herald.
PHILADELPHIA, August 9, 1858.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.—A letter published in your paper of 7th inst., dated at Saratoga Springs, states, among the arrivals at this place, "Josiah Randall, one of the Pennsylvania Old Line Whig supporters of Mr. Buchanan, who would have preferred to go to China."

This is one of those flippant remarks in use, or rather abuse, of which some of the correspondents of the press are in the habit of indulging themselves, without any knowledge of the matter of which they write. The innuendo, that I desired the mission to China, or any other mission, has not even the semblance of truth. In the community in which I live such a statement would be laughed at as its absurdity; but I have friends at a distance who have not the same means of knowing the truth.

A short time after the election of Mr. Buchanan, in accordance with an invitation from that gentleman, I visited him at Wheatland. I had a full interchange of opinions with him on the subjects connected with his coming administration in the course of which I neither desired, nor would accept of any appointment under him; and from that position I have never yet moved. It is well known that for some years past I have had, and still have, judiciary interests under my care which would prevent my acceptance of any office, either abroad or at home.

The measures of Mr. Buchanan's administration have received my most cordial support. In the recent diplomatic discussion with Great Britain he has exhibited himself as a dignified and conservative statesman, and shown that a great nation can be conciliatory without forfeiting its self-respect, and he has placed his country before the world in an attitude that challenges either criticism or rebuke.

I also approve of the course of Mr. Buchanan in relation to the Lecompton Constitution of Kansas, with the single qualification that I never would have accepted of any compromise or modification of the principles laid down by him in his message to congress on that subject. But he has stood by the rights of the South and steadfastly defended them throughout the whole contest. It is time our Northern friends should know that no other Administration of the government will preserve our Union.

So long as Mr. Buchanan shall preserve this attitude I will adhere to him and no longer. I have no favor to ask from him; my motives are entirely impersonal, and I am governed by the desire alone to perpetuate the peace and prosperity of our common country.

JOSIAH RANDALL.
The Atlantic Telegraph Cable.

EXPLANATION FROM AN ELECTRICIAN FOR THE DELAY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The following message from Mr. De Sautey, one of the assistant electricians of the Atlantic Telegraph Company, and who is credited with being the first to apply the Morse instrument to submarine telegraphing, has been received:

TRINITY BAY, Aug. 14.

To the Directors of the Atlantic Telegraph.—The cause of not transmitting and receiving intelligence through the cable, is that the instruments require a great deal of care and adjusting—I am doing this as fast as possible. You should not look upon the Cable as an ordinary short telegraph line, that can be worked through directly. The Cable has been successfully laid, and telegraphic signals have passed through at pleasure, but we have encountered many little difficulties, which require time, and which only many experiments can entirely overcome.

I see no reason to doubt that we shall be able within a few days to surmount all difficulties. I will send the earliest intimation of the probable time that the Queen's message may be expected.

DE SAUTEY

Note.—In addition to the above, a private despatch has been received from a reliable gentleman at St. Johns, who is in a position to obtain the earliest and most correct unofficial intelligence concerning the operations, in which he states that communications from the office at Valentia Bay have been received, but from some unexpected cause it has been impossible to send that or any other intelligence to the operators at Valentia.

This state of things often occurs upon land lines, i. e., one office can receive correctly from a distant operator, and yet unable to send a word, and the difficulty is sooner or later found to be in the battery, its connections, or the instruments, and there is no reason to doubt that the present difficulty in working the cable will, as soon as the electricians can compare notes, be entirely overcome.

An American Chess Player in England

Mr. Paul Morphy, the New Orleans chess player, whose arrival in England has already been noted, is creating considerable interest among the chess magnates of London, by his superior play and the pluck he exhibits in offering to match for any amount with the best chess players of Europe. His challenge to all Europe, which we have already published, has been accepted by Stanton, the well known English author, and the meeting is to take place some time in September next. As yet, Stanton and Morphy have not met; and there is, so far, no means of testing the relative skill of the two champions. The match is for $2,500 a side. Twenty-one games are to be played, drawn games not counted, and the winner of a majority of them takes the stakes. It is also understood that negotiations are on the tapis for chess contests between Morphy and Harwitz, while it is not unlikely that the American champion will break a lance with Professor Anderson the great Prussian player.

From private letters received in this city, we learn that Mr. Morphy has so far proved victorious over all the players he has met in England. His most formidable antagonist so far has been Mr. Barnes, a celebrated amateur, who succeeded in beating Morphy four games, but was in turn worsted eight games by the American. All Morphy's other competitors have been badly beaten. The interest of the chess world now centers in the Congress which will meet at Birmingham on the 24th, 25th, and 26th, 27th of August next. It will be attended by all the great chess players of Europe, as well as by Mr. Morphy. A number of American amateurs will sail shortly from New York, to participate at Birmingham. Mr. T. Frere, Secretary of the Brooklyn Chess Club, among others sails in the North Star, which leaves New York on the 31st inst.

MISTEROUS CASE.—Quite an excitement is said to exist near Millersburg, Iowa, in consequence of the spiritual revelations of a boy, asserts that Thomas, whose mysterious disappearance was noticed a year ago, was shot, and then thrown into the well of one of the persons arrested, about that time, on suspicion of being his murderer; and that his horse was "backed" down the well alive, and the well filled up. A large number of persons congregated about the well on the third ult., to dig down and ascertain the truth of the boy's story.—When they had dug down about 25 feet, a stench arose so nauseating that they had to fill up the well. It was their determination, however, to dig from the side of the well. But the owner swears he will shoot any one who makes any further attempts.

The Blount De Riviere Affair.

Some of our contemporaries, in writing of this Zouave is to marry the subject of his adoration, Miss Blount. This is a mistake. The young lady asserts unqualifiedly that they were lawfully married before they made the tour to New York, and had lived as man and wife for weeks before the separation. The secret of his pertinacity, then is simply to hold on to the prize already won. The fact of his having another wife now living in the State of Pennsylvania seems to be, in the present state of the case, the only family obstacle to his success.

By the way, we learn that the romantic captain grew quite chivalrous on the eve of his departure from Savannah. He remarked on board the steamer that fighting was simply a pastime with him, and if any gentleman desired to be amused in that way, he was always ready to accommodate him after breakfast hours, as he was generally at leisure the remainder of the day. He would lie over till the next summer to oblige a belligerent—meet him half way, or rather than be nice about it, go the whole distance himself. Verily, the Zouave is a trump.

The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many pious and professional friends, through whose philanthropic aid the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience and treatment within the reach of all, and not confine myself as heretofore, to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping, therefore, that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, are prepared to suit each individual case.
