Home Affairs.

THE WEATHER since the last of last week has been in all respects every thing that could be desired, both as to temperature and brightness. In short it has been perfectly enchanting; and nothing has prevented us from going off into some extra ebullition of feeling, such as inditing an etherial sketch of the beauties of nature, or giving vent to our overpowering sensations in a few stanzas of machine poetry, but the fact that we have scarcely had time, except on Sunday, to look up at the lovely azure canopy spread over us.

ALONE IN OUR GLORY.—In consequence of the absence of Mr. Purviance, our valuable and accomplished foreman, who has gone to Pittsburg in the capacity of a U. S. Juryman, we have been thrown upon our own resources for a week or two, assisted by our young hands. Happily for us however the latter are both expert and willing, and we have no fears for the result. And we trust our readers will find the "Republican" as interesting as usual. Should however any mistakes occur in the mechanical execution of our paper, we trust they will be excused on the ground of our inexperience.

THE OLD APOSTLE, or as the boys call him, "Old seven day," by his "free speech" proclivities, succeeded in obtaining a formal introduction to our worthy Sheriff, on last Friday; and very narrowly escaped becoming a guest of our candidate for coroner, who occupies the aristocratic looking stone Mansion near the Court House, which is sometimes called the "Jail." The old man should remember in his endeavors to "reform the wicked" and "reclaim the ungodly" that every man's private character is by law considered sacred, and cannot be assailed, with wantonness and impunity.

SOME BEANS.—It is considered the acme ignorance not to "Know beans:" but we were considerable puzzled to know that a very nice present for which we are indebted to Mr. Bradly, residing in the vicinity of town, for "beans" and very large ones too. The pods measuring from eight to ten inches in length. They were the product of Mr. B's. garden from some new seed, of which this is the second year's planting. Mr. B. has our thanks.

A FREE FIGHT.—We have been informed that a general riot took place a few days ago in Bucaria township at or about the premises of the notable Samuel Vedder. A number of the citizens of that vicinity were engaged in it and warrants have been issued for several of them. We have not been able to obtain any particulars, except that fire arms were used with considerable freedom, but no serious bodily injury was sustained by any of the combatants.

RETIRED.—L. F. Irwin Esq. late one of the Editors of the Berwick Gazette, has retired from his connexton with that paper. Mr. Hibbs his late partner has now the entire control of the Gazette.

Mr. Irwin has since returned to the home of his boyhood, where we understand, for the purpose of recruiting his health, he intends engaging in a calling which though equally as laborious, will be less perplexing than publishing a newspaper,—the pursuit of agriculture.

Our best wishes attend him in his new calling.

OBITUARY.

DIED.—In Philipsburg on Saturday the 4th, of Sept. JAMES ANDREWS of Maine, aged about 24 years.—

The sudden death of this young man, under the circumstances, is sadly suggestive of the impropriety of readily yielding to temptation, and thoughtlessly indulging in frivolous conduct that too frequently as in this instance, is followed by melancholly results. Experience is a good teacher, and yet with its every day lessons as a directory, how apt are men to lose sight of its teachings, and at an unguarded moment fall into snares, the fatal folly of which either terminates life, or embitters it with many blistering reflections—no seeming danger surrounded this youth, as he stood upon the threshold of eternity—no monitor warned him of death as he eagerly leaned on the fatal weapon that drank his blood—no special mark distinguished him as the one who in the midst of life, health, and enjoyment, was to be stricken down on that night; and yet sacrificed he was, not by an uplifted arm whose stroke might have been seen and arrested, but by the treacherous dagger whose sting to him was death.

To those who were his companions engaged with him in this thoughtless sport that has terminated so tragically, we think this should be a lasting lesson, whatever hereafter may allure, they should never forget this terrible and summary affliction which hurried one as young, thoughtless, gay and perhaps as innocent as they, to and early grave; that will rend the heart of a distant mother—that will blight the hope of a confiding father—that will blanch the cheek and bend the form of a fond sister—that will carry sorrow to a happy family now far from where a brother sleepeth, that has already sealed the destiny of two,

The one in death,
The other in misery.

BOROUGH OF LUMBER CITY.

Mr. Editor:

Sir, whereas, our Court at its sitting last week, after due petitioning, and application being made, and the matter having been submitted to the Grand Jury of Clearfield county at the last term, did in accordance with the power vested in them by the law, and the act of assembly on the subject, proceeded to, and did incorporate the town of LUMBER CITY, in this county into a borough, and appointed the fourth Tuesday of September 1858, as the time, and the school house in said borough as the place, for holding the first election for officers of said borough, and appointed Amos W. Hyle to give notice of the election, James Hagerty to be Judge, and Thomas McCracken and James Crossley inspectors of the same.

Now, Mr. Editor, as many of the readers of your paper my be unacquainted with Lumber City, or its locality, I hope that a few words from a resident therein, in relation to the same, may not be unacceptable. Lumber City, is located on the Northwest side, of the west branch of the river Susquehanna, at which place the river is about one hundred feet wide, with a substantial wooden bridge over the same, and extends parellel to said river about two hundred and sixty-two perches: and from said river, at right angles at each end, about one half mile or 160 perches; there are two streets in said town parellel to the river, on the one of which nearest to the river, the greater number of buildings in the town, are now erected; there are also three or four cross streets running at right angles from the river.—Across the river near the upper end of the town the Hon. A. K. Wright is erecting a large dam and is about to erect a large Grist mill, at the place for the accommodation of the town and vicinity. Immediately opposite the town, on the South and Eastern banks of the river, a hill or rather mountain, rises most majestically, in an abrupt ascent to the height of between six and seven hundred feet. The face of the hill is covered with trees of every description, presenting to the eyes of the beholder, from the streets of the town in summer, the appearance of a beautiful and ascending sheet of living green, and in the fall when the leaves assume a different hue, presenting a beautifully variagated scene of green, orange, red and yellow. Lumber City is distant from Clearfield about 12 miles, Curwensville 6 miles, Ansonville 6 miles, Cherrytree 20 miles, and from Pennville 4 miles. Its population is not very large, not exceeding perhaps 150 souls; but its sons, like the sons of the of the Forest elsewhere, are stout hardy and energetic, and no men can more ably wield the axe, or handle the oar, when the floods pour their rapid streams down this rough part of the Susquehanna. Burns has said that no town surpassed Old Ayr, for "honest men and bonny lasses" but had he seen and been acquainted in our city in Penn township, he would have conceded that amongst our Quaker, country born, and a little sprinkling of Dutch and Irish population, he would have found as honest and patriotic men as old "Scotia" ever produced, and as to his "bonny lasses" I am sure that old Caledonia could scarcely produce a daughter, who for rosy cheeks, bewitching eyes and amiable dispositions would excel the daughters of the humble village of Lumber City.

FORGOT THE BABY.—On Friday last a large number of persons made an excursion in the cars to Fairview, a short distance below this Borough, to enjoy themselves pleasantly in the woods. Shortly after their arrival the mother of a child three months old, placed it in the care of an aunt. In the evening when the cars were about to return to the city, and the child was fast asleep on the ground in the grove, the aunt started in search of her bonnet. She had just sufficient time to return and get on board the train. Not observing the child in her hurry she supposed the mother had taken it, but unfortunately the two ladies got into different cars each supposing the other to have the child, so that it was not ascertained until the arrival of the train at the depot, corner of Broad and Prime streets, that it had been left behind. The father immediately hired a hack and returned to the grove, and was overjoyed to learn that a female, living in the neighborhood, had had her attention attracted to the sleeping infant by the barking of a dog, and had it taken home. Here the father found it, and was on his return to the distracted mother and aunt, who, as may be expected, were overjoyed at the return of the child; Moral—Always look out for the baby.—(Chester Republican.)

A NICE JOKE.—A newly arrived John chinaman in shasta, california, says an exchange, purchased some ice recently, and finding it very wet, laid it out to dry in the sun. on going to look for it again, he found that it had disappeared, and fourthwith accused the whole chinese neighbourhood of larceny. A general riot was the consequence. This is about as good as an anecdote we heard the other day about a lady of the Irish persuasion. Biddy had just arrived and obtained a place to do general housework, soon after which she innocently inquired of her mistress how the ice was to be dressed and whether it was to be cooked for dinner.

A White Woman Escapes from Slavery.

We copy the following interesting case from the Maysville (Ky.) Eagle, of Thursday afternoon:—One of the most remarkable and intensely interesting cases ever brought before a court of justice, was tried and disposed of in our Circuit Court last week. The plaintiff, Ann Goddard, was a handsome young white woman about twenty-one years of age, perfectly white, with long, luxuriant, and straight hair, graceful and easy in manners, and having all the appearance of an accomplished and well raised lady. Her features bore the highest marks of European perfection, and there was not the slightest indication of African blood in her veins. She brought suit here for freedom, alleging that she had been forcibly arrested and lodged in the negro jail of the late James McMillan, under the claim of the defendant Mary Goddard, that she was a slave, "when in truth she was a free white woman."

The suit was brought nearly two years ago by Hon. R. H. Stanton and prosecuted by him, with the assistance of Hon. W. H. Wadsworth and Judge J. D. Taylor, and defended by Hon. H. Taylor and T. C. Campbell, Esq. When the jury was sworn, the only testimony relied on by the plaintiff was the exhibition of her own person, for their inspection, for counsel cite the fact of her freedom, and the presumption thus being raised, it casts the burden of proof upon the defendant to prove her a slave. An attempt was then made by the defendant to prove her the daughter of a mulatto named Matilda, by whom the plaintiff had been reared from infancy, but in this they did not succeed, as no witness was introduced who was present at the birth of the child.

The case was ably argued on both sides, and much feeling was manifested in the community on behalf of the plaintiff.

When the jury brought in their verdict to the effect that she was a "free white man," the Judge was compelled to oblige the audience upon impropriety of any demonstration of applause in a court of justice, in order to keep down a universal cheer to show the satisfaction given by the result.

THE PRESIDENT AT RELAY HOUSE.—A reporter of the Baltimore Sun was on the Relay House, to take notice of the President's arrival there on his return from Bedford springs to Washington. He says:

"We soon perceived the President coming from the cars to the platform, looking hearty, but then slightly travel soiled, smiling and cheerful. By his side, and evidently offering with gentlemanly courtesy of attention, was rather a rough looking individual, whom we took for a conductor or brakesman, (the gentleman will excuse our blundering in such a matter,) but, upon inquiry, we were informed was Sir William Hore Ouseley.

On passing into the bar-room the President threw off his coat and white neckcloth, carelessly putting them over a chair, opened his shirt collar, and tucked up his sleeves for a wash, convenience for the purpose being in the apartment. At the time, however, both basins were occupied by two young men, neither of whom seemed to be aware that the President was about. He waited patiently some time, when some one spoke and invited him up stairs. He declined, however, quietly remarking that he would 'wait for his turn.' As soon as the basins were vacated he took his turn, in a jolly good wash in the bar-room.

At about this time a person who had come into the room, sung out pretty near to him, 'Look here, I thought the old Prez was to be here to-day.' The speech was cut short by a nudge, while a momentary comical expression passed across the face of that same 'Old Prez.' A cigar was handed to him by a friend: he took a good satisfying drink of—not 'old rye,' which he is said to affect, when prime—but ice water; had barely fired up the cigar, when the bell rung, and 'all aboard' summoned the chief magistrate of the United States to his seat in the cars, and away they went to Washington.

We took our admiration of this scene of republican simplicity quietly with us into the cars for Baltimore, and mused with some complacency over the sterling glamor of an American citizen."

When Daniel Webster, says an exchange was delivering his memorable speech at the dedication of Bunker Hill monument, the crowd pressed forward to such an extent that some were fainting and some being crushed. Officers strove in vain to make the crowd stand back; they said it could not be done. Some one asked Mr. Webster to make an appeal to them. The great orator came forward, stretched forth his hand, and said, in his deep stentorian tones, "Gentlemen stand back!" "It cannot be done," they shouted. "Gentlemen, stand back," said he, without a change of voice. "It is impossible, Mr. Webster, impossible!" Nothing is impossible on Bunker Hill," and the vast crowd swayed and rolled back like a mighty wave of the ocean.

GREAT REVIVAL—RAIL ROAD!

A NEW CONVERTED. The great railroad has done immense good in almost every State, county and town in the Union, except that of Clearfield. Therefore, in consideration of the above fact, Frank Hoyt has taken the responsibility upon himself to revive the dull times in business in Clearfield, and set a good example to his fellow men. He has no intention to his old customers, and as many new ones as may favor him with a call, that he has on hand a large assortment of Ready made and Gentlemens' clothing made to order, out of any cloth to his customers. Morocco, French calf, and Pat. leather gaiters constantly on hand.—Feeling his obligations to rip. Customers coming to town will find him at the shop formerly occupied by R. R. Wright, directly opposite Read and Weaver's store. Call in boys and get new coats of your old ones repaired, as some of them stand in great need of it.

A CARD.

From Dr. James M. Jarrett, of THE NEW YORK LUNG INFIRMARY.

My connection for the past eight years with the above Institution, as Chief Physician, makes twelve years a course of steady devotion to the

of Pulmonary Consumption, and its kindred diseases, together with my unrivaled opportunities and advantages of profoundly research, (which I lack a little by a perfect system of

has entitled me to assure all a decisive, direct and successful course of treatment for the positive and radical cure of all diseases of the

THROAT, LUNGS AND AIR-PASSAGES.

By inhalation the curative properties of medicines are directly administered to the diseased organs and the integuments. I do not advise the use of Medical Inhalation of any kind, to the exclusion of GENERAL TREATMENT; and although I consider it a useful adjuvant in the proper management of those fearful and often fatal diseases, yet I deem it very necessary that each patient should have the benefit of such constitutional and local treatment. The success of my treatment in the above diseases, and the high character of the Institution over which I have so long had the honor to preside, are too well known to need any eulogy or comment from me. At the solicitation of many private and professional friends, through whose philanthropic and the above charity has been long and liberally supported, and after due consideration, I have concluded to make such arrangements as will bring the benefits of my experience on treatment within the reach of all, and not confine myself as heretofore, to those only who entered the Infirmary, or who were able to visit me at my office. Hoping, therefore, that the arrangement will give entire satisfaction, both to my professional brethren and the public, I would respectfully announce in conclusion, that I can now be consulted personally or by letter, on all diseases as above, and that the medicines, the same as used in the Institution, are prepared to suit each individual case.

Inhaling Vapors, Medical INHALERS,

&c., &c., will be forwarded by express to any part of the United States or the Canadas.

TERMS.

My terms of treatment by letter are as follows, viz:—$12 per month for each patient, which will include medicine sufficient for one month's use; also inhaling vapor, and an Inhaling Apparatus. Payment as follows: $6 to be paid to Express Agent on the receipt of the box of Medicine, and the balance $6 at the expiration of the month, if the patient be cured or is entirely satisfied with the treatment. Patients, by giving a full history of their case, and their symptoms in full, can be treated as well by letter as by personal examination. Patients availing themselves of Dr. Jarrett's treatment may rely on immediate and permanent relief, as he seldom has to treat a case over thirty days. Letters for advice promptly answered. For further particulars address

JAMES M. JARRETT, M. D.

No. 820 Broadway, cor. Tenth St., N. Y.

P. S.—Physicians and others visiting the city are respectfully invited to call at the Infirmary, where many interesting cases can be witnessed, and where our Improved Apparatus for the inhalation of medicated vapor can be seen and inspected.

Does Disease Originate in IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

THIS is a question of vital importance, and one which has never been satisfactorily settled. Many of the professors who treat the living system, maintain and speculate on the different humors—but these are the effects and not the cause—the modern and the ancient say it is the solids and fluids of the body. That the latter preponderate, however, is a fixed fact, and medical skill has clearly demonstrated that three-fourths of the ills that human flesh is heir to, have their source in an Impure State of the Blood!

As instances, in the long catalogue, such as Scrofula, Tetter, "Barber's Itch," Pimples, Blotches, Erysipelas, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Discharges from the Ear, Fever sores, or irruptive Diseases of any kind.

These are ascertained by well known medical laws to arise from bad blood—while the highest medical authorities declare that most fevers originate in the same manner, and more particularly Typhoid and Scarlet—the former being an internal, and the latter an external irruptive disease; and in all persons attacked by these maladies the blood is found to be coagulated, or of a dark unhealthy color.

To ward off a large majority of diseases, as well as to cure a number which have already seized upon the system,

IT IS NECESSARY TO

PURIFY THE BLOOD.

DR. J. M. LINDSEY: Dear Sir—I take pleasure in acknowledging the great benefit your Improved Blood Searcher has been to my son. He has been afflicted with what physicians called a scrofulous disease of the absobing glands of the stomach. He has been afflicted with this disease from infancy. He is now fifteen years of age; during all this time he has had several severe attacks, and all the food taken into the stomach imparted little strength to the system. I had several eminent physicians attending him, but I found very little advantage, as the disease still returned with all its awful consequences.

In April 1857, he had a violent attack, so much so, that all who saw him supposed he was in the last stage of Consumption. I was advised to try your Blood Searcher; I accordingly procured one bottle of it, and by the time he had used it he appeared restored to perfect health.

It is now one year since he used your invaluable Blood Searcher, and I am perfectly satisfied it has saved him from an untimely grave. I now unhesitatingly recommend it to all who may be similarly afflicted, and deem it no more than justice to bear this public testimony to its virtues.

Respectfully yours, &c.
