A CREEP HOAX.—The citizens of this community were made the victims of a cruel hoax on last Monday evening by the reported death of our esteemed young townsman Wm. W. Betts on last Friday, by being thrown from a carriage near Meadville where he is now on a visit.

Mr. Betts is a general favorite with the community and his supposed fate cast a deep gloom over it until the next mail brought strong evidence of the story being a hoax.

The cake voted to the Editors was duly received, and the schools have the thanks of all hands including the "school," who says it is a good thing to be a printer sometimes.

HANDSOME.—The Bouquet we received yesterday. The fair donor has the thanks of the recipient, and his wishes that nature may always afford her an ample supply of those fragrant and brilliant adornments, and her heart be always light enough to appreciate and enjoy them.

MANSION HOUSE.—This popular Hotel situated at the corner of Main and Second streets, still continues to afford the comforts and luxuries of life to the weary traveler; and under the management of Mr. Weaver its clever proprietor, and his gentlemanly assistants, is one of the best Hotels in this part of the state.

THE CORN AND BECKWEAT have had a fine opportunity to ripen, during the late fine weather, and they may now be considered very nearly out of danger of the frost. A few days at a frost will be sufficient to make the Buckwheat safe—the Corn we think is so now.

LAND FOR SALE.—We neglected last week to call attention to the advertisement of the Messrs. Otto & Filbert of five tracts of valuable timber lands on Simmesmahoning for sale. They are among the most valuable lands in the county. They offer a fine chance for investment.

COAL OIL LAMPS.—S. E. Southland of Philadelphia advertises a fine article of Coal Oil Lamps, which seem to be a very superior article. See his advertisement in another column.

ORPHANS COURT SALE.—The Admrs. of Lyman Miles late of Beccaria tp. dec'd., offer for his real estate for sale. It is a very desirable property for a man wanting a small farm.

THE WEATHER, for the past week has been clear and fine with rather chilly mornings and evenings but without frost. To-day however it has commenced raining and looks gloomy enough. The temperature is still mild.

DR. VALL'S GALVANIC OIL has done more good, performed more cures, and relieved more pain, than any other medicine in the known world. It has cured a wonderful case of Spine Disease, in the person of Nancy Ann Martie, Troy, N. Y., and many others could be mentioned.

An Atrocious Outrage.

Professor Whalen, late Principal of the Missouri Blind Asylum, in St. Louis, is well and favorably known to our citizens generally, and to those of Philadelphia, Pa., and Nashville, Tenn. He is almost wholly blind, yet has habituated himself to traverse the streets without serious inconvenience.

Having resigned the position he had honorably filled at the Asylum, and concluded his business arrangements he yesterday set about seeking a steamer on which to dispatch his efforts to Pittsburgh, en route for Philadelphia. It is to be regretted that, unused to the active world, and deprived of sight, the worthy gentleman's habit of self-reliance should have led him alone, and on such an errand, to meet the perils of the levee.

At about 3 P. M., while passing near the foot of Pine street he was courteously addressed by a stranger, who, after a slight conversation, offered him his arm to conduct him across the street. It was accepted, and on learning that his polite street friend was named Miller, Mr. W. was further delighted when the agreeable reminiscences of Captain Miller of Nashville, suggested by the name, were intensified by this prompt avowal of Miller, "That Captain Miller is my father?" Mr. W. was captivated, and a long and animated conversation followed, during which the parties walked far, and Mr. W. trusted to his friend to "keep the run of the streets."

At about five o'clock he inquired where they were, and Miller appeared unable to tell. Mr. W. asked a person who was passing and was told that they were in Fifteenth street. He was slightly startled, and his friend proposed to accompany him to the Planter's House, where they would get supper, and meet Capt. Miller. But the friend turned westward, which direction Mr. W. assured him was wrong, and they agreed to wait and take a bus down Franklin avenue. In the meantime they entered Carr Place, passed some twenty steps from the gate and sat down. Presently Mr. W. found himself gagged, gagged and held fast! He struggled desperately, and on the instant, supposing that—as he still thinks—another person had attacked him, he tried to call on Miller to help him. But he could not speak, and when his exertions to free himself encouraged the hope of success, he was struck very violently upon the forehead and temporarily stunned. On recovering, he found himself apparently alone, all his pockets but one turned outward, and himself poorer by $250. The money was in bills of many varieties, and the fact of his possessing it had been drawn from him during the conversational stroll. Twenty dollars was left him, in a vest pocket. This was attributed to the casualty that he had taken a pin cushion from that pocket in Miller's presence. The villain was led to judge that no money was in that pocket. No clue remains by which to identify these infamous scamps, for it is deemed certain there were two or three of them.—From the St. Louis Democrat, 2d.

THE FAIRFAX FAMILY.—The London Athenaeum, reviewing Black's Picturesque Guide to Yorkshire, says:—"Of local and family histories there are few more interesting than that of the fair-haired Saxon Fairfaxes, of Yorkshire, who held land in England before the conquest, whose territorial possessions have passed into the hands of strangers, and whose present representative in the English peerage is a born American of American parents, residing at Woodburn, Maryland, in the United States of America! The American estates acquired by marriage by a Fairfax, some century and a half ago, proved no slight compensation for lands which had passed away from the family in England; and now under a republic, Baron Fairfax has a home which he does not quit for attendance in the House of Lords."

WEALTH.—Wealth, true wealth, is that possession which satisfies the heart. Palaces and lands may still leave a man miserable. To be satisfied in one's cell—to feel no aching void—to sleep peacefully, and wake without pain, regret or remorse—such is wealth. With the roughest pillow becomes soft, the roughest way smooth, the darkest future bright, and their possessor stands up a man, conker which follows power and fame, and independent of the exigencies which make and shiver crowns.—For the promotion of the good, the beautiful, of the true—gold, goods, and lands are a heritage from heaven; but when warmed in a napkin, and bound to the heart, they congeal human sympathies and blast human life.

The Yellow Fever is still raging in New Orleans at a fearful rate. It has also made its appearance in Charleston and other Southern cities.

The State Military encampment which commenced at Williamsport on last Thursday is still in progress. About twenty companies were in attendance. Gov. Packer reviewed the troops on last Thursday.

A friend thus describes his summer's gardening operations: "The bugs on our cucumbers, our chickens ate the bugs, our neighbor's cats ate the chickens, and we are in hopes that something will now eat the cats."

A little wretch who had for the first time in his life, heard the scripture story of Elijah and the bears, sat down on the doorstep until an old man went by, when he called out, "Go up, old bald head, then dodging as quickly as he could within the door, he called out, "Now bring on your bears!"

THE REASON WHY.—A small lad asked permission of his mother to go to a ball. She told him it was a bad place for little boys. "Why, mother, didn't you and father use to go to balls when you was young?" "Yes, but we have seen the folly of it," answered the mother. "Well, mother," exclaimed the son, "I want to see the folly of it, too."

LIVING BEES.—We have lately read a very sensible plan for living a swarm of bees. Watching them as they came from the hive, and seeing where they were gathering to settle on a tree, the owner put a large wooden-yarn stocking on a pole, and thrust it up through the limbs, and immediately the bees began to alight upon it and were soon all clustered, when he gently lowered the pole to a table the good wife had prepared while he held the swarm, and then placing the hive over the bees, the pole was withdrawn from the stocking, and in five minutes they went to work cleaning out their new house.

THE NEXT DAY, the "women folks" lived a swarm in the same way without any man to assist.

LONGEVITY OF MULES.—We have numerous reports of mules attaining the age of forty, fifty or sixty years, and Col. Middleton, of South Carolina, stated some years ago that he had a mule in his plantation eighty years old and we have seen an account of a mule in Iceland, certified to have been at work since 1707, making him over one hundred and fifty years old. This is, of course, a very uncommon age, but we are satisfied that, with proper usage, mules would commonly attain to about forty years, being serviceable to the last, and this should be counted as one of their elements of value.

A WATERSPOUT AS SEEN IN THE EASTERN PASSAGE TO CHINA. After a very close night, attended, as usual in these regions, by thunder and lightning, we were surprised at dawn by being surrounded by what seemed to be a dense cloud, perfectly impenetrable to the eye; but which as morning further advanced, cleared off to the westward, disclosing a most beautiful rainbow—which, contrary to the usual semicircular appearance that it possesses ashore, seem, by the reflection of it on the sea, to be one vast circle of the most brilliant colors; but after contemplating this magnificent sight, on turning to the eastward, different feelings were excited, not altogether unmixed with wonder and fear, for the clouds on this side, instead of clearing off had assumed a greater consistency, and seemed to be drawn together by some vast hidden power presenting the appearance of a common column, which was quite small at the base, but as it rose diverged on all sides till joining the clouds, when it entirely obscured the view of the horizon in that quarter. We surveyed this awful phenomenon for some time before its true character occurred to us; but as it neared us, the whirling of the water, which appeared to be drawn up to the clouds in rapid spiral revolutions, accompanied by a noise of distant thunder, proclaimed it to be, beyond doubt a waterspout. Our position now began to be one of danger, it being ahead calm, so that we seemed to have no chance of escaping the spout, which was rapidly approaching us.

So absorbed were we in watching this cause of danger, that we had very nearly fallen victims to one of those sudden squalls which infest the eastern passage to China. Having had very light weather we had all sail set, and, consequently, when the squall caught us, we were in imminent danger of losing our masts, but which, thanks to their size and our good rigging held out manfully for about two hours when the squall, which had joined the waterspout entirely disappeared, leaving us in sight of the island of Dana, bearing W. 5 miles in lat. 112 S. lon. 124 deg. 30 sec. HEAT OF THE MOON.—Prof. Piazi Smith, the Astronomer Royal for Scotland, in his interesting account of a recent scientific expedition made by him to the Peak of Teneriffe, has set at rest the vexed question of the heat of the moonlight. He says that his theoretical instruments were sensibly affected by the moon's rays, even at the lowest of the two stations occupied by him at different elevations. In tropical climates, meat which is exposed to the moonlight, rapidly becomes putrid, and in the Indies the negroes, who liveveiling and uncovered beneath the full glare of a tropical sun, carefully muffle their heads and faces when exposed to the moonbeams, which they believe may cause swelling and distortion of the features and sometimes even blindness.

Does Disease Originate in IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD. THIS is a question of vital importance, and one which has never been satisfactorily disposed of by the professors who teach the healing art. Some maintain—and especially the old school Physicians—that life lives in the blood, and therefore all diseases originate in it—but modern science avers that ailments have their origin in both the solids and fluids of the body. That the latter preponderate, however, is a fixed fact, and medical skill has clearly demonstrated that at least two thirds of the ills that human flesh is heir to, have their source in an Impure State of the Blood! As, for instance, in the long catalogue, such as Scrofula, Tetter, "Barber's Itch," Pimples, Blotches, Erysipelas, Ulcers, Salt-Rheum, Discharges from the Ear, Fever sores, or irruptive Diseases of any kind.

These are ascertained by well known medical laws to arise from bad blood—while the highest medical authorities declare that most fevers originate in the same manner, and more particularly Typhoid and Scarlet—the former being an internal, and the latter an external irruptive disease; and in all persons attacked by these maladies the blood is found to be congealed, or of a dark unhealthy color. To ward off a large majority of diseases, as well as to cure a number which have already seized upon the system, IT IS NECESSARY TO PURIFY THE BLOOD. LINDSEY'S IMPROVED BLOOD SEARCHER DOES NOT CLAIM TO BE A Universal Panacea for every disease known, but the proprietors claim for it the power not only of Draining out All Impurities of the Blood, but by the skillful combination of well known VEGETABLE REMEDIES It will cure all diseases arising from a deranged state of the Liver—drive out Dyspepsia, and give renewed tone and vigor to the Stomach.

That the Blood Searcher is all that is claimed for it, the Proprietors can produce THE PROOF: It is only a few years since it was discovered, and yet it has grown into such a business that a large Laboratory has been built expressly for its manufacture—a large number of men employed in putting it up, and still The Supply does not Equal the Demand! We ask any candid man could this be so, if the Medicine did not possess ALL the virtues claimed for it? The Proprietors have hundreds of certificates from men of probity and standing in the community, showing what the medicine is doing daily for the suffering. ASK ANY PERSON Who has ever used the Blood Searcher Whether Relief was Experienced. Let the afflicted give it a trial—a single bottle will convince the most skeptical of its efficacy. Dr. J. M. LINDSEY: Dear Sir—I take pleasure in acknowledging the great benefit your Improved Blood Searcher has been to my son. He has been afflicted with what physicians called a scrofulous disease of the absorbing glands of the stomach. He has been afflicted with this disease from infancy. He is now fifteen years of age; during all this time he has had several severe attacks, and all the food taken into the stomach imparted little strength to the system. I had several eminent physicians attend him, but I found very little advantage, as the disease still returned with all its awful consequences. In April 1857, he had a violent attack, so much so, that all who saw him supposed he was in the last stage of Consumption. I was advised to try your Blood Searcher; I accordingly procured one bottle of it, and by the time he had used it he appeared restored to perfect health. It is now one year since he used your invaluable Blood Searcher, and I am perfectly satisfied it has saved him from an untimely grave. I now unhesitatingly recommend it to all who may be similarly afflicted, and deem it no more than justice to bear this public testimony to its virtues. Respectfully yours, &c. JAMES F. DEVLIN, Poultry Station, A. P. R. Road. Mr. Devlin is well known to the citizens of Indiana and West-Scotland counties. July 6, 1858. FOR SALE BY—C. D. WATSON, Clearfield. JAMES B. ALL persons are hereby cautioned against purchasing or in any way meddling with the following property now in the possession of Isaac Seefeldt: Seven acres Corn in the Ground, three acres buckwheat, one and a half acres potatoes, a lot of rye in the barn, (about 900 bushels), a lot of oats and a lot of hay—one sorrel horse seven head of horned cattle, thirteen hogs, one four horse wagon, one fanning mill, three ploughs, and two harrows. Also the one third of fourteen acres of corn and ten acres of buckwheat—the same having been purchased by me and left in his care only, subject to my order and control.
