

"Life on the Ocean Wave"
The man who wrote it was green,
He never has been to sea,
And a storm he has never seen,
He never has heard a roused
From the morning's gentle doze,
By the sound of splashing water,
As it fell from the horrid hose!
He never has heard a man
Scrubbing right over his head,
With a noise sufficient to rouse
From the grave the slumbering dead.
He never has seen a fat woman
Growing thinner day by day,
And leaning over the vessel's side,
Throwing herself away.
While people looked curiously on,
Though in tears the woman may be,
And unfeeling say it is nothing at all,
Only the roll of the sea.
And O! he has never been sea-sick,
And crept into bed in his coat,
While every motion increased his throes
And his feelings were all in his throat.
That man may have sailed in a boat,
In some puddle, or on a sound;
But if he has been to sea and wrote
Such a song, he deserves to be drowned.
N. Y. Spirit of the Times.

Agricultural

How to Raise Early Potatoes.—As I have never seen the plan adopted here, in raising early potatoes, mentioned in any agricultural paper, I herewith give it. About six weeks previous to the usual time of planting in the open ground, mark out a piece of ground, say four or five feet wide, and as long as required, on a dry and sheltered place; dig out the surface to a depth of five or six inches; place boards around to keep up the loam or sand; then fill to the depth of six inches, with horse or some manure which has been thrown over to produce heat and tread it down lightly, as for a hot-bed and cover the manure with four inches of loam, or what is better, sand, as the sprouts are tougher and do not separate so easily from the potato in lifting. I cut my potatoes a day or even weeks before, and place them cut side down. At night cover with straw or coarse hay; in the morning, if mild, and no rain, take off the covering and replace at night. In case of continued dry weather a slight watering may be of service, though seldom necessary. When the time for planting arrives, land manured and furrowed, take up the front board, and with a dung fork lift as many as it will hold; give them a shake, and separate each plant carefully by hand, placing them in a basket or box; then drop them either for hills or rows, and have a person follow to cover as fast as possible, placing an inch or two of earth over the tops, through which they will break in a few hours.
If planting has been delayed from any cause and the plants should have attained considerable growth, (I have planted them when a foot high and had them do well,) lay them down and cover as above. If your field is not too far from your dwelling, make the bed there, as it saves exposure in carrying the plants to a distance. With a few boards and stakes a shelter can be made to keep off the cold winds.
By sprouting potatoes in this way you can have them ready to dig at least three weeks earlier.

THE CONSTELLATION.
A. B. BENJAMIN, Editor.
"A Constellation is but one,
Though 'tis a train of Stars."—Dryden.
THE subscriber has great pleasure in announcing that he has made arrangements to issue on Saturday, January 1, 1859, the largest, handsomest and most complete Weekly Newspaper ever published. It will be a superb folio sheet, double the size of the New York Ledger; containing nine broad columns on each page, 35 inches in length, and double the quantity of reading matter given by any weekly paper now published; embracing the choicest and freshest matter, selected and original, furnished from abroad as well as at home. It will be in all respects, a Living Journal; containing the productions of the most popular writers in liberal quantity; Romances, Stories, Essays, Poems, Anecdotes, Sketches, Notices of Amusements and the Arts, &c., &c. in fine, all things which are new, beautiful, interesting and attractive. Each number will contain not only a carefully condensed synopsis of the General News during each week, but also the very latest information and Telegraphic Dispatches up to the hour of going to press. The Constellation will not be an Illustrated Paper, as the picture sheets are, but it will contain beautiful Designs and Engravings, when they really illustrate and ornament a subject.
The subscriber has already engaged a Corps of Contributors, "a Train of Stars," unequalled for genius, brilliancy, and reputation by those of any other journal now published, no matter what may be its pretensions. It is with no slight gratification that he announces his success in engaging a staff of contributors, the able and experienced services of a gentleman, so long and so justly eminent. Mr. Park Benjamin, Connected for twenty years with the press of New York City, and always successful in his literary enterprises, whether as Editor, Author, or public speaker, the name of Mr. Benjamin is an augury of certain good fortune.
The public may rest assured that no means will be untaken by the subscriber to secure a grand and brilliant accomplishment of his effort to establish the largest and best weekly paper ever published—since nothing will be left undone that can be done by talents, capital, experience, learning, and a resolute perseverance.
"The Constellation" will naturally recommend itself to a cordial and generous support from the very best people by its observance of good and avoidance of evil. It will be an unobjectionable and perfect family newspaper—giving offence to no set or party—the favorite alike of both sexes—of young and old. The subscriber, having had nearly a quarter of a century's experience in the publication of daily and weekly journals, and having now connected himself with such well known and valuable editorial aid as he has therein, flatters himself that this new enterprise will at once achieve a popular favor and success unparalleled in newspaper enterprises.
The terms for "The Constellation" will be two dollars per annum each, when ten copies are sent in one envelope to one address, $49 00, Twenty-eight copies to another address, $49 00, Fifty copies do. do. $80 00, One copy do. do. $3 00, Two copies do. do. including postage or delivery, $3 00.
All subscriptions to be invariably in advance. Single copies, Five cents. To Newspaper agents, $3 50 per 100.
A late Saturday evening edition will be published, and left early Sunday mornings at the residences of City subscribers, by regular carriers, employed by the publisher. Those who desire to commence with the first number, should send in their subscriptions and orders as early as possible—since, owing to the immense size of the sheet, only such numbers will be printed as may be ordered.
All orders and letters to be addressed to the undersigned,
GEORGE ROBERTS,
12 and 14, S. 2d Street, New York.
Nov. 17, 1858.

LOOK HERE! LOOK HERE!
THE undersigned subscribers, take this method of informing the public generally, that they have this day entered into copartnership in
THE BLACKSMITH BUSINESS,
and can be found at the shop formerly occupied by J. Shunkwiler, on Third street, in this borough, where they will be pleased to see the old customers, and as many new ones as can make it convenient to give them a call.
Bring on your hoes, your spades and picks, Your log-chains and your pulling sticks, Your sleds, your sleighs, your horse, your mare, No three-year old shall then go bare.
Your spurs will work up then just right, To prouning hooks for every height, Your swords too, shall then be wrought, To ploughshares such as Cain never bought.

NEW WORK FOR AGENTS.
The Life, Speeches and Memorial of
DANIEL WEBSTER,
Containing his most Celebrated Orations, a Selection from the Eulogies Delivered on the Occasion of his Death, and his Life and Times;
BY SAMUEL M. BRUCKER, A. M.

This splendid work is just published, in so large a volume of 500 pages. It is printed on superior paper, and bound in beautiful style; contains 25 eulogies, 12 eulogies of his life, and a full-length life-like Steel Portrait. The publisher offers it with confidence to the American public, and is convinced that it will supply an important want in our literature. No work was to be obtained heretofore, which presented, within a compass and convenient compass, the chief events of the life of Daniel Webster, his most remarkable intellectual efforts, and the most valuable and interesting eulogies which the great men of the nation uttered in honor of his memory.
We present all these treasures to this volume at a very moderate price, and in a very convenient form. Subscription price, in cloth, $1 75; handsomely embossed leather $2 00.
Persons desirous of becoming Agents for this valuable work, will address, for full particulars,
DUANE RULISON, Publisher,
35 South Third Street, Philadelphia, Pa. [no. 7, vol. iv.]
