

FROM AFFAIRS

Clearfield County Bible Society. At the ensuing meeting of the Bible Society ordered for Thursday Evening, the 12th inst., the Hon. James Burnside and Hon. Geo. R. Barrett will address the meeting, and H. Bucher Swoope will deliver his Lecture on "The Literature of the Bible." J. B. MCENALLY, Sec.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.—As the anniversary of American Independence is near at hand, we may be excused for making inquiry whether any attempt at celebrating the occasion in an appropriate manner is contemplated by our citizens. Certainly there is patriotism enough yet in the hearts of the people to devote at least one day in a year to testify their gratitude for the blessings secured them by the declaration and maintenance of our national independence. Then let us have a celebration on the glorious fourth. We spend both time and means in the pursuit of objects much less worthy, and never think of considering either wasted. And we can certainly afford sufficient of both to have a creditable and pleasant affair on the Nation's birthday.

SENTENCED.—Andrew Hays, who has been in prison for some months waiting his trial, for robbing the store of Mr. Riddle in Kirtland township some time last spring, yesterday pleaded guilty upon two indictments, and was sentenced to four years solitary confinement, in the Western Penitentiary. The unhappy young man will in a few days be taken to Pittsburgh, to serve out, in solitude and suffering, this long period which the offended laws demand, as an atonement for the indulgence of evil passions which ended in crime. What a melancholy sight to witness a young, healthy and intelligent man, bearing the image of the Creator, condemned to drag out four miserable years in the gloomy cell of a prison, and away from the glorious light of day, and an association with creatures of his kind.

How trifling the brief enjoyment procured by crime, compared with the sacrifice of integrity, self-respect, and in the case of detention, liberty and all that constitutes the happiness of life!

Who would not strive to resist temptation in the outset, to maintain his integrity, and escape a fate so deplorable for the present, and so hopeless for the future?

TROUT FISHING.—On Monday afternoon and Tuesday forenoon of last week, Senator Cresswell and U. J. Jones, of this place, took from the waters of Bobb's creek 171 dozen trout—two large baskets full—many of them varying from ten to twelve inches in length. What says our friend of the Harrisburg Telegraph.—Blair County Wks.

We find the above going the rounds of the papers, and while we admit that our worthy Senator and Mr. Jones are skillful anglers, must claim that Clearfield fishermen can surpass them in enticing the speckled beauties from their native element. Senator Bigler, while on a fishing excursion on Trout Run, a few days ago, succeeded in capturing twenty and two-third dozen (248) beautiful trout in one day. It can be beaten we should like to hear of it.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—We learn that on last Wednesday, Reuben Bernal, a son of Judge Bernal of Brady tp., a young man of about twenty-three years of age, met with a very serious, and it was for some days feared a fatal accident, at the raising of the Barn of Mr. Jackson Bernal. He was thrown from the building, several heavy timbers falling upon him, inflicting a much internal injury. The young man remained insensible for a long time, and it was feared that he would not revive. We are happy to state that he has been gradually recovering, and it is now hoped that he is nearly if not quite out of danger.

COURT COMMENCED.—On Tuesday morning, and is still in session. Hon. James Burnside, arrived on Monday evening and in the morning following took his seat upon the bench, along with his Associates, looking very well, but quiet and gentlemanly manner. But a few causes have as yet been disposed of, but those were of importance and occupied considerable time. We shall give a full report thereof next week.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.—We neglected last week to call attention to the advertisement of Jas. K. Boak, Esq., who is the agent for three thousand acres of valuable timber lands near the mouth of Great Mohanion Creek. These lands are heavily timbered, and are among the best in the country. We know of no better opportunity for investment, and no more gentlemanly individual, to deal with than Mr. Boak.

THE WEATHER since we last recorded its condition, has presented its usual variety, wet and cold, however, prevailing. During the latter part of last week the atmosphere was at times quite chilly and considerable rain fell. The present week, this far, has been more genial, but fully as moist as its predecessor. Still there is an absence of the extraneous usual at this season of the year, exceedingly agreeable to persons who don't like hot weather.

For all sore and painful diseases, such as Neuralgia, Sick Headache, Piles, Pain in the Breast, Cramp in the stomach, &c., use DU VAL'S GALVANO OIL. It will give relief in from five to thirty minutes.

MARRIED

On Thursday the 9th inst., by Wm. Porter, Esq., Mr. Wm. S. DAVIS, to Miss Mary Jane Kline, daughter of Martin Kline, both of Lawrence township, Clearfield county.

On Wednesday the 1st inst., by Isaac Lemon, Esq., Mr. John McNATT, to Mrs. Mary BARTLEY, both of Pennville, in this county.

On Thursday the 9th inst., by Isaac Lemon, Esq., Mr. ALLEN McDONALD, to Miss Sarah Mearns, both of Penn township, this county.

On the 9th inst., by John G. Cain, Esq., Mr. John G. Warrick, to Miss Sarah Ann Youngkin, both of Becaria tp. Clearfield Co., Pa.

DIED

From the Central Press. On Friday, June 3, ELLEN W. BURNSIDE, relict of the late Hon. Thimmas Burnside, aged 73 years, 8 months and 17 days.

She to whom we would yield the tribute of a few paragraphs, had lived for forty-five years in this borough, as a wife and mother—and in all that long series of years she left no duty unperformed belonging to the wife, nor did she neglect a single labor of the many invested in the holy responsibilities of a mother. In these relations she displayed her qualities best, when soothing the afflicted or dispensing the boundless devotion of her heart.

None but a mother can appreciate a mother's anxious care and devotion. None but a mother responds to a mother's sympathy, and earning her title of "mother to the poor," she passed from the gayeties and pomp of an exalted station in society, to find the objects of her charities and attention among the suffering and neglected. Her's was not a charity that sought for applause. She did not exhibit her goodness in professions. She met the wants of the afflicted by answering them, not in censorious advice, but in real benevolence and assistance. It is not strange, then, that a whole community should mourn the loss of such a woman. It is not strange that the public heart should beat with sorrow, because society has lost a valuable member, and that better part of the world, whose virtues and goodness are seldom exposed to the rude gaze of the multitude, mourn the loss of one who was to it a model of matronly dignity, and a preceptor in the principles of social grace and religious truthfulness.

In such mothers are invested the peace of whole communities. They shed around them an influence more potent than law, and win to their obedience and admiration not only those joined to them by the ties of consanguinity, but all who can be imbued with a sense of what is just, honorable and right. Even if they are unheralded as they pass through life, or descend into the grave in silence, the influence of their actions are stamped upon every nation's history. It requires neither penitence nor song to perpetuate their memories. It asks neither bronze or marble to preserve their fame. But in man's improvement, and his approximation to his original purity and dignity, he traces the cause to the first lesson received from a cherished mother's lips, and the effect in a dying mother's blessing.

We need not seek further to disclose the virtues and noble goodness of the dead. We need not allude to the title of matronly honor which she earned while living, nor need we point to the promise which ensures her a glorious position among the exalted in Heaven. These are engraved on the hearts of her neighbors.

Her memory, like the sunshine, will flash on those who have known her, every morning. Her character, like the broad light of day, will always be loved. And in the recollection of her gentler attributes, men and women will often bask as they recline in the holy, quiet light of evening. Alas for the mother whose generation begins to take their place, gives so small a promise of so few like them.

Literary Notices

THE WAGNER NOVELS.—The enterprising publishing house of Peterson & Brothers, 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, continue to send as fast as published their elegant uniform edition of the novels and romances of Sir Walter Scott. The series will comprise all his prose works of fiction to the number of twenty-six volumes, all in uniform style and completely adapted for binding. They will be sent for 25 cents per volume, or the entire set of 26 for $6. This is the best opportunity we have yet met with of obtaining these works complete! (The price being much lower than ever they have been offered by any publishing house in America or elsewhere.) Those who desire these works should not let this opportunity pass without obtaining them. Remember, 25 cents per vol. the set of 26 for $6, or two copies of each for $9, sent to any part of the United States free of postage. Address T. B. Peterson & Brothers, No. 306 Chestnut street, Philadelphia.

Milliet's Illustrated Magazine.—This monthly magazine of the fashions, published by M. A. Milliet, No. 320 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, for July, has been received and is an elegant number. The price is low—$1 per annum.

The Mrs. Society continues in a flourishing condition and holds its meetings weekly as usual. The next meeting will take place at the residence of D. W. Moore, Esq., on next Tuesday evening.

STAVELAND

Staveland, we understand our Cornwells neighbors are at present, luxuriating upon strawberries. We have not seen any of this delicious fruit in our town except what has been grown in gardens, and we should not be a particle offended if some of our friends in that enterprising village would send us a few quarts of these dainties.

Why is it?—We published a few weeks since, the commencement of a story entitled "One-Eyed Sam," which was to be continued in the New York Weekly. We have been informed that persons wishing to obtain that paper for this purpose of reading the story have been unable to do so. Why is this? Has the Weekly ceased to exist? If not, why can it not be obtained?

The BANK THAT NEVER SCAUDS.—A bank of issue may be in excellent credit to-day—to-morrow a small run on it may close its doors. Even a bank of earth may sometimes fail, but the bank from which the "Improved Blood Searcher" is issued never fails. The people have confidence in its issues, because it redeems its promises, so that every body takes Blood Searcher as a purifier. Warranted to give satisfaction.

A HIGH ESTIMATE.—What does the reader think of the "scandalous" editor who could give this answer to a correspondent? "JENNIE—Minister's are not more addicted to dissipation than the men of other professions. A few of the Kallioh type take gin toddies and liberties with females, but the great majority of them are as good as lawyers and doctors. If you want a true Christian marry and edit."

ON EDITORS.—An editor, who lived at a hotel, being absent one night, the landlord took the liberty of allowing a stranger to occupy his room. In the morning the ungrateful lodger left the following written on the margin of one of the editors old newspapers:—

"I slept in an editor's bed last night. And others may say what they please; I say there's one editor in the world. That certainly takes his ease."

"When I thought of my tumble out, away, I could not suppress a sigh. But thought as I rolled in the featherly nest, How easy editors lie? STRANGER."

A WRITER in Household Words thus describes the appearance of Napoleon III: "He is grizzled, cadaverous, and lamine in the left hip, and labors to conceal this last defect. His walk is awkward. He turns out his toes, and leans heavily on the strong stick he carries in his well-gloved hand. He is carefully dressed, but though his coat fits him accurately, he has not the air of a perfectly dressed man. His figure is not improved by the cuirass which his coat will not conceal. Every step he takes is studied, while his eyes scans every passer-by with a look which has something uncanny in its expression."

PASSION POETRY.—I gave her a rose and gave her a ring, and I asked her to marry me then; but she sent them all back the next day, and said she had no notion of men. I told her I'd oceans of money and goods, and she said she'd brought up in the woods, and to be scared by the screech of an owl. I called her a baggage and everything bad; I slighted her features and form; till at length I succeeded in getting her mad; and she raged like a sea in a storm. And then called her my an turned and smiled at me, and my arms like a warlike chieftain, and exclaimed, "We will marry this fall."

A LIVING FAITH.—In a public school in New York, a short time since, an alarm of fire, a terrible panic ensued, and many of the scholars were injured by rushing to the doors, and one of the teachers, a young lady, jumped from a window. Among the hundreds of children, with whom the building was one girl, among the best of the school, who through all the frightful scene, maintained entire composure. The color indeed forsok her cheek. Her lip quivered. The tears stood in her eyes, but she moved not. After order had been restored, and her companions had been brought back to their places, the question was asked her, how she came to sit so still without apparent alarm, when everybody else was in such a fright. "My father," said she, "is a fireman, and he told me if there was an alarm of fire in the school, I must sit still."

A COUNTRY LADY ON VIRTUE.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune, writing from a village in Illinois, says: "I asked an old lady of the church, in confidence, if she really thought a 'dis-virtuous' woman would become virtuous by joining the church. She jerked her cap border, adjusted her 'specks,' and said, 'yes, if the pecky men would let her alone!' And I believe she is right."

LATEST TELEGRAPHIC DISPATCH

FROM DUNDALK, IRELAND!!!

As this seems to be a fast age in more than one instance, and as we are in the midst of a bogus democratic convention, and the excitement caused by the Sikes trial at Washington, it is not surprising that the folks of Clearfield would get somewhat excited to keep up with the times; and as the subscriber likes to keep up with the fashions in more respects than one, he would announce to the people of town and country, French and Country Calf, Kip and Suede Boots, Ladies' Morocco Lane Boots, Dressing Boots, La Fure, or without French Heels; also any amount of French and Country Calf, Lace Boots, Gents' French Calf and Cloth Gaiters on hand, or made to order on short notice.

Walking shoes of every style, from the "Sikes" Lacer to the coarsest brogan, always on hand and for sale. All of the above will be disposed of at extremely low prices, for Cash or Hides.

Custom work made to order and on short notice. I will pay particular attention to mending boots, shoes and gaiters; and will always be found at the Short Shoe Shop, on 2d street, near by opposite Reed & Weaver's store. Please call and see Shury. F. SHURT. Clearfield, May 4, 1859.—3m. no. 16, vol. iv.

The "Great Republic" Monthly.

TO THE PUBLIC, THE BOOK AND PERIODICAL TRADE, AND THE PRESS.

WE have the honor to announce that we shall issue, on or about the first of December next, as to be in season to receive the attention of the public and the periodical trade, the first number of a new illustrated magazine, to be called the "Great Republic" Monthly. It is intended to make this magazine superior in every respect to anything ever before issued in this country. The general scope of its character can best be understood by its name. It will be thoroughly National—in its scope, editorial, and wholly impersonal. It will offer to the writers and thinkers of this Union a common field, where they can meet on the highest ground of contemporary literature. It will aim to gather about it every variety of intellect.

The range of articles will be a wide one, embracing, among other grounds, History, Sketches, Humorous Tales, Stories, Essays, Incidents, Reviews, Critiques, Biographies, Scientific Articles, Travels, Table Talk, Dramas, Poems, Politics, Fables, Ballads, Statistics, Sonnets, Music, Correspondence, Gossip, &c., &c. The Magazine will be profusely illustrated by the highest style of wood engraving. The literary department will present a general variety, combined with more thorough excellence; it is believed, than ever before offered to the American public in a single periodical. The editorial and literary contributors are included in the list of contributors engaged.—Geo. D. Prentiss, Charles Swain, Fitz-Green Hall, Chas. J. Ingersoll, Orestes A. Brownson, Geo. F. Morris, Nathaniel Dearborn, Hon. Chas. Gayarre, Wm. Gilmore Simms, Park Benjamin, Hon. Albert Pike, of Arkansas, Abbe Adrian, Hon. R. T. Corwin, Rep. Frank Hoyt, [etc., comprising a long list of writers, among whom are many of the most popular in the country.]

Each number will contain an original piece of great compass expressly for this work. Of the superior excellence of the Magazine in every respect, and of the certainty of its permanent success, very little more need be said. The terms and general conditions of the Magazine will be as follows:—There will be two volumes a year, of about 700 royal octavo pages each, commencing in January and July, and ending in June and December, respectively making 24 numbers to each volume, and 48 numbers to the whole. Subscriptions may commence at any time. Single copies, 25 cents; subscription, one copy one year, $5 00; clubs, three copies one year, $15 00; clubs, four copies one year, $20 00; clubs, five copies one year, $25 00; and all additional copies, over five, at the rate of $2 00, if sent to the same office. All subscriptions must be paid in advance. Premiums Subscriptions, entitling the subscriber for one year, and for all their choice of either of our two great steel engravings, entitled "The Last Supper," and "The City of the Great King." Four Dollars.

The engraving will be sent on rollers by mail, prepaid. Agents and canvassers can make liberal and satisfactory arrangements upon application, stating the territory required. All postmasters and clerghymen are authorized to receive subscription which they may forward to us, giving name and address of subscriber, and deducting 25 per cent. for their trouble. The rate of postage will not exceed three cents for each number, to be paid in all cases at the office where it is received. All communications to be sent to the office, and all cases write Names, Town, County, and State in full, as legibly as possible. There is little risk in sending money by mail. Large sums should be remitted by draft, if possible, or registered letters. Publisher of the "Great Republic" Monthly, 112 and 114, William Street, New York. LARGO AND BRILLIANT WEEKLY MONTHLY.

CLEARFIELD GAS COMPANY.

A preliminary meeting for the organization of the Clearfield Gas Company will be held at the Court House in Clearfield on Saturday the 4th day of June 1859, at 5 o'clock P. M. Citizens friendly to the project are desired to be in attendance, as several offers for the erection of the works have been had, and important business will be transacted.

JOHNATHAN BOYNTON, SAMUEL MITCHELL, WM. A. WALLACE. May 25th, 1859.
