

Clearfield, Pa., November 14, 1860.

What is to Follow?

All the non-slaveholding States, with the exception of New Jersey, have chosen Electors favorable to the election of Lincoln...

Much depends upon the true men of the South. But much more depends upon the forebodings of the incoming Administration...

It is our opinion that several of the Southern States will immediately prepare themselves for secession...

As for Mr. Lincoln himself, we believe him to be a true patriot, and rational in sentiment; and so far as he may be left to carry out his own views...

A GOOD PAPER FOR EVERY FAMILY.—All our readers may not be acquainted with one of the most valuable agricultural and family journals in the country...

The President Elect

Abraham Lincoln has been elected President of the United States. This was anticipated previous to the election...

We are told by some of his conservative friends in the North, that he will be held in check by such men as Corwin, Bates, and Rives...

This latter belief seems to have invaded the South, and, having known the anti-slavery sentiments avowed by Mr. Lincoln...

That an exposition of the will of the people may be obtained on a question involving such momentous consequences...

If in the exercise of arbitrary power, and forgetful of the lessons of history, the Government of the United States should attempt coercion...

In addition to the general preparation, I would also recommend that the services of ten thousand volunteers be immediately accepted...

The excitement in the cotton States is indeed alarming. Threats of secession are made by all parties. The excitement in the South has been telegraphed North...

The speeches referred to were extensively circulated by our member of Congress elect, Gen. Patton...

Here comes the first sentiment that would seem to arrest our attention at this time—and a damnable one it is...

"I should like to know if, taking this old Declaration of Independence, which declares that all men are equal upon principle...

"That central idea, in our political opinion at the beginning was, and until recently continued to be, the equality of all men."

"Let past differences as nothing be; and with steady eye on the real issue, let us reinaugurate the good old central ideas of the Republic."

He repeated his theory that all men are created equal, and hence there can be no inferior race rightly held in slavery at Chicago, in July 1858...

as long as I desired to do; and I have only to say, let us discard all this quibbling about this man and the other—this race and that race...

The following extracts go to show the equality idea of the President elect, and should receive a general Abolition application.

"We are now far in to the fifth year since a policy was initiated with the avowed object and confident promise of putting an end to slavery agitation..."

A few weeks after, Mr. Lincoln, in a speech at Chicago, commented on the passage which we have cited from his Springfield speech...

He [Mr. Douglas] says that I am in favor of making war by the North upon the South for the extinction of slavery...

He told his hearers in the same speech that he hated slavery as much as any Abolitionist. This was his language:

The above extracts seem to be the key to the new administration. No wonder the South are excited at the election of an Abolition President...

Notwithstanding Mr. Lincoln has given utterance to the above hellish, disunion sentiment, and thereby elected President of this Confederacy...

Their President says, upon the one hand, that the negro is his equal; and his backers that the white men in the South are a set of barbarians...

Well, when the whipping in goes on, we will try and have a hand in, too. It would be something new to us, but we will try and learn—if we are not too much of a barbarian.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE.—We are in receipt of this popular Lady's Magazine for December. It is a splendid number...

A SOUND FELLOW.—A discussion took place, the other evening, between a Democrat and an Abolitionist, on the status of the negro...

Send for a specimen number of "Byram's Illustrated Lady's Newspaper," the only lady's newspaper published in the United States...

Hon. Chapin Hall will please accept our thanks for a copy of the Majority and Minority Reports on the Pacific Railroad...

Over Again.

Another Presidential election has been held, and a large plurality of the citizens of this Government have expressed their preference for Abraham Lincoln...

The Democratic party had—in the language of a celebrated orator—"the world, the flesh, and the Devil" to contend with...

To those who stood by us we say, well done; but you have done nothing but your duty. Let not those Democrats, who plainly and explicitly declare for Constitutional truths...

The true friends of the Constitution and the Union, who imagine that the Democratic party at the North can sustain itself against the Republicans by standing timidly, shrinkingly, tender-footedly...

Several Black Republican orators, during the campaign just closed, frequently stated in their speeches, in their wise and cute manner...

Several Black Republican orators, during the campaign just closed, frequently stated in their speeches...

Virginia, for instance, has 50,000 slaves; these count but 30,000. If Virginia would abolish slavery to-day...

Virginia, for instance, has 50,000 slaves; these count but 30,000. If Virginia would abolish slavery to-day, she would show 20,000 more of a representative population...

Virginia, for instance, has 50,000 slaves; these count but 30,000. If Virginia would abolish slavery to-day, she would show 20,000 more of a representative population...

Virginia, for instance, has 50,000 slaves; these count but 30,000. If Virginia would abolish slavery to-day, she would show 20,000 more of a representative population...

The Gold Dollars.

It has no doubt been observed by all business men, that the Gold Dollar coin is becoming very scarce of late...

We take the following sensible remarks from a late number of the Philadelphia Trade Journal upon this subject:

"We regret to learn that the Secretary of the Treasury, and the officers of the United States Mint, persist in the stupid policy, if not something worse, of receiving the convenient and useful currency of gold dollars into double eagles..."

The Governor gives notice to Electors of their election before the first Wednesday in December.

On the second Wednesday in February, Congress shall be in session and open the returns. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the House of Representatives...

If the choice devolves upon the House of Representatives, and they fail to make a choice before the 4th of March next following, the Vice President is to act as President.

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed...

There is no constitutional provision for the case where there is neither President nor Vice President elected or chosen in the manner directed by the Constitution...

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed...

There is no constitutional provision for the case where there is neither President nor Vice President elected or chosen in the manner directed by the Constitution...

The Wide-Awakes.

We hope the people of this part of the world have seen the last of a Wide-Awake organization—which is a sort of cross between Know Nothingism and Abolitionism...

Virginia, for instance, has 50,000 slaves; these count but 30,000. If Virginia would abolish slavery to-day, she would show 20,000 more of a representative population...

It has no doubt been observed by all business men, that the Gold Dollar coin is becoming very scarce of late. This is the work of the Shipplaster agents in certain sections of the country...

We regret to learn that the Secretary of the Treasury, and the officers of the United States Mint, persist in the stupid policy, if not something worse, of receiving the convenient and useful currency of gold dollars into double eagles...

On the second Wednesday in February, Congress shall be in session and open the returns. The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the House of Representatives...

If the choice devolves upon the House of Representatives, and they fail to make a choice before the 4th of March next following, the Vice President is to act as President.

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed...

There is no constitutional provision for the case where there is neither President nor Vice President elected or chosen in the manner directed by the Constitution...

The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice President shall be the Vice President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed...

There is no constitutional provision for the case where there is neither President nor Vice President elected or chosen in the manner directed by the Constitution...

There is no constitutional provision for the case where there is neither President nor Vice President elected or chosen in the manner directed by the Constitution...

NOT A DESIRABLE POST.

If any one wants to edit the Vicksburg Sentinel, he may be edited by the following brief history of some of the men who have figured in that position...

A few days since, an extra train loaded with jockeys was transported over the Louisville and New Albany Railroad. The telegraph operator at Salem...