JUGGED.—A fellow named Frank Livingston, of Fox township, was lodged in jail last week, charged with vagrancy.—On hearing on a habeas corpus, before Judge Moore, he was released, having promised to do better in future. Frank is a big, lazy lubberly looking fellow, and seems as though he could "whip his weight in wild cats." He took a parting glance at the bars of the prison, and "cut dirt" for Boone's Mountain

MASONIC ELECTION.—At the annual election for officers of Clearfield Lodge, No. 314, A. Y. M., held on Monday night, the following persons were elected. Daniel Faust, W. M.; R. J. Wallace, S. W.; G. W. Rheem, J. W.; A. C. Finney, Treasurer; S. J. Row, Secretary.

FAST DAY.—The 4th day of January next, is the day recommended by the President of the United States, to be observed as a day of fasting and prayer, for the reasons set forth in his proclamation. We the undersigned pastors of the several congregations in the borough of Clearfield, neighboring charges, unite in exhorting the people one and all, to suspend their ordinary business, close their stores and offices, public and private, the Banks and other public resorts, so as to attend public worship in the different churches where they are accustomed to go. The call upon the ministers and people is extraordinary; the Government and Nation are fully alarmed, the public danger is great and imminent. In this crisis to whom shall we go? Where turn our anxious eyes, but to God? "Seek ye my face —thy face Lord will we seek."

GOV. CURTIN'S APPOINTMENTS.—It is generally credited that the following appointments will be made by Gov Curtin, to wit:

Eli Slifer, of Union county, present State Treasurer, Secretary of the Commonwealth.

John M. Sullivan, of Butler county, Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Titian J. Coffey, of Indiana county, Attorney General, until the Senatorial term of D. A. Finney shall expire, when that gentleman, it is said, will assume the position.

☞On Friday last, a man, whose name we did not learn, whilst working in the deep cut on Section 12, of the Tyrone and Clearfield Railroad, fell down a distance of fifty feet, upon a ledge of rocks, fracturing his skull so badly that he died on Sunday evening.

On no occasion, says the Sprinfield Republican, do people seem more prone to commit blunders than at a wedding. The following actually occurred at a neighboring town:

"In the midst of a crowd of witnesses, the clergyman had just completed the interesting ceremony which binds in the silver bonds of wedlock two willing hearts and stretched forth his hands to implore the blessing of Heaven on the union. At this point the groomsman, seeing the open hands reached out, supposed it was the signal for him to surrender the wedding fee, which was burning in his pocket. Accordingly, just as the clergyman was closing his eyes in prayer, he felt the pressure of two sweaty half dollars upon his open palm. The good man hesitated a moment, appalled at the indecorousness of his situation, but coolly deposited the money in his pocket and proceeded with his devotion."

Drowning Men Catching at Straws.

The miserable subterfuges to which the republican journals are resorting in the "sea of troubles" on which they are tossed suggest the image of drowning men grasping at straws. One of them, pretending to be an organ of commerce, asserted yesterday that "cotton is not king," because some Downeaster says he has discovered a substitute for it in Canadian flax, from which he manufactures what he calls "fibrilla," just as if the fibre of flax will not always make linen, no matter to what process it is subjected. It may prove to be a very good article, and it may turn out a sham: but it will be no substitute for cotton, which is destined to reign king of American commerce for some time to come, notwithstanding the ingenious Yankee invention.

Another republican journal of this city, long befogged in the midst of Mineo's elbows, labored yesterday to show in a long article that the South is of little or no value to the Union, and that "two Lowells are of greater moment than South Carolina in commercial affairs, and Philadelphia is a dozen South Carolinas rolled into one." We would ask what would Lowell and Philadelphia be to-day but for South Carolina and the other cotton States? Because Lowell produces fabrics exceeding in value half the whole exports of South Carolina, ergo, Lowell is double the value of that State to the country. Now the difference is just this, that the threatened loss of South Carolina has shaken the Union to its centre, and Europe itself has felt the shock; whereas, if Lowell were swallowed up by an earthquake, and all New England and her manufactories with it, the loss to the rest of the Union would amount to nothing. Indeed, on the contrary, a large majority of the people would consider the absence of the New England States from the confederation a very great gain. Just let Massachusetts propose to secede from the Union, and she will see whether any of the middle or Southern States will ask her to remain. They could get every description of fabric cheaper from Europe than from Massachusetts, and they would get rid of the disturbing element of her Puritanism.

There is no danger of Revolution and civil convulsion from any of the New England States going out of the Union, whatever may arise from their remaining in. The Massachusetts factories, with the aid of the South, merely give a living to their own population, far inferior to that which South Carolina gives her slaves.—There are no paupers in South Carolina, whose products not only support her own people in comfort, but contribute materially to the sustenance of the white slaves of Lowell. From a pound of iron, worth a few cents, watch springs may be manufactured worth thousands of dollars. But without the iron to manufacture where would be the watch springs and their makers? Without cotton what would Lowell be, and the other towns of New England where it is manufactured? When the South, in exchange for her cotton, takes the goods of Old England instead of those of New England, and at the same time manufactures extensively for herself what will become of the prosperity of Lowell and the wealth of the solid men of Boston? It is only persons whose wits are affected by their desperate situation, that can resort to such flimsy logic as that which constitutes the staple of the republican journals of New York.—Herald.

DIARY OF A "MEDIKUL" MAN.—A pocket diary was picked up in the street in Mobile a few days since. From the following extracts it appears that the loser was a "medikul" man.

MASSACHUSETTS PERONAL LIBERTY BILL. Boston Dec. 18.—A strong address to the people of Massachusetts is published this morning denouncing the unconstitutionality of the Personal Liberty Bill and recommending its repeal. The address is signed by thirty five gentleman, including ex-Chief Justice Lemuel Shaw, Hon. B. R. Curtis, late Judge of the U. S. Supreme Court, ex-Governors Lincoln, Clifford, Washburn, Gardner, and other eminent citizens representing nearly every county in the State.

☞A blacksmith at Montreuil, France, bought, some time ago, a quantity of old iron to work up. Having selected from the heap a musket barrel, he put it into his forge to make it red hot in order to cut it into pieces. As he was pulling it from the fire, a loud explosion was heard, and at the same moment, he uttered a piercing cry and fell dead. The barrel had been left loaded, and the ball striking him above the abdomen, passed thro' his lungs, come out just below the shoulder, and lodged in a wall at some distance.

CLEARFIELD COUNTY, SS.

The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the Sheriff of said county, greeting: Whereas, Samuel Hagey, Lewis Snyder, and George Snyder, Executors of the last will and testament of Nicholas Hagey, late of Chest township, in said county, deceased, have lately presented their petition to the Court of Common Pleas of said county, before the Judges of the said Court, at Clearfield, on the fourth Monday of September, A. D. 1860, to answer Adam Hagey, of a plea wherefore, whereas Adam Hagey and said Samuel Hagey, Nicholas Hagey, George Snyder, jr., and Lewis Snyder, together and undivided do hold the following real estate, to wit: a certain tract of land situate in Chest township, Clearfield county, Pa., in name of Henry Brattler, containing four hundred acres and allowance, adjoining lands of Daniel Gorman, ——McPherron, ——Miles, and others; and it was in such manner proceeded in the said court, that partitions should be made between the parties aforesaid of the messuages and tenements, &c., aforesaid, with the appurtenances. Therefore, we command you, that, taking with you twelve honest and lawful men of your bailiwick, by whom the truth of the matter may be better known to your proper presence, you go to the tenements aforesaid, with the appurtenances, and there, by their oaths and affirmations, in the presence of the parties aforesaid, by you to be warned, if upon being warned they will be present, the tenements aforesaid, with the appurtenances, having respect to the true value thereof, into four equal parts you cause to be parted and divided; and one of the said parts to Adam Hagey, another of the said parts to Samuel Hagey, another of the said parts to Nicholas Hagey, and the other of the said parts to Lewis Snyder and George Snyder, jr., to hold them in severalty, you cause to be assigned and delivered, so that neither the said Adam Hagey nor the said Samuel Hagey, Nicholas Hagey, and Lewis Snyder and George Snyder, jr., have more of the tenements aforesaid, with the appurtenances than pertaineth to them severally to have, so that the said Adam Hagey his part, and the said Samuel Hagey his part, and the said Nicholas Hagey his part, and the said Lewis Snyder and George Snyder, jr, their part of the tenements aforesaid, with the appurtenances, respectively happening severally may appropriate to themselves. But if this inquest by you to be summoned, as aforesaid, to make partition as aforesaid, shall be of opinion that the lands and tenements aforesaid cannot be so parted and divided and without prejudice to or spoiling the whole; then we command you that you cause the said inquest to make a just valuation pursuant to the tenements aforesaid, with the appurtenances, and that you distinctly and openly have, in her your hand and seal, and under the hands and seals of those by whom the same shall be made, before the Judges of the said Court of Common Pleas, in and for the County of Clearfield, at Clearfield, there to be held on the second Monday in January next, that such further proceedings may be had as the law and justice requireth: and have you then and there this writ.

Witness the honorable Samuel Linn, Esq., President Judge of our said Court, at Clearfield this first day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty.
