

Demand made upon the State by the General Government

In the year 1837 Congress passed an act distributing among the several States a large surplus of revenue, which had accumulated in the Treasury, beyond the existing wants of the government. The money was apportioned among the States and called a deposit. Pennsylvania received $2,400,000 for her share, upon giving a certificate to the Secretary of the Treasury, which pledged the faith of the State for the safe keeping of the money, and the repayment of every part thereof, from time to time, as the same should be required. The act further provided that when said money or any part thereof should be wanted by the Secretary of the Treasury to meet appropriations by law, the same should be called for from the several States. Well, the money is required now to satisfy demands upon the National Treasury, and Mr. Dix, the Secretary, has notified the Governor that the State will be required to guarantee the payment of bonds of the United States, to the amount of the sum deposited in the State Treasury, payable after the expiration of twenty years. By this means the State will lend her credit to the General Government to sustain it at a time of great embarrassment. We understand that no portion of the money is now required by the Secretary of the Treasury. The State having pledged her faith for the safe keeping of this fund and its repayment upon the requisition of the Secretary of the Treasury, is now bound to fulfill its obligation.

This $2,400,000 was deposited in the State Treasury during the Ritten administration, and expended in the Gettysburg railroad and other fancy projects. Patriot & Union.

PROGRESS OF THE IRREPRESSIBLE CONFLICT IN THE BLACK REPUBLICAN PARTY.—The war between the Weed and Greeley factions of the black republican party waxed hotter and hotter every day. They talk now of a reconstruction of their organization, putting Seward at the head, with Weed at the tail, and Webb to do all the fighting for the concern. As for Greeley, he is to be left out in the cold altogether, and as a proof of the truth of the old adage that misfortunes never come singly, we perceive that the Spruce street philosopher has been getting into trouble in the West. The other day he went to Springfield and poured his griefs into Abraham's bosom, in a confab which lasted during four or five hours. On the way home Greeley resolved to combine business with pleasure, and pick up a few dollars by a lecture in St. Louis. He started for that city; but hearing that it was probable the Missourians would mob him, he turned tail and commenced running for dear life, with the old white coat streaming out behind. Little Raymond, in his celebrated retreat from Solferino, did not make better time than that of his confederate, Hon. Massa Greeley. Where he is now we cannot say—probably he has not yet stopped in his "wild career."

Meanwhile Webb, Seward, Weed & Co. are preparing to divide the spoils among their friends, and poor Greeley is not to have even a dry bone for his share. He has borne the battle and the heat of the day, and is to be deprived of any participation in the fruits of victory; he has planted the vineyard, but others will enjoy the produce thereof. Such is the fate of people who put their faith in princes, or place confidence in the promises of politicians. Herald.

The banks in New York are nearly glutted with specie. They now hold $36,000,000, with a prospect of further increase.

The Washington Cadets Will meet for parade and drill, in Clearfield borough, on Friday, February 22d, 1861, at 10 o'clock a. m. By order of the Captain. J. BLAKE WALTERS, First Sergeant.

A Card. The undersigned has many reasons for being grateful to the citizens of Clearfield, for their exertions made to save his family and property during the recent burning of his dwelling, and adopts this as the best mode of returning his sincere and heartfelt thanks. To many who periled their health, and in some instances their lives, special assurances of kind remembrance are offered. Everything was done that could be done under the circumstances, and much more was effected than could have been reasonably expected. The generous hospitality of those who, in his absence, tendered the comfort of their homes to his lonely family, only serves to strengthen the bonds which have long united him to his old friends and neighbors. That each one may be preserved from such a calamity, and from any other affliction in life, and be permitted to enjoy every real blessing, is the sincere wish of one who must remain under the deepest obligation to his friends. Clearfield, Feb. 13th, 1860. G. R. BARRETT.

MARRIED. In Phillipsburg, on the 10th instant, by Hancock, Esq., Mr. JAMES COOPER, of Clearfield, to Miss SARAH DARTMOUTH, of Lawrence tp.

YOU WANT IT.

YOUR WIFE WANTS IT.

YOUR CHILDREN WANT IT.

IT WILL CERTAINLY PAY.

AND YOU WOULD HAVE IT. If you only knew how useful, how instructive, and how entertaining it is. We refer to that "first best," that largest, most instructive, most beautiful, and yet cheapest journal in the world for the household, for the farm and for the garden, viz: the American Agriculturist.

You want it, because it contains so very many new and useful directions, hints, and suggestions about all kinds of out-door work, in the garden, in the field, in the orchard, on the little plot of ground, about domestic animals, &c., &c. The Agriculturist is not a stale rehash of theoretical stuff, such as goes the rounds from one paper to another, but it is filled with practical information, every word of which is reliable, because prepared by honest, practical working men, who know what they write about.

Each volume contains many hundreds of useful hints, and it is certain that many of these hints will each be worth to you more than a dollar. As an example, a subscriber writes: "... I obtained 5 bushels more per acre on a ten-acre field of wheat, (or in all 50 bushels) simply from a hint about preparing seed given in the Agriculturist." ... Another says he obtained an extra yield of 11 bushels of corn per acre on a fifteen-acre field, and with no extra cost for culture, by applying one hint from the Agriculturist. Another (a village) says he got $15 worth extra of good garden vegetables, which he attributes wholly to the timely hints in the Agriculturist, which told him from time to time what to do, how to do it, and when to do it. Thousands of others have derived similar advantages. You are invited to try the paper a year, at a cost of only $1. If you desire, you can have, free of charge, four or five parcels of choice seeds, which the Publisher will distribute among his subscribers the present winter.

Your wife wants the Agriculturist, because it has a large amount of valuable and really useful information about all kinds of Household work from garret to cellar. Give her the benefit of this paper for a year. You will find your home made better, and money saved.

Your children want the Agriculturist, for it contains a very interesting, useful and instructive department for youth and children, which will be of great value to their minds and hearts.

The above are truthful statements, that will be cheerfully attested to by nearly a hundred thousand of the present readers of the Agriculturist. You are invited to try a single volume of the Ag. Cult. which will cost you only $1, and abundantly pay for itself. Try it for 1861 (Vol. 21.)
